LOCAL AFFAIRS.

The Usual Budget of News About the City.

A MURDEROUS CHINESE COOK.

Arrested for Making an Assault Upon Mrs. Murray With a Butcher's Cleaver at the Exchange Hotel.

A Chinese cook, Moy Yan by name, who has been employed in the Exchange hotel, became enraged at the proprietor, Mrs. Murray, yesterday and attempted to assault her with a butcher's cleaver.

Mrs. Murray had remonstrated with the Mongolian about the manner in which he did the work, when he became very angry, and when Mrs. Murray told him to leave the hotel he seized a cleaver used for cutting meats, and started after her threatening to kill her. She fled into another room, and avoided him.

The Chinese man was arrested and lodged in jail to await examination in Justice Humphrey's court Monday, on a charge of an assault with a dangerous weapon.

Cold Weather in Eastern Oregon.

There is no use trying to conceal the fact that Eastern Oregon is now experiencing a very severe winter. Snow has been on the ground continuously for over six weeks, and out on the hills and elevated ranges it is now nearly a foot average depth. It is so badly drifted in many places that stock will not attempt to travel through it, and thus they become discouraged, and do not hustle for feed. The consequence is that a considerable loss of live stock is sure to be sustained even if the snow should go off immediately. It is not always the deep snow that the stockmen fear so much. The weather has not been unusually cold, but on the contrary has several times been warm enough to cause the snow to melt, and then afterwards freeze, thus covering the ground with ice. The present winter is a hard one, and at present there is no indication of a favorable change.—Ochoco Review.

Russell-Jewell Dramatic Co.

This excellent company will appear at the opera house in this city to-morrow evening. The Seattle Post-Intelligence says of them: "Lynwood" is a strong play that gets just full justice at the hands of Miss Lizzie Lingham and her fine company. There was a good audience present last night at the opera house to see this great play, and if applause is any evidence of appreciation they showed it enthusiastically.

Miss Lizzie Lingham, as Lucille Carlyle, showed herself a perfect actress. Miss Jennie Darrah's songs, dances and character sketches, sent the house into roars of laughter. She is the cleverest soubrette that has appeared here in years. Mr. Frank Cleaves, as the villain of the piece, Dudley Middleton, was truly detestable—that is, he played the part to such good purpose that the larger part of the house hated him heartily for the time. Mr. Sam Morris, as Carter, the correspondent, was inimitable, and his witticisms and antics kept the house merry. Those desirous of seeing really good acting should make use of the opportunity presented to-night and to-morrow evening, in standard pieces. "The Mountain Wall" will be played to-night. In this piece the company is said to be particularly strong, and it will be a good chance to see them at their best.

Santiam Lumbering Company.

Articles of incorporation have been filed in the Marion county clerk's office by the Santiam Lumbering Company, with W. H. Hobson, Lee Brown, Thomas Sims and John A. Shaw, incorporators; capital stock, $20,000. This is the company owning the big lumbering mill at Mill City and the members are well known as men of responsibility and in every way reliable. They have at Mill City one of the best mill plants in the state, with a fine timber country all around them, and it is only a question of a short time until they will have lumber yards established all along the valley.

Arrested for Polygamy.

Chief of Police John Hoffman left last night for Oakland, Oregon, after one F. J. Bell, arrested there on a charge of polygamy. Bell was recently married to a young lady of Linn county named Beard, while he already had a wife and family at Roseburg. He will be brought to this city to answer for the crime.

Land Sold.

The old Smith & Brasfield corner at Harrisburg, belonging to the Hiram Smith estate was sold at sheriff's sale in this city yesterday to Mrs. Dr. W. F. Mendenhall for $800. One-half of the John McCoy farm was sold at administrator's sale to Robert L. Smith at $28.50 per acre. It contains 305 acres.

On the River.

The Willamette has risen nearly four feet during the past 24 hours. At midnight it stood 10 feet and 9 inches above low water mark and was slowly rising. The Bentley went up to Corvallis yesterday and will take down 100 tons of hay from this city Monday for Seattle. The river is not so high as to prevent the ferry from running.

To the Ladies.

Mrs. B. A. Wayne will leave in about a week for the East, where she will stay in a new and elegant stock of millinery of the very latest styles, which she will be able to offer to the ladies of Albany on or about the 20th of March.

LETTER FROM ASTORIA.

The Albany & Astoria Railway Has Many Warm Friends Down by the Sea.

Astoria, Jan. 23.

For a couple of weeks your correspondent has been dodging around trying to evade la grippe, the prevailing distemper that seems to be making a tour of the world, and taking in Astoria on his route, or at least reminding Astorians that he is here, and if the present cold and disagreeable weather holds on much longer he is likely to stay for some time. Unlike Nellie Blay in her trip around the world, flying from station to station and coming from continent to island and across the trackless ocean to the palace car, and the steel rail that lands her safe at home again. La grippe is a nuisance that like all unwelcome visitors seems in no hurry to depart. Several of our citizens are suffering, while some have passed away.

The railroad muddle has finally been settled, it is said, and when the weather permits the work will begin again in good earnest with a view to finishing and equipping the road to the sea side in time for summer travel.

The government appointments do not give satisfaction by any means to those whose interests are at stake, and whose political opinions should be considered in the selections of such officers because they being the people whose votes made it possible for the Oregon delegation to dictate to the president their choice of incumbents for the custom house and post office, why should the desires of petitioners be set at naught, and men selected who are not the choice of the people. In fact the postmaster is recommended for an office he did not want, and says he did not seek, while those that did want it and worked hard to obtain the same, are snubbed by an unjust and unworthy silence by those who had the matter in hand, and had promised to see fair play accorded to the merits of the petition, and the respectability of his references.

The terrible storm that is prevailing now makes things look blue indeed, and now the snow is falling fast and with fair prospect of coming to stay. Mails have been irregular, but there will undoubtedly be a blockade that will stop them all together. Business is almost entirely suspended, hotels, restaurants, grocery stores and butcher shops excepted. The multitude must be fed even if the storm continues forty days and nights.

Real estate is frozen up, and the dealer therein is terribly disgusted with the beautiful snow. It does seem that not only Portland, but Providence is conspiring to check the little boom and chill our ardor in our attempts at anything like progress toward the rank our position and our resources justify us in assuming as a city.

A flouring mill and another large saw mill is now talked of favorably. The latter by eastern capitalists.

The Albany, Tillamook and Astoria railroad is much talked of, and is gaining friends very fast. The line will be a far more popular one with the traveling public than the south coast road through Nehalem, and its cost of construction will certainly be very much cheaper per mile.

The Lindsay dramatic troupe is here endeavoring to make us forget our troubles and the bad weather by their pleasant entertainments.

Grand Army Encampment.

The ninth annual encampment of the Oregon department will convene at Eugene at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday, February 12th. The annual convention of the Women's Relief Corps will be held at the same time and place. The annual encampment promises to be one of the most interesting held in the state, and all the comrades are cordially invited to be present and enjoy the hospitality and liberality of the members. A large and active committee of comrades of the G. A. R. and ladies of the W. R. C. of Eugene, are engaged in securing and preparing entertainment and making all arrangements for the encampment. A hearty and earnest welcome will be extended to all visiting comrades. The railroads of the state have all offered to transport members for one and one-fifth fare for the round trip. A number of delegates will attend from this city.

Important Railroad Move.

It is stated on what seems to be good authority that the Oregonian & Narrow Gauge railroad is to be widened into a standard gauge road, and extended from Coburg to Springfield in Lane county. Some officials of the road have recently made a trip to the latter place, and it is believed by many that the plan is to extend the line up the middle fork of the Willamette, thence south-east across the mountains to a connection with the Central Pacific road. The new proprietors of the Narrow Gauge road certainly intend to improve it, and if it is widened it will give Albany direct rail connection with a scope of country through the upper and eastern portion of the Willamette Valley, and probably another trans-continent line.

Have Incorporated.

Articles of incorporation have been filed with the secretary of state of the Ladies' Aid Society of Albany, with M. J. Kelly president, Cora Hopkins secretary, Mrs. L. E. Blain vice-president, Kate Althouse treasurer; value of the property, $500. The recent encouragement given to their proposition to erect an orphan's home in this city insures the success of the enterprise, and the value of their property will soon be materially increased.

THE SNOW BLOCKADE

The Situation on the Southern Pacific Is No Better.

OVERWHELMED IN THE SNOW

The Fires Dead in the Engines—Scarcity of Provisions for the Men and the Passengers—The Wires Down.

Dispatches from California and Southern Oregon contain the most gloomy news concerning the blockade. Seasons and Dunsmuir are cut off from approach either way, and there is no road open about Sims. Eleven engines are said to be lying dead at these places, the fires having gone out, there being no wood or water that can be used. Provisions are almost gone, and it is probable that food will have to be carried in on snow shoes for the passengers.

The Western Union reports all direct wires to San Francisco still down south of Kiddles. Snow is deep and men can make but one and a half miles an hour at best. Telegrams from San Francisco say a bad slide north of Sims wrecked all wires. The linemen will reach the wreck from the south to-night. Wires are badly damaged through the Sacramento canyon. There is no prospect that the railroad will be in operation to San Francisco for several days. The Pacific Postal Telegraph Company's wires to San Francisco are still down, but the most extraordinary efforts are being used to get them in working order. The storm has been one of the most severe this company has had to contend against, and gangs of men are at work repairing the breaks at different points.

There is a bent out of the trestle at Roseburg, which prevents travel south of there. It was expected to have it repaired by this morning. Mr. Brandt is somewhere between Riddle and Ashland. He will probably stay at the front until the road is clear. It is thought that Colonel Crocker has been able to get back to San Francisco. A train from Roseburg will reach Albany about noon to-day.

Bandmann as Hamlet.

The presentation of Hamlet by Daniel E. Bandmann and his talented company on their return engagement at the opera house last evening was witnessed by a large and delighted audience. So hearty was the applause at the close of the third act that the eminent tragedian and Miss Oviyer received a well deserved curtain call. Miss Ellsworth as Ophelia also exhibited a charming bit of acting. Mr. Bandmann has surrounded himself with a talented company of artists, who are able to play Shakespeare in a most acceptable manner. Mr. Bandmann himself is certainly entitled to a leading position in the dramatic world.

Got Into Deep Water.

Dr. A. J. Rossiter returned yesterday from Halsey, where he was sent by Stock Inspector Steuben Powell to examine some horses which were supposed to be affected with gleet. A report on the condition of the horses has not yet been made. In crossing Muddy creek the team found the water found the horses very high, and got into deep water, narrowly escaping drowning their team.

California Mails.

Another big lot of delayed mails arrived in this city at noon yesterday. It was the first lot of California mail forwarded by steamer, and included all mails from the 15th to the 20th. The mail of the 14th is still in the blockade, the San Francisco mail of the 13th being the last regular mail received here.

Will Settle the Bill.

A telegram was received yesterday by the authorities here from the father of Kate and Hattie Mattoon, the girls of Drain who came to grief in their wholesale stealings in this city, stating that he would arrive to-day and pay for all the goods taken.

ALBANY.

The queen manufacturing city and railroad center of Oregon, Albany, to-day has the brightest future before it of any town in Oregon, and she will certainly by the end of 1890 have a population of from 10,000 to 15,000 souls. She is maintaining a steady and healthy growth, and is destined to be the great railroad center and manufacturing city of Oregon. Real estate to-day in Albany is cheap compared with other towns in Oregon and Washington that have not one half the future before them that Albany has. It will only be a short time until the speculator will prefer Albany to any other town in Oregon or Washington to invest his money in and those now who are smart enough to embrace the present opportunity to buy real estate in Albany while it is cheap will be the ones that make the money. The real estate firm of Burkhardt & Malin have some excellent bargains in inside property, as well as some good bargains in some of the closest additions. They have lots for from $50 to $1000 and on the installment plan. Parties who wish to get in on the ground floor should call at their office and be shown their large list of city property, which embraces residence property in all portions of the city. A few special bargains we note below, to which we respectfully invite the attention of the public:
