A FACTOR IN ALBANY'S GROWTH.

A Correspondent Offers Some Suggestions Concerning the Promotion of Factories.

With the beginning of the new year is a good time to formulate plans for the coming season and prepare to put them into execution. The year past has been one of more than usual prosperity for Albany. But while much has been done, it is but the index to the book, the nucleus of what ought to be done this year of 1890.

Very soon we shall hear the complaint made against us that we do not provide for the sufficient employment of labor, that there is not enough for men to do by which they can maintain their homes here.

You have, through the columns of the HERALD, pointed with perhaps pardonable pride to the improvements of the past year and those that are to be made here, the coming summer, but they are not calculated to furnish employment to the great throng of men in different portions of the country who are looking toward Albany as their future home.

The fact that important public works are to be pushed this season will be likely to bring among us large numbers of laboring men of all grades—many more than there is any adequate means to employ. Such is the usual experience of other places, and a few things should be planned and an earnest endeavor made to have them put into reality. We need all this increase in population, but to have it to be of benefit it must be enabled to become permanent.

To do this work must be furnished in abundance and of a permanent character. Such work can only be furnished by manufacturers.

The building and running of factories demand large capital. We must point out the line of investment and induce the owners of the needed money to come here and put their capital to work. This is our part to do and it should be done at once. Delays in this, as in many other things are dangerous, often disastrous.

Much has been said about advertising Albany, and a good deal has been done in that direction, but just now our best advertising should be done by our board of trade.

They have been resting long enough to have got their breath and now is the best time for them to do effective work. It is their province to point out those kind of manufacturing interests that are most urgently needed, that will give permanent employment to the most labor, that will work up the raw materials most readily attainable and present them to the attention of investors. One factory that will employ a hundred or two hundred hands the year round is of more real worth to our city than the investment of twice the sum in dwelling houses or store buildings.

Some one asks why? Because the factory makes work, puts money in circulation, keeps money at home that now goes away, makes a market for home products, and, lastly, it forces the building of dwellings and insures their permanent use as homes for the artisans employed.

Mr. Editor, some things can only be accomplished by continued and united effort, by persistent reiteration, and the people of Albany have that duty plainly before them now. There never has been a time when constant agitation of a subject was likely to be fruitful with more good to the whole city than now.

Gen. Grant accomplished his greatest work simply by his bulldog persistency in the line of action laid down in the start, and by a like persistency we can also win our point.

Let the board of trade, backed by every business man, and by every private citizen, take hold of this factory business with a fixed purpose and work for that end, regardless of all discouragement and adverse comment, and before another year we can have half a dozen additional factories at work in our beautiful city. Let us agitate this subject in season and out, until it becomes an accomplished fact. LEON KNOX.

NORTHWEST NOTES.

The Southern Pacific railroad has lost half a million dollars by the late storms.

The Union Pacific will soon issue 30,000 copies of a circular descriptive of the Northwest.

The Northern Pacific has bought the Puget Sound Shore road, the sum agreed upon being one million.

Senator Mitchell has introduced a resolution calling upon the secretary of the interior to cause a re-examination of the boundary of the Warm Spring Indian reservation, over which there is some dispute.

A small boy at Pendleton, who licked a piece of railroad iron, a few days ago, left enough of his tongue when he got loose to make a satisfactory lunch for a dog which followed him. The boy is now wrapped in anguish and bitter regret.

The Roseburg & Coos Bay railroad is exciting great interest. The general verdict is that Coos county will cooperate heartily and that work will begin this season. Immediate efforts will be made to secure a proposition from railroad men to put the road through. A leading business man says a $100,000 subsidy can be secured on twenty-four hours' notice.

At Oregon City Monday, a man made a filing in the land office that is an extraordinary one, at least for him. His application was for forty acres near Milwaukie, in township 1 south, range 1 east. When he applied to the register that official supposed the piece of land applied for to be railroad land, and so stated, but the man said the railroad company knew nothing about it, and persisted in filing, so his application was taken, and upon looking the matter up on the record it was found to be vacant. As land in that vicinity is worth $200 or upwards per acre, the applicant has secured from Uncle Sam a very valuable homestead.

LOWER SIUSLAW NOTES.

Frank Whitaker spent the holidays with his parents on the Pataha and has returned to his work in a logging camp on Smith river, where he has been working since last May.

STATE DISPATCHES.

Eastern Mails Four Days Overdue in Portland.

ALL THE TRAINS DELAYED.

At Seaside the Snow Blockade Is no Bad as Even East Snow Plows Are at Work Uncovering the Track.

Special to the Herald.

PORTLAND, Jan. 16.—No Eastern mails have been received in this city over the Union Pacific lines for four days. The Northern Pacific continues to deliver through pouches on pretty good time, considering the general condition of the country through which it must pass. No O. R. & N. trains arrived to-day, although one may get into the city to-night.

The north-bound California train has not come in to-day. One will get in here to-night or to-morrow morning. At Seaside the blockade is as bad as ever, but snow plows are busily engaged in uncovering the track. Local trains are all running uninterrupted.

Portland to-day is cut entirely off from telegraphic communication with the East. The wires of the Western Union Company are down east of Spokane Falls and South of Roseburg. The offices here consequently failed to-day to receive the full Associated Press report.
