Morning Daily Herad

SPECIAL. 12:30 A. M.

Not to see our stoves and ranges before buying is a mistake. Mistakes are always costly. In heating stoves we have the largest as well as the most carefully selected stock in the city. The stoves we offer were not bought as an experiment but as a certainty. We know what each stove will do, and they were bought for cash, so the price is right. We have specialties in heaters, beside our regular lines of Garland, Argand and Superior stoves and ranges.

NO EXCUSE FOR IDLERS.

More Men Wanted to Work on the Eastward Extension of the Oregon Pacific.

The pushing of the work on the Oregon Pacific railroad will furnish employment to over 1000 men this fall and winter. Six contractors are now engaged in hurrying the construction forward, in order to complete the road to the summit of the Cascade mountains this winter. There are Orman, Crook & Co., Antonelle & Doe, and O'Conner & Barr. The latter firm is now engaging more men to finish their contract. The track is laid nearly to Breitenbush, and the track-layers are laying down the steel rails at the rate of about a mile a day, and the construction trains are fast taking the place of the pack trains in taking in supplies. The scene at the front is one of activity. The graders, track-layers and bridge carpenters are all at work, while the saw-mills along the route are busily engaged in cutting bridge timbers, etc.

R. Griffin, superintendent of the work on the contract of Orman, Crook & Co., on the eastward extension of the Oregon Pacific, came in from the front yesterday. They are putting men to work, and will push the construction vigorously, both this winter and next spring. They expect several car loads more of their plant to arrive soon.

Pacific Coast Hops.

The outlook for the hop growers of Oregon, and the Pacific coast in general is by no means encouraging. The crop of the coast is below that of last year, and the growers cannot get 10 cents per pound. A recent report from Robert Acheson, of San Francisco, on the hop production of the Pacific coast, states that in California the crop, although not so heavy in yield per acre, will equal last year's aggregate, owing to slightly increased acreage. The total acreage for California for 1889 is 4500 acres; yield per acre about 1400 pounds, and total crops estimated at thirty-five thousand bales The statistican's opinion is that the yield of Oregon will be as fine as usual. The Oregon acreage is three thousand acres; the average yield per acre 900 pounds; the crop fifteen thousand bales. He states in Washington territory the crop will fall short about 5000 bales, owing to the long continued drought. There were occasional showers, but too late to be of much benefit to hops already in bud. Washington territory acreage is 4500; average yield 1400 pounds to the acre; aggregate crop thirty-three thousand bales. According to this report the crop of the coast will be somewhat shorter than that of last year, but materially larger than the average for the recent series of years.

Sad News.

Mr. C. E. Barrows received a telegram yesterday from his mother at Huron, Dakota, announcing the death of his two year old boy at that place from intermittent fever. Mrs. Barrows, who has been stopping there for her health, will leave in a short time for Albany.

ABOUT NEWSPAPERS.

The Home Paper the Proper Advertising Medium for the City.

Astoria Transcript.]

At a meeting of the chamber of commerce held last evening it was was decided to print 15,000 copies of 5000 each of the daily papers, with a writeup of the city as endorsed at a previous meeting. That is the only way to properly advertise the city. The East is flooded with descriptive circulars of cities and towns. What the people of the East want to see is the papers published in a city. Capitalists form an opinion of a city from the appearance of its papers.

The only proper way to advertise a city is by descriptive articles in the home papers. The press of the city, without exception, have been doing this gratuitously, but when they see the money paid and encouragement given to every faking writeup concern that strikes the city, it is discouraging. The people of Astoria have got one thing to learn, and that is to keep all the money at home that is possible. Astoria sends money enough out of the city every six months to start a flour mill here. We send money enough out of the city every year for pails, washtubs, woodenware and brooms to start these manufactories here. And so it is with other articles.

There is no better advertisement for a city than a short item that a flour mill is being built, or a broom factory started, or a woolen mill company is being organized. It attracts attention from Eastern people and capitalists. It will do more to bring immigration than all the advertising schemes known. By advertising the city in the home papers, the money will be kept at home. A newspaper is a manufacturing industry, and gives employment to a large number of men, women and boys. Keep the money at home. Build manufacturies, furnish employment to the boys and girls, and your home papers will grow and improve every day, and when you want to advertise the city to encourage immigration, give your money to your home papers and send them to every city and town throughout the length and breadth of the land. People don't want circulars, they want the home papers, and if they appear to be well supported, it is indicative of business prosperity and this is the criterion by which the intelligent people of the East judge a city or town.

City Park.

A number of enterprising citizens intend early next spring to get the city to fit up a public park where families can take their children on a bright afternoon to romp and play. A fine flower garden, menagerie, water fountain, swings, band stand with a city band to give concerts two evenings each week, croquet grounds, with a street car line running to and from the park would be a credit to Albany. The cauliflower, celery, sweet potatoes, grapes, honey, turnips, cabbage and a full assortment of fresh groceries, vegetables, fine dressed poultry always kept by the Willamette Packing Co. is also a credit to the city.

Oregon's Assessment $100,000,000

Secretary of State McBride says that he has not yet received copies of the assessment roll from all the counties in the state He estimates that the total taxable valuation of property will be over $100,000,000, compared with $85,000,000 for last year. "I see," he said, "that Washington territory boasts of a $125,000,000 valuation, and looks down on Oregon. Washington has the figures, but not the valuation that Oregon has. Our pernicious assessment system is to blame for the smallness of cur figures."

More Property Sold.

J. J. Dubruille and A. Klein sold yesterday to Mrs. E. R. Cheadle four houses and lots in the eastern suburbs of the city for $5000. They also bought of her forty feet front of her First street property, being the premises now occupied by Mrs. East as a boarding house, for $5500. A POPULAR ESTABLISHMENT.

How Julius Gradwohl's Golden Rule Bazaar Meets the Public Want.

One of the most extensive and elegantly stocked establishments in the Willamette valley is to be found in the Golden Rule Bazaar store of Julius Gradwohl in this city. In order to accommodate his many customers he is in the field early this year, and has already commenced receiving his immense line of beautiful goods for the fall and winter and for the holidays, and has one of the most gorgeous and dazzling displays to be seen in any Golden Rule Bazaar in Oregon.

The line carried comprises a bewildering assortment of fine china, queensware and glassware of the latest styles and most delicate designs. The beautiful china and glassware, together with the decorated and fancy wares, novelties, elegant stand and hanging lamps, toys, boys' wagons and general bazaar goods, present a scene well worth one's time to visit.

Here may be found a complete line of table cutlery of the celebrated makes, Roger Bros.' silver and silver plated goods and Bohemian wares of every variety, while his stock of dolls, toys, toilet and fancy goods, in plush and silver, and novelties for the children will be larger than ever before. Mr. Gradwohl has enlarged his stock in such a replete manner that his Golden Rule Bazaar is not only a credit to the city of Albany but to the entire Willamette valley, being one of the most extensive establishments of the kind in Oregon. The most important feature to purchasers is in prices, and when we assert that his prices are as low as any house in the state and that his goods are sold at figures that cannot be equaled in the Northwest, it is but the recital of an absolute fact. It will be to the interests of the country merchants to purchase their holiday goods from this establishment, and orders should be sent in at once.

Mr. Gradwohl has long since proven his adaptability to this business, and it is taking no risk to say that this emporium of elegant fancy and decorative ware is the most complete in the Willamette valley. Those who deal at the Golden Rule Bazaar, will find a large assortment to choose from, and a square, reliable gentleman to deal with.
