HER FATE UNKNOWN.
A Vessel Recently Purchased by the Northern Pacific Missing
THE SITUATION IN MONTANA.
A Railroad Conductor Steals $10,000 from Italian Laborers who Threaten to Burn a Town—Fought with Robbers.

The HERALD'S Special Dispatches.
NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—It is rumored in shipping circles that the river steamer City of Kingston has been lost. The vessel formerly plied between this city and Kootenai to the Northern Pacific Railroad Company to run on Puget Sound. Two weeks ago she left here destined for that place, by way of Cape Horn. Since that time nothing has been heard of her.
[Upon receipt of the above dispatch the HERALD'S Portland correspondent called at the office of Mr. A. D. Charlton, assistant passenger agent of the Northern Pacific Company, and that gentleman said that he has not been advised concerning the steamer beyond the fact that about two weeks ago she left New York for Puget Sound, and was expected to arrive in about ninety days.]

IN MONTANA.
The Whole Question Will Be Brought Before the Courts.
HELENA, (Mont.), Dec. 19.—Little business was transacted in either house of the legislature this morning. After roll call the senate took a recess until 2 p. m. and forthwith a joint caucus was held in order to arrive at some understanding as to the permanent organization. The most important event of the day was the filing of a suit against State Auditor Cenney to compel him to pay mileage and per diem to members, which he refused to do, as no appropriation had been made for the payment. It is apparent that the suit was only brought to bring the whole question before the courts.

A BIG STEAL.
A Railroad Conductor Arrested for Stealing $10,000.
HUDSON, Dec. 19.—John Cameron, of Plainfield, N. Y., a railroad conductor, was arrested to-day at the instance of the Kingston & Hudson railroad, on a charge of stealing about $10,000, wages due Italian laborers, and a number of other things, when they learned that their wages were missing, threatened to burn and plunder the town.

FIGHT WITH ROBBERS.
A Desperate Encounter in Which Which Pistols were Weapons.
WACO, TEX., Dec. 19.—News has reached here of a fight on Tuesday between four farmers and two robbers with six-shooters. One farmer, John T. Watts, was killed, and W. T. Harris seriously wounded, and others more or less injured. Jim Lepp, supposed to be one of the robbers, has been arrested.

A NEGRO LYNCHED.
While Drunk He Shot and Killed a White Man.
OWENSBORO, (Ky.), Dec. 19.—Last night Doc Jones, a negro bar tender while drunk, shot John Westcott (white) dead. Early this morning a mob took Jones from the jail and lynched him.

Powderly Expects to Be Arrested.
SCRANTON, (Pa.) Dec. 19.—Constable Washbaugh, of Greensburg, who yesterday telegraphed that he had a warrant for Master Workman Powderly's arrest, was expected to arrive here at 9:30 this morning, but at 10 o'clock he had failed to put in an appearance. Powderly has been walking about the principal streets all morning, expecting the officer.

A Hotel Man's Suicide.
NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Timothy J. Coe, one of the best known hotel proprietors in the city, shot himself (white) dead this morning. The act was the result of temporary insanity, induced by illness and protracted insomnia.
The Union Pacific.
CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—At a meeting of the Union Pacific directors to-day the Union Pacific and Fort Worth deal was considered and referred to the executive committee, to be put into shape and executed.

FACTS ABOUT ASTORIA.
She Will Have Four Railroads in Less Than Three Years.
Work is being done on two of them now—the Albany & Astoria Railroad and the Astoria & South Coast Road.
There is a chance for the thousands whose aches and pains fully convince them of the golden opportunity forever gone by to make fortunes by getting in early and buying property in a first-class seaport, which is at the same time a railroad center.
The excitement in regard to real estate at Astoria at the present time is something remarkable. The real estate dealers are busy from morning till night making out deeds, abstracts, mortgages and contracts, and none of them pretend to show the property they have for sale, their time being entirely consumed with office work, buyers are not at all particular, but seem to believe that any real estate in and about Astoria is a desirable thing to have.

A young lady from Oregon City some weeks ago discovered that eighty acres of land lying back some distance from the water front belonged to the government. She at once secured it, and has since been offered $8000, and could get for it at the present time $16,000. This activity in real estate is not due to advertising or booming methods, as neither Astoria nor any real estate dealer in the city has ever expended a single dollar in advertising. The activity in the real estate market began some three months ago, by parties from the outside, mostly from the Eastern states, coming quietly into the city and investing largely in real estate and returning to their homes. This is supposed to have been caused by information quietly having been given by railroad men who are on the inside to their friends, who at once took the hint and purchased accordingly. But a hint is hardly needed to convince men of the certainty of the future of Astoria; a first-class seaport, with a magnificent navigable river reaching every part of the vast, rich, productive country back of it, and four railroads is sure to make city. Compare Astoria with Seattle and Tacoma.

First. It has just as good a harbor and no other harbor within a hundred miles, while all of Puget sound is a good harbor, and in a years a dozen rivals will spring up for Seattle and Tacoma.
Second. Astoria has the best system of river transportation back of it of any city in the world, and in these two important respects will never have a rival on the Pacific Coast.
There will be inside of ninety days a wild rush for real estate in Astoria. In last Saturday's Oregonian appeared a half-page advertisement, accompanied by a large map showing anticipated railroad connections and other prospective improvements. This advertisement, which, with other advertising to be done, will proclaim to the world at large, for the first time, the feverish state of excitement in the real estate market of the coming greatest seaport north of San Francisco. In anticipation of this wild rush the Oregon Land Company have bought a tract of 296 acres of land on the peninsula adjoining the platted portion of the city, on two of the proposed lines of the railroad, and having already in operation a railroad within a quarter of a mile, and near the steam motor line. This land is now in acre lots, and if you wish you had bought in Seattle and Tacoma when it was selling for from $300 to $500 per acre, here is a chance to buy acre tracts at those figures, and which will in a few months be selling as in Tacoma and Seattle, from $6000 to $15,000 an acre and upwards. These tracts are offered during the next ten days at each of the offices of the Oregon Land Company, in Salem, Portland, Astoria and Albany, at $300 per acre, one half cash and one-half in ninety days. The land adjoining this tract is already platted and being sold by the lot, and no other land is to be had in acres between the Oregon Land Co.'s tract and the business portion of the city.

The romance of real estate is found in the following actual occurrence: Squire Herron, of Salem, had to take four lots in Astoria on a bad debt and now holds them at $16,000. Last fall Squire Herron took, under something of a protest four lots in Astoria for $3500. He has recently been offered $8000 for them, but holds them at $16,000, and will no doubt get that for them inside of 30 days, if he does not double up on the price again.

Disarming an Escaped Foe.
"This was sometime a paradox," as Talmud says. Since, however, the people of America and other lands have been enabled to pit Hostetter's Stomach Bitters against that unseen foe, malaria, it is no longer a paradox, but an easy possibility. Whatever malaria evolves its misty venom to poison the air, and decaying unbecome vegetation impregnates the water, there, in the very stronghold of miasma, is the auxiliary potent to disarm the foe and assure efficient protection. Fever and ague, bilious remittent, dumb ague and ague cakes, no matter how tenaciously they have fastened their clutch on the system, are first forced to relax their grasp, and eventually to abandon it altogether. But if it preventive force that should chiefly recommend the Bitters to persons dwelling in malaria-cursed localities, for it is a certain buckler of defence against which the enemy is powerless. Cures, likewise, dyspepsia, rheumatism, kidney and bilious ailments.

IN CONGRESS.
Steps Taken to Prepare for the Big Fair in 1892.
THE SILCOTT DEFEALCATION.
The Holiday Recross—The Contested Election Cases—Examination of California's War Claims.

The HERALD'S Special Dispatches.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—In the senate a house concurrent resolution directing an examination by the treasury department of the war claims of the state of California, growing out of Indian war hostilities and disturbances.
By Cullom—To prepare for a celebration of the 40th anniversary of the discovery of America by an exposition of arts, industry, manufacture and products in 1892.
By George—To permit states to tax national banks not using United States notes.

The committee investigating the Silcott defealcation has agreed upon a report by which an appropriation will be asked to make good the losses sustained by the members of the house. A separate bill will also be reported making the sergeant-at-arms a disbursing officer.
The subcommittee of the house elections committee charged with the arrangement of the contested election cases completed its work in the house this morning. It was agreed that the republicans should select one case and the democrats another, in rotation, until all were arranged. This was done, and a hearing will be given after the holiday recess.

LIKE HIS FATHER.
The Young German Crown Prince Is a Chip of the Old Block.
There is an amusing story of the little German Crown Prince, who seems to have inherited some of the pleasing qualities of his father, says a writer in the New York Tribune. The Prince was driving out with his governess. As usual, the Germans cheered the little one or lifted their hats to him as he passed, to which the young Prince replied by raising his bonnet. As last the Crown Prince got bored with having continually to acknowledge the salutes of the populace, flinging himself back in his carriage he said to his governess: "I am tired now, and shall not lift my bonnet any more to them, no matter how much they cheer." "You are a naughty boy," replied the governess, "and unless you acknowledge the salutes of the people I shall not continue to drive with you." The little Crown Prince sat up immediately. "Coachman," said he. The coachman looked around. "Stop the carriage," continued the little one; "this lady will get out." He added, with a lordly wave of his hand toward his governess.
