A NUMBER OF APPOINTMENTS.
 David K. Brewer Appointed to Fill the Vacancy on the U. S. Supreme Bench—Eastern News.

THE HERALD'S Special Dispatches.
 WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The credentials of Pierce and Casey, as senators from North Dakota, were presented to-day and the senators took the oath of office.
 Hoar reported back the resolution offered by him Monday, providing the mode for ascertaining by lot the classes to which the senators from the three new states, North Dakota, South Dakota and Washington, shall be assigned as to their respective terms of service. The resolution was agreed to and drawing by lot, as provided by it, was proceeded with. The result was that of the two senators from Washington Squire was assigned to the class of senators whose term expires March 3, 1891, and Allen to the class expiring March, 1893. Of South Dakota's senators Moody got the short term and Pettinger the long term. Of the North Dakota senators Pierce got the short term and Casey the long.

A petition was presented by Senator Cullom from the Short Horn Producers' Association in favor of subsidies for steamships to Central and South America, and in favor of Chicago as the site proposed for the world's fair in 1892.

The president to-day sent the following nominations to the senate: Justice David K. Brewer, of Kansas, to be associate justice of the supreme court of the United States.

The president also sent to the senate as nomination a large number of recess appointments.

Secretary Windom submitted his annual report to congress this afternoon.

PORTLAND NEWS.
Sandy Olds Case—A Murder at Vancouver, Washington.

PORTLAND, Dec. 4.—The decision in the case of "Sandy" Olds, on appeal, which was argued and submitted in the supreme court at Salem last Monday, was to have been rendered to-day. A special dispatch from Salem says: One of the attorneys in the Olds appeal case was suddenly taken ill to-day, and the case was postponed. Olds manifested considerable uneasiness to-day, and when he learned that the supreme court had not decided his fate he seemed relieved, but stated that he wished the matter had been settled one way or another, and so relieve his suspense.

A man named John Wilson was shot and probably fatally injured at Vancouver this morning by a stranger, whose name is not known. Wilson at a late hour was in a very precarious condition, and can not live. The murderer fled from the city, and it is supposed has crossed into Oregon, unless he went north, intending to reach British Columbia. A posse of officers are out after him, and a diligent effort will be made to effect his capture.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE
A Whole Family Thought to Have Been Murdered and Robbed.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 4.—The mysterious disappearance of an entire family is reported from Melville. John Morris, living near Summerville, Mo., sent his wife and three children, under the care of Joseph Graves to Jasper, Ark. The party travelled overland in a wagon, and Graves returned to Summerville and reported he had left Mrs. Morris and the children at Jasper. When Morris reached there he found the family was not at that town. Murder and robbery is suspected.

STANLEY'S WORK.
The Explorer Will Reach Zanzibar Thursday.

ZANZIBAR, Dec. 3.—Stanley, writing from Mchessi under date of November 26th, says his party are all well and enjoying the luxuria which Captain Wissmann sent them, but he complains bitterly of having been two years and eleven months without news, his mail having been lost or robbed.

A postscript, written on the morning of the 27th, states that Stanley had just received acting Consul-General Smith's letter. Every one was rejoiced to hear that Queen Victoria still reigns, and eagerly wanted newspapers to learn the incidents of the last three years.

Stanley gives the following as his probable itinerary: Gerengeri, November 27th; Mosoa, November 28th; Ahalit, November 29th; in camp, November 30th; Mbuanyi, December 1st; Kibijo, December 2d; Kingani river, December 3d; Bagamoyo, December 4th, and Zanzibar December 5th.

The following has been received from the Herald correspondent, dated in the bush between Mosoi and Hongui, November 29th: "We can hear nothing of Stanley on this road. We are leaving the post at Hongui and are proceeding to Mosoa on our road, where we shall stay till we obtain news. Our caravan consists of Herald comforts for Stanley and comforts for Emin Pasha sent by his relief committee. In all we have about fifty men, with an escort of 100 Sudanese."

STANLEY'S BOOK.
LONDON, Dec. 1.—Stanley is reported to have sold the copyright of his book on the Emin relief expedition for $40,000. The publishers propose to call the book "How I Relieved Emin." It will contain a remarkable letter sent by the Madhi's lieutenant, Omar Saleh, to Emin Pasha announcing that his colleagues Slatin Lupton and also the Christian governors of the provinces had become Moslems, and urging Emin to follow their example. The letter is a striking piece of rhetoric. The last letter of Lupton Bey, who wanted his friends to know that he died game, will form a touching chapter.

DECREASED IMMIGRATION.
About Twenty-five Per Cent Less Than Last Year.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—There is a notable decrease shown this year in the arrivals of immigrants to this country compared with the year 1888. In the ten months ending October 31st of this year only 378,142 immigrants arrived against 473,172 in the same period of 1888, a decline of over one-quarter, or 25 per cent. The decrease of arrivals are not confined to any one nationality, but are shared in by all countries except Hungary and the Netherlands, which show slight increases. One-third of the total arrivals this year came from the United Kingdom, and this was about the proportion last year also. This year German sent 22 per cent of the total, while last year her percentage was 20. All the leaving ports except New Orleans and San Francisco show a decrease in arrivals this year as compared with last.

THE PACIFIC NAVAL STATION.
Jointed Suggestions Made by Secretary Tracy in His First Annual Report—The Present Navy.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The Secretary of the Navy in his annual report says: "The effective force of the United States navy when all ships now authorized are completed, excluding those which by process of decay and the operation of law will by that date have been condemned, will comprise eleven armored vessels of which only three are designed for fighting at sea, and thirty-one unarmored vessels, making a total of forty-two. By comparison with the number of war vessels of the principal foreign powers it appears that when the present building programme is completed the United States is so far as its capacity for defense is concerned, will be at the mercy of States having less than one-tenth of its population, one-third of its wealth and one-hundredth of its area."

"A coast line of 13,000 miles, upon which is situated more than twenty great centers of population, wealth and commercial activity, wholly unprotected against modern weapons, affords an inviting object for attack. The defense of the United States absolutely requires the creation of a fighting force. In addition to unarmored cruisers we must have ironclads and a fleet of battle ships. The country needs a navy that will exempt it from war, but the only navy that will accomplish this is a navy that can wage war. The cost of building a navy casts no perceptible burden upon a country of our vast resources. Compared with the interests that are secured, the rate is low. The United States collects in duties in six months at a single port a greater sum than we could spend in building a new navy in six years. It is a fatal mistake to say that our reserve strength is sufficient to improvise a force in time of war. Naval wars in future will be short and sharp. Laying aside the time it takes to construct a war ship the limited capacity of our establishments, public and private, is a further cause of delay. If Congress were ready to-day to authorize the construction of all the ships that we need it would be a mechanical impossibility for this country, with its present appliances to furnish them within fifteen years."

In speaking of the eight new cruisers contracted for or built, the Secretary says: "In looking back at the work of naval construction begun seven years ago, the country has reason to feel congratulated at the undertaking. The performances at sea of the Boston, Atlantic and Dolphin were extremely satisfactory. In the course of the cruise of the Dolphin around the world she ran 58,000 miles in twenty months, and was under steam 900 hours stopping only once for repairs. This performance is probably without parallel in the history of naval vessels, and bears conclusive testimony of the high skill of American artisans and the excellence of their work."

The Secretary is not prepared to recommend the construction of a naval station at either of the points on Puget sound suggested by the commission, of which Captain A. T. Mahan was president. The commission, while stating their opinion that a suitable site could be found in Lake Washington, decided in favor of Point Turner mainly on strategic grounds. As Lake Washington has no natural navigable outlet it could only be made available, the Secretary says, by the construction of a canal of some four miles in length. The department cannot recommend that a canal should be built solely for the benefit of a possible navy yard on the lake. Until the department sees some prospect of such a canal it cannot recommend this site, and if the canal should be built the station should be established at Point Turner.

Under the head of estimates and appropriations the Secretary calls attention to the disadvantages of limiting by act of Congress the cost of vessels of specified requirements. It may be suitable in theory, but it works badly in practice. After a type has been decided on some particular feature of the design involving a small excess over the limit may make a difference between the efficiency of the ship. The Secretary's estimates for the Navy Department proper and the several bureaus for the coming fiscal year amount to $25,599,253.
