EDITORIAL NOTES
JOHNSTOWN is again threatened with a flood. It seems to be a doomed city.

ALTA sarcastically remarks that S. D., the initials for South Dakota, stands for starve to death.

Knocked out in forty-seven rounds is the announcement of a pugilistic encounter in Indiana, where a negro slugger battered a white slugger into insensibility in Queensberry style.

The death of Mrs. Charles Crocker of California removes one of the most philanthropic ladies upon this coast.

A positive proof that this western continent enjoys more enlightened privileges than does the Orient, rests in the fact that in Japan kissing is unknown, even a mother never kisses her babe.

The great topic of interest in railroad matters, is the alliance of the leading roads that has grown out of the Boston conference.

The legal advent of the four new states into the Union, which now awaits the proclamation of the president is delayed by the unreturned returns of Montana.

A short hand reporter, with the necessary qualifications for reporting the approaching congress of the American nations at Washington, which calls for the knowledge and ability to speak both English and French, asks $8000 for doing the job.

The marriage of Miss Clara Huntington to Prince Hatzfeldt, is bringing to public prominence the fact that the man she married is one of the most unscrupulous rakes of the European nobility.

The old patriot across the water Gladstone has had many words of praise for America. In an address a few days since at Chester on the condition of the working classes he urged English workmen to study the history of the American Revolution.

The Willamette Valley and Cascade Mountain Wagon Road is in excellent condition, and by all odds is the best and shortest wagon road to Eastern Oregon.

The grades are easy, accommodations superior and the road well bridged making it the best route across the state.

For food work oxen together with yokes and chains. Are we broke cattle and will be sold at a bargain for cash, being a portion of the estate of John Reynolds, deceased.

Having purchased the PALACE MEAT MARKET is now prepared to furnish fresh meats of all kinds; best variety of choice beef, veal, mutton, pork sausage, etc., in the city kept constantly on hand.

group of statesmen that proceeded from them were a match for any in the whole world, and were superior to those of any one epoch.

The sarcastic response of the governor of North Carolina to Secretary Procter, on the proposition to remove the Geronimo band of Apache Indians to North Carolina, it seems did not effect the purpose that the governor intended, for the removal is actually contemplated.

The Chronicle says that it seems his protest has been over-weighted by the fact that many North Carolinians living near the reservation wish to have the Indians come because they think it will help trade, while the Cherokees are in favor of it because they expect to sell some of their lands.

Geronimo appears to be no longer formidable, as he now sings psalms tunes through his nose and runs the Indian Sunday school, but if he doesn't backslide and do some more scalping it will be a miracle.

A MOVEMENT is on foot in the Australian provinces to form a federation of states, with less dependence upon Great Britain than the Canadian Dominion labors under.

The movement is led by Sir Henry Parkes, premier of New South Wales. The Chronicle thinks that should the Australasian federation, if accomplished, ask its freedom, Great Britain would not refuse it.

She is not in a position to attempt measures of coercion, and these colonies are really a source of more danger to her than profit. Any complication of European politics which should drag England into a war might make it impossible for her to retain these colonies, and so it is probable that a general demand for independence would be acceded to without any serious hesitation or long delay.
