EDITORIAL NOTES.

The charge is sometimes made against public men that they are unreliable drunkards. The inference then is conveyed that there is such a genus homo as a reliable drunkard.

The Bohemian Diet has raised a storm in catholic circles by proposing to honor the memory of John Huss by placing his portrait in the National Bohemian Museum at Prague.

No better or handsomer magazine is issued in this or any other country than the Cosmopolitan of New York, 5th Avenue.

SIERRA CITY, California was the scene of a genuine snow avalanche recently that carried away several houses and buried people, causing the death of seven people.

The widow of a New York book-binder, who died last fall from a brain disease that he had suffered from for twenty years, claims a thousand dollars from the attending physician, for her dead husband's brain, which the physician removed.

The place made vacant by the death of Judge Ison, in Eastern Oregon, is awaiting an appointment from Governor Pennoyer. The name of H. E. Courtney has been suggested for the place but emphatically denies that he seeks the position and says he favors Hon. A. J. Lawrence.

The rule or ruin work seems to be gaining the ascendancy with some congressmen again. Springer of Illinois brought in an amendment to the bill to admit Idaho and Wyoming, making it an omnibus bill, to include Arizona and New Mexico as well, thinking thus to obstruct the admission of Idaho and Wyoming.

The irrigation canal of the Rio Grande Irrigation and Colonization Company, which is being put through on the east side of the Rio Grande in New Mexico, has met with an unlooked for obstruction. A band of Pueblo Indians gathered together in all the gandy colors of war paint and forbade the engineer, from prosecuting the work, under penalty of exterminating warfare.

Some of the South American countries are falling into the same trap that caught and inextricably holds Egypt in the grasp of hopeless insolvency. That is becoming debtors to European bondholders. The Argentine Republic has been trying to boom on borrowed capital and the bottom has fallen out with gold at 240 it will not take long to bring matters to a head.

been advancing money at high rates of usury. There is nothing the English bondholder enjoys so much as handling the revenues of a foreign country in order to pay himself and his associate bankers a good round interest.

Mr. EDWARD ATKINSON, who is an authority on fire protection, states, apropos of the Boston fire, that in the construction of buildings preference may well be given to brick, it having already successfully passed through trials by fire. Granite is one of the most unsafe materials, being filled with hygroscopic water in the pores of the stone, which is converted into steam by moderate heat, thereby reducing the stone to sand and quickly destroying the bearing surfaces between the blocks by rounding off each corner of each separate stone.
