THE SOURCE OF LIGHT.

One of the most interesting problems that has ever engaged the attention of human beings is that of the source of light. That is the agency in the universe that makes and controls light. Modern investigations and inventions have evolved light from electricity, and seems likely to connect the two together.

Is the matter of superstition, which missionaries say is the greatest drawback to their successful labors among the heathen, it is plainly apparent that no class of people are wholly free from its influence. In summing up the situation in the New England states a recent writer asks how many hundreds of mothers are there, who will not let their infants look into a mirror until they have passed a certain age?

The ecclesiastical head of the Roman Catholic church, it is rumored, will be one of the resident prelates of that church in the United States, as soon as Pope Pius XIII passes away.

did ascend three of them before they were discovered and became duly penitent.
Jute and cotton were brought into competition recently as articles for the manufacture of bagging for the cotton crop, and jute came out ahead, having established its adaptability for that purpose above that of cotton.
