FIRE IN NEW YORK

About $6000 Worth of Property Destroyed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Fire was discovered in the tower of the Western Union, above the associated press office, at 3:40 this morning, and at 4 o'clock the flames were gaining headway and not a drop of water had been gotten on the flames. The firemen dragged a line of hose into the associated press window on the ninth floor. Three times the hose broke in being hauled up. At 5 o'clock the firemen succeeded in getting a couple of streams turned upon the fire. At 5:30 the fire was gotten under control, and the rushing streams of water supplemented the damage done by the smoke and flames. The damage to the Western Union building by fire will amount to only $5000 and to stock $1000.

Louis Budenberg, of Hoboken, N. J., who lived in Chicago at the time of Cronin's death, testified that he saw Cronin go away from home on the night he was murdered. He said that the horse which drew the buggy was not Denan's white horse but a gray animal with a white leg, Marshall D. Elwell, a medical microscopical expert, testified that there was no means known to science by which human hair could be certainly distinguished from any other hair.

KIDNAPED BY TWO MEN.

A St. Louis Heiress Carried Off in a Carriage.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 20.—There was an exciting time in the fashionable quarter of Lafayette Park this morning. As Miss Alice Jackson was about to enter her carriage with Mrs. Brothers she was seized by two men and hurried into a close carriage, which was rapidly driven away.

Miss Jackson is a niece of John E. Taylor of the Richardson-Taylor Drug Company and heiress to a fortune. She left the home of her guardian, Taylor, about three months ago and went to the Bouthers' to live.

Mr. Taylor denies having had anything to do with the kidnaping and the case will be fought out in the courts. The girl is still missing with no clue to her whereabouts.

Group Can Be Prevented.

We want every mother to know that croup can be prevented. There is no question about this; as it has been done in thousands of cases, and you may depend upon it that when a child takes the croup it is wholly owing to the negligence of its parents. True croup never appears without due and timely warning; a few hours or a day or two before the attack, the child becomes hoarse. This hoarseness is the first indication of croup, and is a sure sign that croup is to follow, unless promptly and properly treated. The free use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as directed with each bottle, under the heading "To prevent croup," will dispel all symptoms of the disease. This first sign of croup, hoarseness, may be overlooked by young mothers or those not familiar with the disease. Under such circumstances, or when not properly treated, the hoarseness becomes more marked, and the child shows symptoms of having taken cold, then a peculiar, rough cough is developed. Even at this stage Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will prevent the croup, but after the cough has developed the croup is liable to appear at any moment. The proper way is to keep a bottle of this remedy at hand, it costs but 50 cents, and only a few drops of mother's milk or a third of a bottle, is required to dispel all symptoms of the disease. Can you afford to risk so much for so little? There is not the least danger in giving this remedy in large and frequent doses, which are always required, as it contains no injurious substance. As proof of this fact we refer to John L. Olson, of Des Moines, whose 18-months-old boy drank the entire contents of a 30-cent bottle of Chamberlain's cough remedy without the least injury. Certainly it made the baby vomit very freely; but after taking a nap he would have been glad to have drunk another bottle of the remedy, as he liked it. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy occurred near Valley Springs, Dakot. Mrs. Mattie Johnson's two-year-old daughter, Annie, drank a full bottle of the remedy without injury. This remedy has been the sole reliance of thousands of mothers not only for croup, and especially as a preventive for many years, and has never been known to fail. It is also invaluable for colds and whooping-cough, for sale by Foshay & Mason.

Disarming an Escaped Foe.

"This was sometime a paradox," as Hamlet says. Since, however, the people of America and other lands have been enabled to pit Hostetter's Stomach Bitters against that unscrupulous, malaria, it is no longer a paradox, but an easy possibility. Whatever malaria evolves its misty venom to poison the air, and decaying unwholesome vegetation impregnate the water, there, in the very stronghold of miasma, is the auxiliary solvent to disarm the foe and assure efficient protection. Fever and ague, bilious remittent, dumb ague and ague cake, no matter how tenaciously they have fastened their clutch on the system, are first forced to relax their grasp and eventually to abandon it altogether. But it is preventive force that should chiefly recommend the Bitters to persons dwelling in malarious localities, for it is a certain buckler of defence against which the enemy's powerless. Cures, likewise, dyspepsia, rheumatism, kidney and bilious ailments.

Files! Files! Files!

Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment is the only sure cure for blind, bleeding or itching piles ever discovered. It never fails to cure old cases of long standing.

Judge Coffinbury, Cleveland, O., says: "I have found by experience that Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment gives immediate and permanent relief."

We have hundreds of such testimonials. Do not suffer an instant longer. Sold by druggists at 50c and $1 per box. Sold by Foshay & Mason, Albany, Oregon.

What can we reason but for what we know? Reasoning is useless because its prices low brings him the custom. Others brag and but he the best to sell, that will allow.

AMERICAN NEWSPAPERS.

We Have Nearly as Many as All Europe Combined.

We copy from the London Times a compilation of newspaper statistics intended to show the comparative energy with which the process of journalism is working in the different countries of the world. The alleged facts were gathered at Paris, in connection with the exposition. So far as the United States is concerned they are conspicuously and even grotesquely inaccurate.

This comparison credits Europe with over 20,000 periodical publications, Germany leading with 5500, of which 800 are daily newspapers. Next comes England with 3000 periodicals, 800 of which are dailies. Our own country is credited with 12,500 papers of all sorts, 1000 of them daily.

As a matter of fact, the aggregate number of newspapers in the United States, instead of a little more than doubling Germany's total, nearly equals the aggregate of Europe; and our daily papers instead of exceeding the German or the English total by a couple of hundred, more than equal Germany and England combined.

The figures presented by the London Times for the United States are those of seven or eight years ago. Nine years ago the tenth census includes an enumeration of the newspapers published in all the States and Territories in 1880. The total number of periodicals then registered was 11,314, of which 971 were published daily. The enumeration of Rowell's Newspaper Directory was less complete than that of Mr. North for the census. Rowell, in his edition of 1889, gave 9723 periodicals and 843 dailies. That is to say, the figures of the census were more than 16 per cent over Rowell's figures for the total of publications and more than 15 per cent over Rowell for the number of dailies.

This year Rowell's Directory mentions not less than 16,319 papers printed in the United States, including 1494 dailies. If the deficiency in his enumeration count in the same proportion as they did in 1880—as compared with Professor North's enumeration for the last census, a number of periodicals issued in the United States to-day is not far from 19,000, and the number of daily newspapers not far from 1700.
