SPECIAL. 12:30 A. M.

Not to see our stoves and ranges before buying is a mistake. Mistakes are always costly. In heating stoves we have the largest as well as the most carefully selected stock in the city. The stoves we offer were not bought as an experiment but as a certainty. We know what each stove will do, and they were bought for cash, so the price is right. We have specialties in heaters, beside our regular lines of Garland, Argand and Superior stoves and ranges.

The Eugene Register says that the most quiet term of the circuit court ever held in Lane county has been in session the past week. Not a crimmal case of any kind has been tried and all but a few of the cases were to recover money, and several of them were settled outside of court. In the divorce case of E. F. Wyatt vs. M. M. Wyatt a decree was granted in favor of the plaintiff.

Frank Woods, while driving across the canal in the first ward last evening met with an uncomfortable mishap. While in the ford the horse became disengaged from the buggy by the breaking of a bolt. The horse plunged and finally got away, leaving Mr. Woods and the buggy in the roaring Santiam canal. The horse stopped at the barn, and the buggy was easily extricated, without much damage.

Value of Timber Taken.

The Astorian recently made the following truthful observation: A letter is received at this office signed, "Surveying Party, Lewis and Clarke's river," asking who intends to settle damages to timber cut down by the Astoria & South Coast railroad company, in passing through with the line of road, or if anybody has been appointed to adjust these claims. The man who wrote that letter was apparently ashamed to sign his name to it. It might be asked what value would attach to that timber if the road didn't run through it; or, would the owner be willing to pay the company the additional value accruing to his timber by reason of the road passing through it. If a credit and debit account were established, it would probably be found that for every dollar's worth of timber cut, the timber left standing would be increased in value a hundred dollar's worth.

THE TRAIN WRECKERS.

Bert Rolfe Found Not Guilty and the Other Rolfe Discharged.

The case of Bert Rolfe, who was the second of the three train wreckers to be tried, was concluded in the circuit court yesterday. The evidence was finished at noon. It was much the same that was introduced at the trial of Hill except that the defendant's confession and the confession of Hill was not admitted as evidence.

The defendant was put upon the stand. He denied everything. His testimony was as follows: "I am 18 years old. I left the depot on Sunday, the day of the wreck, in company with Hill and Fred Rolfe, my brother. We left the depot after 8 o'clock, and went straight to Thomas Froman's. We arrived there a little after 9 o'clock. I did not touch the switch."

In cross-examination he said "I was at the depot 15 or 20 minutes. I saw Conductor Huston but did not talk with him. Hill did. I did not hear what was said. I was 50 feet away standing with my brother. We had talked about asking for a ride. Hill said the train was late and we might as well walk on out. We passed over the switch and were all together. I saw a man working in a field near the switch. He was running a reaper. We stopped at the trestle to get a drink of water. On arriving at Froman's we went to bed. We were at the gate at Froman's when the Lebanon engine passed. We did not stop at the switch. I do not recollect of having told Monteith that we stopped at the switch and cracked hazle-nuts. I remember the conversation with Monteith. We did not stop at the switch. I was with Hill and my brother."

This question was then asked: "Did you not tell Monteith that Hill started to take out the key of the switch and that you finished taking it out?"

The question was objected to by the opposing counsel and was ruled out as incompetent by the court.

The case was argued at length, and a beautiful tribute was paid by the counsel for the state to brave Jack Miller, who lost his life at his post of duty. The case was given to the jury about 5 o'clock and after being out half an hour they returned a verdict of not guilty.

The case against Fred Rolfe was also dismissed, and both of the prisoners were discharged.

Considerable feeling was expressed over the termination of the case, especially as young Rolfe and Hill had each made a confession to the effect that the two were guilty of displacing the switch, which caused the wreck, and there are few people who do not believe them equally guilty.

The status of the case is this: The confession of Hill was made without solicitation and was admitted in evidence. This, together with the circumstantial evidence was sufficient to convict him of manslaughter. The confession of young Rolfe was obtained upon urgent solicitation to the effect that it would be better for him to tell the truth. This, however, was not admitted in evidence, and the circumstantial evidence alone was insufficient to convict. The same condition existed in Fred Rolfe's case, and he was discharged on motion of the district attorney. The case presents a peculiar aspect. The three young men are known to be guilty, two of them having confessed. One of them is convicted and the other two go free because their guilt cannot be proven. Laws cannot be made to fit all cases, and this certainly seems to be an aggravated case which the law does not fit. The three young villains most certainly committed the crime for which they were indicted, but their own confessions were worthless in court and they could not be convicted.

STATE DISPATCHES.

Newsy Notes from Salem—Prisoners Released from the Penitentiary.

Special to the HERALD.

SALEM, Nov. 7.—Governor Pennoyer to-day appointed as notaries H. W. Keeze, of Klamath, and Martin Carniff, of near St. Helens.

An insane patient was left at the asylum to-day by Wm. A. Meeker, sheriff of Columbia county.

Three prisoners were released from the penitentiary to-day, one being a noted character, having been confined in San Quentin prison five times. They were: John Whalen, from Multnomah county, one year for sodomy; Charley Chinaman, from Wasco county, one year for trespass, and Peter Van-Aspen, from Grant county, larceny. The last named was at once taken in charge by officers from San Quentin, he having escaped from that prison. They started on their return with him this evening.

Whirled Across the Continent.

In a few days fast mail trains will be put on the route between Portland and the East, which will materially change the time of arrivals and departures of mails. What with oxen a few years ago required more than six months will now be accomplished in much less than the same number of days. For several months there has been talk of a fast mail service being introduced between Omaha and San Francisco, to connect with the fast trains which have for some time been running between New York, Chicago and Omaha. Arrangements have just been completed with the Union Pacific company, the Central Pacific and Oregon Short Line, so that through trains will be put on, commencing November 17th. The train will consist of two mail cars, two sleeping coaches and a baggage car. They will not only furnish rapid transportation for the through mail, but will be the means of shortening the trip for through passengers as well. The first train will leave Omaha at 6:10 P. M. the 17th and will reach Ogden at 12:45 A. M. the 19th, and San Francisco at 9:45 the 20th. At Green River, Wyoming, the Oregon Short Line will catch up a portion of the mail and whirl it away to Portland, reaching there in advance of the San Francisco train at 7 A. M. on the 20th. Coming eastward the train will leave San Francisco at 7:30 A. M. the 17th and reach the Transfer at 4:20 P. M. the 20th. The Portland train will leave Portland at 8 A. M. the 18th and overtake the San Francisco train at Green River. Continuing eastward the fast mail will leave at 5 P. M., reaching Chicago at 7 A. M. next morning and New York at 10:30 on the second day, making a through run from San Francisco to New York in four days and sixteen hours. This is the fastest regular time ever made from ocean to ocean.

MIDDLE RIDGE ITEM.

MIDDLE RIDGE, Oct. 31.

Mr. Geo. Stiers has put up a house on his ranch.

Mr. Baker is getting along finely with his slashing on H. Bryant's place.

Ed. Nichols has rented the Widow Barnes place and moved out to it.

Oh! the rain, the tiresome rain,—Yes, that was the case, but to day all nature is smiling its sweetest.

Mr. Stephen Pallet has rented his place to Mr. Burris, and gone with his family to Corvallis, where they will keep boarders.

Mr. L. T. Berry has decided to stay at Middle Ridge during the winter. The house he is building on Bryant's place is almost ready to move into.

Our school directors wisely decided to supply the school with wood by letting the contract to the lowest bidder. J. N. Combs got the job and put up a fine lot of wood. We think it would be in order now to build a good woodhouse on the school lot.

A Domesticated Chinese Pheasant.

The Brownsville Times says that Mr. O. P. Coshow, of that place, has a China pheashant that has never known any but a domestic life. It was born with a brood of ceickens, and was fed and cared for by the mother, until such time as he was big enough to wean, when he was left to shift for himself along with the chickens. This bird seems perfectly contented, going to roost at night and feeding through the day with the chickens. His beautiful plumage is now at its best and makes him the pride of the yard.

FAIR DALE ADDITION.

Burkhart & Malin offer for sale 108 city lots in this beautiful addition, which has just been platted. This addition is situated on the east of the city, and adjoining Abe Hackleman's land, and is the closest addition to the city that is now offered for sale. These lots will now be sold for $75 and corner lots $100 each until January 1st, after which time all lots remaining will be raised to $150 each. These lots will be sold on easy terms, and the first that call to see them will get the choice of all.

A SERIOUS BLUNDER.

A Lady Nearly Prostrated by a Patent Medicine.

A lady well-known in the Western Addition has been a great sufferer for years with indigestion and dyspepsia. Struck with the testimonials praising Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, she sent for a bottle. The druggist, not having it, talked them into taking another Sarsaparilla. As the leading Sarsaparillas use mineral blood purifiers, the effect of the emptying of Iodide of Potash into a stomach already distressingly delicate was disastrous, almost prostrating her before the mistake was rectified. She then called upon Mrs. Fowler, of 327 Ellis street, whose name was among those cured by Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. Mrs. Fowler said it was true that it had cured her. Again reassured, the vegetable compound was sent for and gotten. The gentle action of its vegetable stimulants upon the liver, kidneys and digestive organs, and its warm stomach tonics, were the very things needed, and she began improving and was her old self within a fortnight. This sounds like fiction, but the names can be given if necessary.—San Francisco Examiner.

A POPULAR ESTABLISHMENT.

How Julius Gradwohl's Golden Rule Bazaar Meets the Public Want.

One of the most extensive and elegantly stocked establishments in the Willamette valley is to be found in the Golden Rule Bazaar store of Julius Gradwohl in this city. In order to accommodate his many customers he is in the field early this year, and has already commenced receiving his immense line of beautiful goods for the fall and winter and for the holidays, and has one of the most gorgeous and dazzling displays to be seen in any Golden Rule Bazaar in Oregon.

The line carried comprises a bewildering assortment of fine china, queensware and glassware of the latest styles and most delicate designs. The beautiful china and glassware, together with the decorated and fancy wares, novelties, elegant stand and hanging lamps, toys, boys' wagons and general bazaar goods, present a scene well worth one's time to visit.

Here may be found a complete line of table cutlery of the celebrated makes, Roger Bros.' silver and silver plated goods and Bohemian wares of every variety while his stock of dolls, toys, toilet and fancy goods, in plush and silver, and novelties for the children will be larger than ever before. Mr. Gradwohl has enlarged his stock in such a replete manner that his Golden Rule Bazaar is not only a credit to the city of Albany but to the entire Willamette valley, being one of the most extensive establishments of the kind in Oregon. The most important feature to purchasers is in prices, and when we assert that his prices are as low as any house in the state and that his goods are sold at figures that cannot be equaled in the Northwest, it is but the recital of an absolute fact. It will be to the interests of the country merchants to purchase their holiday goods from this establishment, and orders should be sent in at once.

Mr. Gradwohl has long since proven his adaptability to this business, and it is taking no risk to say that this emporium of elegant fancy and decorative ware is the most complete in the Willamette valley. Those who deal at the Golden Rule Bazaar, will find a large assortment to choose from, and a square, reliable gentleman to deal with.
