THE THRONE TOTTERS.

London's Big Scandal May Cause a Revolution. LONDON, Dec. 15.—It is asserted that "the West End scandals," as they are called, may result in upsetting not only royalty in the kingdom, but also the rule of the privileged classes as well. In other words, that they will end in bringing about speedily a republic upon the ruins of the present monarchy and house of lords.

The fact that Prince Albert Victor, eldest son of the Prince of Wales, and therefore heir to the British throne, is connected with these scandals, either personally and criminally, as is freely charged, or as is officially admitted, by the connection with them of his intimate friends, of course make their political effect most momentous.

It is the opinion of practically every thoughtful man in the kingdom that when the scandals are fully inquired into by parliament and all the frightful details become public property, either Prince Albert Victor will be deprived of succession, a proceeding almost impossible of conjecture, or that Queen Victoria will be officially declared the last monarch of Great Britain, and that a republic will immediately succeed upon her death.

THE CHEROKEE OUTLET.

Failure of Negotiations With the Indians. KANSAS CITY, Dec. 14.—The Journal's Tahlequah (I. T.) special says: The United States commission has failed in its negotiations with the Cherokees for the sale of the Cherokee outlet, and will leave for Washington to-morrow. A committee appointed by the Cherokees met the commission on Monday and asked the latter to request the Government to treat with the Indians under the section of the law which allows them to offer more than $1 25 per acre for the land. Several trivial questions were also asked.

The stenographer of the commission had the interview. When his report was transcribed the commissioners replied that the questions were trivial, and that they did not desire to answer them. The Indians replied that the stenographic report of the interview was incorrect and had been falsified by the stenographer.

The commission made answer that the charges was a deliberate falsehood, and notified the Indians that all negotiations were at an end so far as the present commission was concerned. A personal note was sent to each member of the Indian committee, charging each with deliberate falsehood, and informing each that the allegation against the lady stenographer was as contemptible as it was false. This correspondence has caused great excitement. A delegation of full-bloods called on the commission this evening and told them that all the full-bloods were willing to sell at $1 25 per acre.

REDWOOD TREE THEIR HOME. A Family From Oregon Said to Dwell in a Living Tree. HEALDSBURG, Cal., Dec. 15.—Near this town, in a large high redwood tree, a family consisting of a man, his wife and three children, have taken up their residence. A few days ago a hunter was attracted to the spot by the sound of voices, and approaching, he found the family. To close the opening in the tree a rude door had been constructed of deer skins. Inside the tree benches and tables had been constructed of redwood bark, fastened together by wooden pins. The head of the family stated that he came from Oregon last fall and not being able to pay rent for a house had moved his family into this living home. He had thus far made a living by odd jobs on farms near by, being careful never to state where his home was. The boy was dressed in a suit of coon skins. The mother bore the appearance of a once beautiful woman, and her speech showed she had been well educated. They were all very well contented about their former life, and how they had been reduced to such straits. They expect to spend the winter in this sylvan home.

RAILROAD DISASTERS. Two Fatal Wrecks—Several Killed and Burned to Death. CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—The city fire department has been notified of a wreck on the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad at Oakdale, nine miles south of the city. It is reported that four persons were killed and many injured. That the train is now burning and that a number of persons are badly burned and some are burned to death. It is understood that the train was in the suburbs and the district engines and physicians have been called from South Englewood to subdue flames and care for the injured. At the general office it is said the advices are that several persons are hurt, but not fatally.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 16.—The pay car of the Ohio, Indiana & Western Railway with General Superintendent I. H. Wilson and J. McCummings, trainmaster, on board, was wrecked near Covington, Ind., early this morning. It is impossible at this hour to gather details but it is believed that the paymaster and engineer were both killed.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Notes and Comments From the National Capital.

THE RAILWAY MAIL SERVICE. Thirty-Five Big Indian Chiefs Will Go to Washington to Talk With President Harrison—The Expedition for 1892.

Special Correspondence. WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Postmaster General Wanamaker proposes to use all of the influence at his command to assist Senator Paddock in getting his bill passed, which provides for reorganization of the civil service law. The bill which has already been introduced in the Senate, stands a good show of passing, and some people think that Senator Vance's bill for the repeal of the entire civil service law may also be passed. Speaking of the civil service law Senator Paddock says: "I look upon the system as a humbug which in its operation perverts the main idea of a republican form of government." Senator Vance says on the same subject: "It is losing strength in both parties, because it has given no results that are creditable."

The first week of its existence Congress did little else but organize, and there is little probability that it will get fairly down to business until after the Christmas recess. Very little can be done in the House before the committees are appointed, and if Speaker Reed announces them before the holidays he will do well—better than the most of his predecessors.

A vigorous attempt is to be made to get Congress to take up and decide the question of the Columbus World's Exposition before Christmas. It is to be held in 1892, time is getting precious.

Senator Edmunds, although not opposed to holding an Exposition to celebrate the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America, would prefer seeing the money spent in establishing a great National University.

The National wool growers association, which was in session here last week, sent a committee to Secretary Windom to protest against certain practices relating to the admission of certain classes of wool. The Secretary informed the committee that he was now engaged in making an investigation of this subject, and assured them that full justice would be done to the wool interests of the United States.

Secretary Noble has given permission to 35 Sioux Indian chiefs to visit Washington. They want to talk to the President about the sale of their lands, which they have recently agreed to. They are expected here next week.

Speaker Reed has announced the Committees on Rules, which may virtually be said to control all legislation, consisting of Speaker Reed, Representatives McKinley and Cannon, and ex-Speakers Carlisle and Randall.

Secretary Windom's annual report to Congress would have made his reputation as one of the ablest financiers in the country, if he had not been so rated before. It is a document that the ablest of his predecessors would have been justified in feeling proud of. Its crowning feature is the original and ingenious system it proposes as a solution of the never ending controversy between the friends of gold and silver as a basis for currency.

Every body is talking about it, and doubtless those Congressmen who pride themselves on their financial knowledge are burning the midnight oil studying it. Whether it will be adopted is a question that cannot be answered off handed. No public man who values his reputation would commit himself for or against such an important measure without long and careful study. The President in his message, merely calls the attention of Congress to it, and adds that he may at a later day send in a special message on the subject.

WORTHLESS BONDS. They Are Floating Around in Kansas and Missouri. KANSAS CITY, December 13.—Mexican Vice-Consul, Haldeen claims to have discovered that a large amount of fraudulent Mexican bonds are floating around in Kansas City, and that many persons in Missouri and Kansas have been victimized. Thousands of dollars worth have been placed in the two States named, and in many instances banks have been caught. The history of the bogus bonds dates back to the early sixties, when the unsettled condition of affairs offered an excellent opportunity for the issuance of fraudulent securities. At that time over $1,000,000 worth of these bonds were issued. Publicity was immediately given to the fraud, and to disposal of them stopped for a time. Recently they began to appear again. One bank in this city has a bundle of them, holding them as collateral. They represent a face value of several thousand dollars, but not worth a cent.
