Will Play Othello. Concerning the Shakespearean rendition of Daniel E. Bandmann and his excellent company of eighteen artists, who will appear in this city on the 22d inst., of the Tacoma Morning Globe says: It must have been something of a relief to the audience at the Alpha saw last night. Moreover it was a relief to the lovers of art to see that true acting is appreciated in this city, and is known before it comes, as the large attendance upon Mr. Bandmann's performance attested last night. The audience was a very large one despite the many causes which were combined to prevent a large turnout, among which were the cold weather, the poor stage facilities and the approaching opening of the new theater. Mr. Bandmann has collected about him an excellent company, and every individual in the cast did well the parts assigned, reading Shakespeare as he should be read and acting as though they had been trained in a school of acting, rather than in a single part of some vaudeville "skit." Among those prominently cast in the play were Miss Teresa Ellsworth, who made a charming Desdemona; F. C. Hueber, who was keen, witty, strong and insinuating as the villain Iago, and William Howatt, who rendered Cassio in the most acceptable manner. Mr. Bandmann rose with the play, and seldom has there been seen on the Pacific coast so strong an impression of the jealous Moor. At the end of the second act he was called with Iago before the curtain and after apologizing for the irregularity, made a short speech to the audience, in which he said that he had come for a week with his company to give Tacoma a series of legitimate plays, with no intention of pandering to any other taste than that which appreciates the immortal Shakespeare. Besides the acting of Othello the costume was rich and appropriate, and it was like being at the theatre to see this excellent company's performance.
