ROBBED A TRAIN.

Two Masked Men Rob a California Train.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS.

A Whole Band of Indians Dying from La Grippe—Two Passenger Trains Collide, Killing Several People.

The HERALD'S Special Dispatch. TULARE (Ore.) Jan. 21.—The south-bound passenger train was stopped this morning by two masked men, who, after a struggle, compelled the engineer to stop the train. They then compelled the engineer and fireman to get with them and order the express messenger to open the door. The amount taken is not known, but it is rumored several thousand dollars. The robbers made the engineer and fireman accompany them some distance from the train. A tramp stealing a ride was mistaken for a train man and the robbers shot him in the head. He was brought here and may recover. There is no trace of the robbers.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The World's Fair Question to be Decided at Once.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The special committee on the world's fair had their first meeting this morning. Mr. Springer called up a resolution providing that the house proceed next Thursday to select a site for the fair by ballot and was discussed for an hour. Mr. Springer urged the importance of a speedy action on the proposition. He held that by its action on the Cannon resolution last week, the house had virtually decided that the matter must be settled as early as possible, and that the committee was practically under instructions and was as much bound by them as if they had been formulated. He argued that the house could not move in the matter until it had first settled where the fair was to be held. Mr. Hill also declared in favor of the immediate selection of a site by the house and pointed out how the delay jeopardizes the chances of the fair.

Mr. Flower thought the date fixed for balloting in the Springer resolution, Thursday next, was a little too soon. He suggested that a resolution be reported, providing for a debate in the house next Monday, one hour and a half to be allowed for the presentation of the claims of each city, to be followed by balloting Tuesday.

Mr. Frank, of Missouri, offered a resolution that the Springer resolution, providing for balloting by the house next Thursday be carried to a sub-committee of three, with instruction to report at the next committee meeting. After much debate it was adopted and a sub-committee was selected as follows: Chairman Chandler and Messrs. Hill and Flower.

INDIANS DYING.

A Whole Band Being Wiped Out by La Grippe.

WINNEPEG, Jan. 21.—A band of 800 Indians on St. Peter's reservation, a few miles out of Winnipeg, is being wiped out. The Indians are afflicted with la grippe in the most severe form, and being without proper medical attention, quickly succumb to the malady, which in most cases develops into lung diseases. Seventy-five per cent. of them are down with the epidemic, and if some speedy action is not taken by the authorities in the way of sending physicians, few of them will survive.

RAILWAY DISASTER.

A Collision of Trains Kills Several Passengers.

OMAHA (Nebr.) Jan. 21.—A collision of suburban trains occurred on the Belt line of the Missouri Pacific about 8 o'clock this morning within the city limits. Wm. Boyle, a local democratic politician, was killed instantly. Schwavick, deputy county treasurer, was injured internally. J. A. Harvey and a man named Wanderventer were badly crushed, probably fatally. Fraher and Frank Church had their legs broken. Two brothers named Mittleff, railroad shop boys, were very seriously injured. Several other passengers were more or less bruised. Conductor William Hilde had his arm broken and was badly crushed.

EXCITEMENT IN SILVER.

A Rumor of Important Action by the Bank of England.

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—A special from New York says: There is a rumor on Wall street, which, considering the discussion generally of Secretary Windom's silver policy, occasions considerable comment. Messrs. Sienon, Mann and Forsyth announced that they had received advices from London to the effect that the bank of England is about to exercise its right, never hitherto asserted, to use silver to the extent of one-third of its reserve, and issue $10 notes in silver against it. The dispatches also said the bank had purchased $5,000,000 worth of silver bullion

PORTUGAL YIELDS.

The Plucky Little Government Cannot Withstand England.

STOCK DYING IN THE SNOW.

Large Quantities of Bogus United States Money Being Coined in Mexico—A Prince and Princess to Visit America.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The Portuguese government finding the powers unwilling to mediate in the dispute between Portugal and England concerning territory in East Africa, will submit to Lord Salisbury's full demands under protest, while at the same time it will try to conciliate Portuguese public opinion. An attempt to increase the capital of the Portuguese Mazambique Company from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 has failed.

GLOOMY DAYS IN NEVADA.

Deep Snow on the Ranges, and Half the Stock Will Perish.

AUSTIN, Nev., Jan. 20.—Over five feet of snow has fallen since December 1. The outlook for stock is not encouraging. Snow lies on the ground three feet deep, and is piled in the canyons. One rancher has lost 4000 sheep. The Nevada Central railroad has been fighting snow two weeks. It took eight days to get a train through, and they are having a serious time now to get through. San Francisco papers, dated January 4 have just been received. The town is cut off from outside communication except by telegraph. Wood is scarce in town, and two mines have shut down because of it.

Ranchers feel despondent, as half their stock will perish. Several old houses have caved in from the weight of snow.

IMPORTANT IF TRUE.

Large Amount of Bogus Money Coined in Mexico.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—It is reported that a great counterfeiting scheme has been discovered, and that five million bogus United States silver dollars have been coined and issued in Mexico in the last two years. The fact was discovered by the remarkable amount of American silver in circulation near the Mexican border. The profit in the scheme consists in issuing at the rate of one hundred cents for one dollar coins which cost only seventy-two cents. The Sun, which gives credence to the story, this evening says the dollars are full weight and the dies from which they are made are perfect.

SURPLUS REDUCED.

The Secretary Has Stopped the Purchase of Bonds Temporarily.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Secretary Windom has directed the temporary suspension of purchase of 4 per cent. bonds by the government. This is because the government has all it wants at present, and the available surplus has been reduced to about $20,000,000.

SOAKED WITH GORE.

Terrible Fight of Polanders in a Pennsylvania Cemetery.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Jan. 20.—A bloody riot took place between warring factions of a Polish church at Plymouth this evening. One faction endeavored to bury one of their members in the cemetery, and the others resisted and a fierce battle took place in which pistols, stones and clubs were used. During the shooting thirty men were prostrated by wounds, and the ground near the grave was covered with blood. The coffin was upset and the body rolled out. The Polanders were finally routed by a posse of constables and citizens. Anthony Floas and Joseph Hewick were fatally injured. The ring-leaders of the riot were arrested and the body finally interred.

OVERCROWDED GRAVEYARDS.

The Condition of England's Cemeteries a Cause of Alarm.

Under the ominous heading of "overcrowded cemeteries," the Duke of Westminster writes to the London Lancet urging the necessity of fresh legislation to correct the many abuses which exist in our present mode of burial. His grace repeats what has been frequently noticed in these columns, says the Lancet, that the large number of bodies interred in the metropolitan cemeteries—100,000 in twelve acres at the Brompton, a quarter of a million in the seventeen acres of the tower hamlets—would be no cause for alarm were they properly buried. An indefinitely greater number could, he remarks, be buried with harm to none if the mode of burial were in accordance with the sanitary law. How thoroughly true this is may be proved by the following simple calculation: In suitable soil 1000 graves can be over-crowded. If each body is buried in a perishable coffin and in the earth, the resolution of the body is effected in a few years, and another burial can take place without in any way diminishing the capacity of the grave for more interments. In other words, graves and grave-

The Condition of England's Cemeteries a Cause of Alarm.

Under the ominous heading of "overcrowded cemeteries," the Duke of Westminster writes to the London Lancet urging the necessity of fresh legislation to correct the many abuses which exist in our present mode of burial. His grace repeats what has been frequently noticed in these columns, says the Lancet, that the large number of bodies interred in the metropolitan cemeteries—100,000 in twelve acres at the Brompton, a quarter of a million in the seventeen acres of the tower hamlets—would be no cause for alarm were they properly buried. An indefinitely greater number could, he remarks, be buried with harm to none if the mode of burial were in accordance with the sanitary law. How thoroughly true this is may be proved by the following simple calculation: In suitable soil 1000 graves can be over-crowded. If each body is buried in a perishable coffin and in the earth, the resolution of the body is effected in a few years, and another burial can take place without in any way diminishing the capacity of the grave for more interments. In other words, graves and grave-## plots can be made capable of holding an almost unlimited number of bodies, while vaults, catacombs and bricked graves can only hold a very limited number. If the metropolitan cemeteries had from the first been managed as burial-grounds in the strict sense of the word, they would now be in the same position as many of our older churchyards—holding the dust of ages past still having room for more burial reform is not a thing of yesterday. More than two centuries ago Sir Christopher Wren strongly denounced the practice of burying bodies in the vaults of churches, and advocated suburban burial grounds. And in the middle of last century the mortal remains of the Bishop Wilson were, in accordance with his expressed wish buried in the churchyard of Kirk Michael and not under the church he wishing to let a good example, and not to sanction so dangerous a practice. And yet in the Lancet of last week there was a notice of an application for power to bury a body in a vault beneath the parish church of Bebbington which has a large congregation at its Sunday services. And though the memory of good Bishop Wilson still remains in the island of which he was for more than fifty years bishop, his good example was not followed, several of the Manx churches having large number of dead in the vaults beneath them. Much has been done by individuals, collectively and individually, to set a good example in these days, and by no one more than the Duke of Westminster. It is well known that the burial of his late lamented son, Earl Grosvenor, was a model of simplicity in all its details, and he still continues the chief proponent of the Church of England Burial reform Association, whose indefatigable secretary, the Rev. F. Lawrence, has done so much to make burial reform popular with all classes. But much remains to be done. Burial under churches ought to be absolutely forbidden, the soil of the public cemetery should be for the use of all the parishioners, and not partitioned off by walls into vaults or bricked graves. No coffins except those of a perishable kind should be allowed. These reforms will, it is to be feared need legislation for their general adoption.

FAMOUS BEAUTIES.

Spanish Girls Who Are Admired for Fine Forms and Small Feet.

Henry T. Fink, in Scribner. As regards her stature and mold, an Andalusian girl is almost invariably a petite brunette; and although not all are plump, and many are too stout, the majority have exquisitely symmetrical tapering limbs, well-developed busts (flat-chested women are almost unknown in Spain), and the most dainty and refined hands and feet. Regarding these feet Gantier makes the most astounding assertion, that "without any poetic exaggeration it would be easy here in Seville to find women whose feet an infant might hold in its hands. A French girl of seven or eight years could not wear the shoes of an Andalusian of twenty." I am glad to attest that if the feet of Sevillian women were so monstrously small fifty years ago, they are so no longer. It is discouraging to see a man like Gantier fall into the vulgar error of fancying that, because a small foot is a thing of beauty, therefore the smaller the foot the more beautiful it must be.

Beauty of feet, hands and waist is a matter of proportion, not of absolute size, and too small feet, hands and wrists are not beautiful, but ugly. We might as well argue that since a man's foot ought to be larger than a woman's therefore the larger his feet the more he has of manly beauty. If the Andalusian women really had feet so small that a baby might hold them in its hands, they could not be expected to walk at all, or, at least, not gracefully. But it is precisely their graceful gait and carriage for which they are most famed and admired.
