WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For Albany and vicinity—Following is the forecast for 24 hours, ending at 8 p. m. to-day: Rain; stationary temperature.

NOTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

The river is rising. Bandmann in Othello Thursday evening. Stock are suffering in the Walla Walla Valley.

Wesley Shannon, who has been seriously ill at Salem for several months, returned to this city yesterday.

P. F. Chaffey, who left this city several weeks ago for his home in Pennsylvania, died on the 14th inst. in Iowa of a grippe.

A letter received from Harrisburg states that Wm. McCulloch, a well known pioneer, is dangerously ill at his home near that place.

Moy Yan, the Chinaman who assaulted Mrs. Murray at the Exchange Hotel Saturday, will be examined before Justice Humphrey this afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock.

The influenza shows a marked decrease in this city. Such a downpour of rain as this portion of Oregon has been experiencing during the past twenty-four hours is calculated to put a quietus upon this epidemic.

Among the second-class passengers blockaded at Ashland was a sick baby. The baby died last week, and the balance of the delayed passengers finding that the parents had only $4 left, raised a purse of $40 for them, and the city of Ashland paid the expenses of the burial.

Dr. I. W. Starr has sold his interest in the drug store of Starr & Cusick in this city to G. C. Stannard, of Brownsville, and has purchased the latter's drug business in that place. Dr. Starr will remove to Brownsville, and Mr. Stannard will remove to this city.

The excessive rains of yesterday caused so much water in the swale above the Southern Pacific depot, that the opening left in the sidewalk was totally inadequate to carry off the moisture, and the consequence was that the street car company's stables were flooded.

Slaughtering Deer.

There is a deer blockade in the mountains. This is not intended for a pun, so there is no laugh coming. The East Oregonian says that reports are to the effect that herds of deer are blockaded in the breaks of Meacham creek by the deep snow which fills the gulches and canyons to the depth of five and six feet. The dribs make it difficult for the deer to travel and the mountaineers are having rare sport slaying the beleaguered animals and tender, juicy steaks and roasts of venison garnish the board of many a mountain home. Many an ambitious nimrod, who would ignominiously fail in stalking the shy and wary deer in an open forest with no favors, can cover himself with gore and glory by chasing and shooting the deer so plentiful along the canyons on the babbling Meacham, now. A good, old fashioned chinook, however, will soon set the captives free, and spoil the hunter's sport.

Frightfully Burned.

Last Tuesday the six months' old boy of J. P. Brandon, of Corvallis, was terribly burned by falling into the fire. It had been placed in a small rocking chair in front of the fire place, and the mother had stepped into the wood house after fuel to start up the fire. While so doing, she heard the child begin crying in a muffled tone, but did not hurry, thinking nothing of the matter. On going into the room she discovered the child had fallen forward and its face and one hand were imbedded in the hot coals which were on the fire place. It was immediately rescued from its terrible position and medical aid called. The face from below the eyes down was horribly burned, also the hand. For a while it was thought that the hand would have to be amputated, but at the present time the doctor thinks it can be saved and will so heal as to allow of its perfect use in the future.

Bandmann's Return.

Daniel E. Bandmann, the great Shakespearean tragedian, and his talented company will be greeted by an immense audience on their return engagement Thursday night. By special request of several prominent citizens Mr. Bandmann consented to return and play Shakespeare's great masterpiece, Othello, with all the fine scenic effects attending it. About 100 reserved seats were sold yesterday, and there promises to be the largest audience that has attended any play at the opera house this season. Bandmann greatly pleased the public here last week, and will be given a cordial welcome on his return.

STATE DISPATCHES.

Portland Villains Arrested—Another Sparrow Match Arranged.

PORTLAND, Jan. 28.—W. B. Daniels is in jail, accused of enticing Mand Miller, under 16 years of age, from her home and effecting her ruin. C. B. Higley, a hack-driver, is also alleged to be mixed up in the affair. The police say that Daniels is 48 years of age and married, and that his wife lives in Marion county. Highly and Daniels were arraigned in the police court this noon, but upon the motion of the prosecuting attorney their hearing was continued till Thursday. In the meantime their bonds were fixed at $500 each. In the event of their conviction both stand a good chance of serving long terms in the penitentiary.

For the first time in many years there is not an uncancelled 2-cent postage stamp in the Portland post-office. Before the Union Pacific blockade occurred postmaster C. W. Roby ordered $12,000 worth of stamps, and they are now delayed on the road somewhere.

A match has been arranged between Dave Campbell of Portland, and Sullivan, of Astoria. Each man pulls up $500 for stake money. The fight will take place in about five weeks.

Found Dead in Bed. HARRISBURG, Jan. 28.—Mr. Lewis Dennis, a pioneer of Lane county, was found dead in bed this morning. The cause of death is unknown.

THE COST OF A BRIDGE.

ALBANY, OR., Jan. 27, 1890. As the question of a bridge across the Willamette river at this point is one as nearly connected with the future prosperity of our growing city as any other, it should, and does interest all are people and it is but natural that they should talk about it, should desire to discuss the cost, dimensions, location and etc.

I have been at some trouble to ascertain the cost of similar structures, and as this may be of interest to many of your readers, I deem it proper to lay it before them.

The bridge across the north Umpqua at Winchester in Douglas county, and about five miles north of Roseburg, is probably as costly a structure and as large as we shall want here. It is of the Cantilever style, and is of iron, steel and wood. The total length is 945 feet; height of piers 45 feet; width of road way 18 feet; main pier solid concrete 24 feet high with steel nose six feet wide; cylindrical piers of concrete 21 feet high, nine feet at base and four feet at top. Main piers anchored to bed-stone with steel rods 3 1/2 inches extending through piers to top of cylinder and secured to steel pedestals. Shore piers, iron cylinders with concrete anchors and bases. Concrete bearings for all inside approaches. 900 barrels of cement used on concrete work. Proportion of cement; 3 parts gravel and stone; 2 parts sharp clean sand; 1 part cement. The cost of the structure was $45,000.

These facts and figures are from Judge Fitzhugh, and I presume they are reliable.

It is probable that we may want a different bridge, and perhaps a wider one, but it will enable us to know approximately what one bridge will cost.

There is now before the county court of this county a petition for a bridge across the Santiam at Jefferson, and the people at that wide-spread little "berg" are very much in earnest about the matter, and we only wish our people could be stirred up to the same heat and interest, for surely a bridge at this point will be as much benefit to our city as the woolen mill, or railroad, but strange as it may seem, the greater number of our citizens, and those too, who reap the greater benefit from the rapid growth of our city are, if not sound asleep, at least lethargic, and seem to feel no interest in this subject.

I have just received from the county judge of Clackamas county the dimensions and cost of the bridge at Oregon City, which I will give your readers in a future communication.

ALBANY.

The queen manufacturing city and railroad center of Oregon, Albany, to-day has the brightest future before it of any town in Oregon, and she will certainly by the end of 1890 have a population of from 10,000 to 15,000 souls. She is maintaining a steady and healthy growth, and is destined to be the great railroad center and manufacturing city of Oregon. Real estate to-day in Albany is cheap compared with other towns in Oregon and Washington that have not one-half the future before them that Albany has. It will only be a short time until the speculator will prefer Albany to any other town in Oregon or Washington to invest his money in and those now who are smart enough to embrace the present opportunity to buy real estate in Albany while it is cheap will be the ones that make the money. The real estate firm of Burkhardt & Malin have some excellent bargains in inside property, as well as some good bargains in some of the closest additions. They have lots for from $50 to $1000 and on the installment plan. Parties who wish to get in on the ground floor should call at their office and be shown their large list of city property, which embraces residence property in all portions of the city.
