OVER THE WIRES.

The Deadly "La Grippe" Still Gets in Its Work.

DISASTROUS TRAIN WRECK.

Nominations for U. S. Senator in Montana - A Vessel Abandoned at Sea - The Fate of Her Crew Unknown.

The Herald Special Dispatches.
Paris, Dec. 31.—During the past 24 hours there has been no increase in the number of cases of influenza. It is believed the epidemic has reached its highest. In the outskirts, however, the disease is spreading. Several cases are reported at Algiers and Bonax. It has also appeared in Turin and Genoa, Italy, in the Milan garrison and among the students of Logone college. The police and municipal guards are severely affected.

EVEN POLICEMEN TAKE IT.
New York, Dec. 31.—The number of deaths for the 23 hours ended at noon today was 196, an increase of over 100 per cent. The increase is from pneumonia, bronchitis and especially consumption. La grippe is credited with being at the bottom of the increased fatality. Policemen to the number of 300 are on the sick list.

A MERCHANT DIES OF IT.
Utica (N. Y.), Dec. 31.—Michael Hopkins, a prominent dry goods merchant, died here today from la grippe.

IT DRIVES MEN CRAZY.
Boston, Dec. 31.—Geo. B. Smith, 62 years of age, a watchman at the Massachusetts state prison, suicided this morning while insane from an attack of la grippe.

STILL SPREADING.
Vienna, Dec. 31.—The influenza is increasing and the board of health has ordered the schools closed until January 7. The hospital rooms are so crowded that it has been found necessary to erect a special structure for those suffering from the disease.

RAILROAD DISASTER.
Two Trains Crash Into Each Other With Fatal Results.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 31.—A frightful and fatal wreck occurred near Kokomo, Mo., this morning on the Pan-Handle railway. The north-bound train, conductor Thomas Lamp, left the junction on schedule time. One mile north it met the south-bound train, conductor V. D. Noland, running at a speed of fifty miles an hour. The two trains crashed together with terrific force, totally demolishing the two engines and burning the baggage car of the south bound train, which fell on top of the two engines. George Cummings, engineer of the south bound train, was killed, Thos. McCullough, engineer of the north bound train, cannot live. Baggage Master J. J. Kerlin was killed, Thos. Harbor and Express Messenger Grant were seriously hurt, and two men named Woods and Webb were slightly injured. The passengers in the coaches were badly shaken up. The cause of the accident is unknown, but the general opinion is that the north bound engineer was trying to make a "sneak" to a side track four miles further north, so as to pass the south bound, which was behind time.

THEIR FATE UNKNOWN.
A Vessel Abandoned at Sea and Her Crew Lost.

HALIFAX, Dec. 31.—The Allan line steamer Nestorian, after a stormy passage of twenty days from Glasgow, arrived last evening. On Wednesday morning, Dec. 18th, in north latitude 54 deg. 15 min., west longitude 25 deg. 44 min., the German ship Shakespeare, from Hamburg to New York, was sighted in a disabled condition and signaling for assistance. The sea was so rough that the Nestorian was compelled to lay near her all night. The captain and crew of the Shakespeare wished to be taken off. The next morning the Shakespeare was nowhere visible. What became of her crew is hard to say, but the mail steamer Sardinia, which arrived yesterday, passed the Shakespeare on Dec. 22d in latitude 54 deg. 21 min., longitude 20 deg. 7 min. She appeared to have been recently abandoned.

Browning's Funeral.
LONDON, Dec. 31.—The funeral service of Robert Browning took place at Westminster Abbey today. The body was placed in a polished pine coffin on which was a small brass plate bearing the dates of his birth and death. Wreaths from Tennyson and Miss Browning were placed on the coffin. Wreaths were sent by many other persons, including Henry Irving Bancroft, Sir John Millais, Alma Tadema and Sir Theodore Martin.

The Way of the Transgressor.
NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., Dec. 31.—Wm. Simpson, ex-county Treasurer, finished a four year's term in the penitentiary today, for embezzling $80,000 of the county's funds. On being released he was immediately re-arrested on two other charges and brought to this city and is now in jail.

Randall Better.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—A rumor was current at the capitol this morning that Randall's condition was much worse. An inquiry at his house was answered by an emphatic denial from the family. Randall is much better and is out of bed and attending to correspondence.

Montana Politics.
HELENA, Dec. 31.—Colonel W. F. Sanders has been nominated for United States senator. He will be elected in joint session tomorrow. For second senatorship T. C. Power, B. Platt Carpenter and Leo Mantle were placed in nomination. The house adjourned until four o'clock today.

Crushed to Death.
JACKSON (Tenn.), Dec. 31.—Four boys, between the ages of 6 and 8 years, were playing under the edge of some sand yesterday afternoon when the bank caved in, burying the little fellows under ten feet of sand. Life was extinct before they could be got out.

The O'Shea Divorce Suit.
DUBLIN, Dec. 31.—The Freeman's Journal says Parnell has instructed his counsel to obtain for him at the earliest moment a citation to appear in the suit for divorce brought by Captain O'Shea against his wife in which Parnell was named as co-respondent.

IF YOU TOUCH ME I'LL TELL.
A Wise Man Puts a Tell Tale on His Whisky Bottle.

Boston Globe.
A few days before the election a little incident happened which mortified me deeply," said a business man to the writer. "It happened in this way," he continued. "You see, I had some business to transact with one of the candidates of the Legislature, and as it was something important, I was forced to go out to his house to see him. It was quite late when I got there and I guess he had gone to bed. At any rate the servant who opened the door showed me into the parlor to wait for his master. I was obliged to wait some time, and while doing this I amused myself looking at the pictures and other ornaments about the room. On the center-table, among books and other bric-a-brac, stood a big fancy decanter filled with liquor which looked like whisky. It was a curious-looking decanter, and on one side was some fancy lettering which I could not make out. Being rather curious to find out what it said I lifted the decanter up from the table and tipped it up so that the light fell on the lettering. It said: 'If you touch me I'll tell.'"

"Curious, wasn't it? But, sure enough; it did tell, for I had scarcely had time to read the lettering when my ears were greeted with the tones of 'Johnny, Get Your Gun.' There was a music-box hidden in the bottom of the decanter, and when it is tipped the machinery starts and the music begins.

"You can judge for yourself how surprised and chagrined I was, for I had never seen the master of the house before, and he would have a fine opinion of me for my meddling qualities. Right in the middle of the tune he walked into the parlor, and gave me a curious smile which he heard that music-box. It seemed as if it would never stop. I tried to make some sort of apology, but made a bull of it I know, though now I can't think for the life of me what I said.

"He saw how confused I was, and laughed it off, saying that it was an oddity he had found in New York."

SUDDENLY TERMINATED.
His Interesting Discussion Came to Grief for Want of a Nickle.

One of the most dilapidated of tramps sat in a steel car, beside a handsomely dressed man, says the Arkansas Traveler.

"I see," said the tramp, "that the review of trade is very encouraging. In my paper this morning I noticed that Chicago is not only holding her own, but shows an immense increase over last year."

"Yes," the man answered, looking far away.

"I had been fearful" the tramp continued, "that trade might suffer a decline, but am agreeably disappointed. Business on the board of trade, I noticed while visiting that institution yesterday, was encouragingly active. Well, sir, America beats any country in the world. Don't you think so?"

"Yes."

"It has been several years since I was abroad," the tramp continued, "and I am therefore scarcely prepared to speak of the present condition of Europe, but, judging from a distance—and, really, distance counts for nothing in these days—I think that the existence of monarchies is drawing to a close. Now, look at Brazil. Did anybody expect a revolution there? Did not we all suppose that the aged monarch would be suffered to reign to the end of his days? But I tell you, sir, that republicanism is piercing the most remote corners of the earth. Speaking of trade—"

"Fare, please," said the conductor, approaching him.

"Ah (with a look of surprise), did I not hand you a nickle a few moments ago?"

"You did not."

"Give me a nickle or I'll put you off."

"Well (getting up and addressing the well dressed man), I must leave you here. I hope sometime to continue our interesting discussion."

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Affairs of Interest During the Holiday Recess.

THE CENSUS OF THIS YEAR.
The Project of Establishing a Postal Telegraph Service—Polish and Alaskan Bills.

Special Correspondence.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—If the present House continues as well as it has begun it will deserve well of the country. First Speaker Reed broke all previous records in the appointment of committees; and on Saturday an appropriation bill—the District of Columbia—was reported to the House from the committee on appropriations, the first time in the entire history of Congress that such a thing has been done before the holiday recess at the beginning of a new session. It is a great pleasure to be able to record this bit of industry, and it is to be earnestly hoped that the good work will be kept up when Congress comes together again January 6.

Senator Ingalls doesn't want the present census, or rather that of 1890, to be a repetition of the last one, which was notoriously inaccurate, and by the way all of the tomes of misinformation, as Mr. Ingalls termed the reports, have not yet been printed. Senator Hae promises that the eleventh census shall be much more prompt than was the tenth.

Senator Hear has introduced a bill that all business men would like to see become a law as soon as possible. It provides for a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States.

The House has by resolution, requested the Treasurer of the United States to take charge of the money left by Silcott in the safe of the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House—something like $35,000—until some agreement is reached by the House as to its final disposition. The matter will be settled after the recess.

Assistant Postmaster General Clarkson, who has just returned from a visit to his home in Iowa, says the talk about opposition to the re-election of Senator Allison is all bosh; and that the republicans of Iowa have never heard of it, except through outside papers.

Senator Cullom has introduced a bill to establish a postal telegraph service. It authorizes the Postmaster General to make a five year contract with any existing telegraph company to transmit messages between free delivery cities. The messages are to be delivered by the regular letter carriers. The price will depend on how good a contract can be made with the telegraph companies.

Somebody, or some committee, ought to have authority to exercise some sort of censorship over bills introduced in Congress. Among the avalanche of measures poured into the House and Senate, particularly the former, during the past week, are hundreds of bills that it is a sheer waste of public money to print. Besides the foolish and absurd bills, introduced generally to get rid of some cranky constituent, there are duplicates or almost duplicates, of the interesting and really good measures. If somebody would take the trouble to figure up the cost to the Government of these useless bills I am certain the amount would be astonishing, and that some method of stopping the needless expenditure would be speedily discovered.

Commissioner Raum is reorganizing the Pension bureau in order to increase its adjudicating capacity. He has made changes that will virtually give him the additional services of 75 experienced clerks.

The House committee on Elections has announced the programme for hearing the contested election cases. It will begin January 6, with the West Virginia cases and continue until all are disposed of, the last occupying the week beginning February 17.
