OVER THE WIRES.

Almost a Riot in the United States Senate.

A DISGRACEFUL SCENE. Miss Blundell Arrives in New York Five Days Behind Miss Bly—The Blocked Train.

The Herald's Special Dispatch. WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The scenes of yesterday are resumed to-day, and the hour is again in an uproar over the decision of the speaker in counting a quorum, and near the number on the democratic side is on his feet shouting and shaking his hand at the speaker. The scene resembles a riot. During the progress of the debate, of Missouri, shouted amid great uproar: "You are not a tyrant to rule over the house in any such way, and I denounce it." The remainder of the debate was drowned. "Don't quit," was passed around the democratic side of the chamber and it was assiduously obeyed.

The warfare was over the election case of Smith vs. Jackson, from the fourth West Virginia district. Upon the question of considering the election case the democrats generally refused to vote and made the point of no quorum. The speaker, however, counted as present the members refusing to vote and declared a quorum present.

ON THE CENTRAL PACIFIC.

Reports from the Blockade Are by No Means Encouraging.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 30.—Reports from the scene of the snow blockade on the Central Pacific this morning are not encouraging. The fact that the barometer is falling at the summit and high winds are sweeping over the snow-covered hills is regarded as discouraging. The wind which rose last night was fearful. There is an unprotected stretch of track between Tunnel 13 and Truckee, running along the base of the hills. The hurricane swept over these hills and the result was great snow slides, which completely covered the tracks. Further trouble is expected from slides, and there is no telling when and where the next may occur.

MISS BISLAND ARRIVES.

She Reaches New York Five Days Behind Miss Bly.

New York, Jan. 30.—The Cunard steamship Bothnia was sighted off Sandy Hook this morning, and Miss Elizabeth Bisland, the competitor of Nellie Bly in the race around the world, is on board. She is five days behind Miss Bly.

WATERS-MOORE WEDDING.

Married on Tuesday evening at the residence of M. J. Waters of Brownsville, Mr. W. W. Waters and Miss Iva Moore, one of Brownsville's beautiful and accomplished young ladies. Mr. W. W. Waters is one of our prosperous merchants of Brownsville.

At 8 o'clock p. m. the bridal party entered the room. The Rev. C. Sperry officiating. The bride was dressed in white India silk, and the groom wore the conventional black. After the ceremony a reception was held. After the reception the bride and groom led the march to the dining-room where the guests sat down to a sumptuous supper.

The bride and groom were the recipients of many useful and beautiful presents. Following is the list of presents: Miss Betty Brown, silver berry spoon; Mrs. C. Sperry, silver sugar shell; Miss Ollie Chandler, silver butter knife; Miss Lillie Bruce, set glass dishes; Perry Ross, fruit dish; Charles Miller, silver cream pitcher; Miss Anna Moore, set of silver; Miss Addie Gibler, set sauce dishes; Mrs. Gibler, linen table spread; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Moore, pair silver napkin rings; Clyde Foster, silver sugar bowl; Charles Miller, silver cream pitcher; Misses Anna and Rebecca Smith, set linen napkins; Miss Anna Morelock, set of gold band pie plates; Bert Wilson, silver pickle stand; Ben Reese and Jesse Ross, set of silver forks; Miss Alma LeRoy, breakfast cup and saucer; W. Moore, ornamental nickel pitcher; Vera Gibler, set of butter dishes; Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Sperry, fine lamp; Hon. and Mrs. J. B. R. Morelock, rocking chair; Miss Anna Moore, chamber set; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Waters, towel and table linen; John Waters, tub, washboard and wringer; Capt. and Mrs. E. D. Hagen, set of silver tea spoons and breakfast castor; Dilla Starnard, Maggie Dunn, Albert Cavender and A. S. McDonald, set of silver knives and forks.

While at supper the Brownsville Cornet Band, under the able leadership of Prof. W. Moore, came and gave the bride and groom a serenade. Mr. W. W. Waters stepped to the door and invited the band into supper. After supper Mr. Perry Ross presided at the organ, and singing was the order of the evening, until 11 o'clock when all departed for their respective homes, wishing the newly married couple a long and happy life. The band played some choice selections for which the bride and groom were well pleased and wish the band to accept their thanks. BROWNVILLE, Jan. 28, 1890.

A Narrow View of the Case.

"I always laugh," relates an old resident, "when I remember an experience I had when a boy. I lived in the country, and one day my mother and myself had occasion to go to town. He owed me

COOLIES FOR MEXICO.

Mongolian Laborers to be Shipped Into the South.

A STEAMSHIP LINE SECURED. Chinese to be Brought Over by the Thousand—A New Boiler Mance—A Big Scheme.

A New York Times special from the city of Mexico says: The Government has a distinct Oriental policy which is first disclosed by the liberal policy of commerce, negotiated through Senor Romero in Washington, with the diplomatic representatives of Japan, by which advantages and privileges are decidedly substantial.

The paucity of labor and therefore the urgent need of immigration has forced upon the consideration of Mexico a more favorable migration question than would be accorded it by many, but under proper restrictions and supervision it is thought that from their well known skill as miners, cultivators and fishermen, there are many parts of the Pacific coast, from Lower California to the frontier of Guatemala, where Chinese industry can be taken advantage of to the benefit of the country.

The last movements in this direction was the signing of a contract by the Government with Senor Salvador Malo for the establishment of a Pacific steamship line between ports on the west coasts of the republic and Asia. The vessels will also have the privilege of touching at ports in California, and the company will be designated as the Asiatic Mexican Maritime Company.

The steamships of the company will be obliged to make the minimum of a round trip a year between Mexico and Asia, with the right to increase the number to what may be necessary for this business. The Government will have the privilege of free conveyance of mails and an allowance from the ordinary rates for the conveyance of officials or troops, and the company will have a monopoly for at least four years.

The ships and property of the company will be free from Federal and State taxes, and the company will have the privilege to erect and equip ship yards at two points to be named, the sites to be given free by the Government. The machinery and material for their construction and equipment are to be admitted duty free.

Within eighteen months from the date of the contract a coast line of steamers between Guaymas and Salina Cruz is to be established, and this line is to have the same privileges heretofore granted to the Pacific coast steamship lines. Within four months from signing the contract the concessionaire is obliged to deposit $10,000 in bonds of the public debt as evidence of good faith in respect to the Asiatic line and $5000 in respect to the coast line.

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES.

Uncle Sam Employs About Twenty Thousand People.

A statistician in Washington has collected some interesting figures regarding the employes of the government. There are altogether about 200,000 persons engaged in drawing government pay. Of these, 88,000 are employed in the various branches of the postal department; 63,000 are engaged in the legislative, judicial and miscellaneous divisions of the government; 35,000 are in the army and navy, and from 12,000 to 15,000 men and boys are employed in work connected with the navy and the construction of heavy guns. This multitude of patriots annually draws $165,000,000. Yet, notwithstanding the magnitude of these figures, there is an appalling shortage of offices compared with the number of office-seekers. The statistician says: "Assuming that out of the 65,000,000 inhabitants of the United States at least 20,000,000 are grown-up persons, men and women, there seem to be only one officeholder in every circle of 157 grown persons, and one officeholder in every collection of 383 men, women and children." Under such circumstances it is difficult to see how Mr. Harrison can help dispossessing many of the deserving ones.

Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle had been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamrick & Co. of Shelby, N. C. Get a free trial bottle at Foshay & Mason's Drug Store.

New York's Idiotic Handshake.

The new fashion of shaking hands is absurd, but it has been adopted and it will be some years before society is emancipated from its grotesque influence. The old fashion of shaking hands was good enough, but universal desire for a change has abolished it. Formerly when two people met their arms swung forward naturally, their hands met and the arms dropped in place. The mere act of shaking hands was as natural as of taking a seat or lifting a book. It is far different now. The whole ceremony is instinct with deep thought and careful elaboration. A man and a woman meet and burst into a smile of welcome. Then the woman swings her right hand arm, which is perfectly rigid, straight out from the shoulder and directly in front of her. When the hand has reached the height of her chin she holds it there, with the thumb toward the face and the palm slightly outward. The man who has been ap

MRS. LANGLEY'S GRIP.

How The Lily Manager Holds the Attention of the Fair Sex.

It is wonderful how the Lily Manager retains hold on feminine interest. She has been before the public a long time, long enough to have become familiar as "twice told tale," but her doings, her fads, foibles and foibles are as much gossiped about now as when she rose a new star on the theatrical firmament.

Every newspaper paragraph concerning her is eagerly read by women. She first brought the empire gown into notice by wearing a beautiful one in white crepe and pearls in "The Lady of Lyons." It was only necessary for an announcement to be made that she retired for an hour every afternoon with her face down in a veil to have the sale of it witnessed, while brown paper packages were spirited into boudoirs and mysterious rites were performed behind closed doors.

When she is in New York her boudoir residence in West Twenty-seventh street, which nestles in its bit of garden beyond the much talked of iron railing, like a transplanted English rose, is besieged by rows of curious eyed women anxious to catch a glimpse of her world renowned profile as she steps into her tiny brougham. Even at the present time, when it is known that the pretty nose is without a mistress, a light in an upper window is sufficient to draw a group of watchers. And the sale of her photographs increases as the year rolls on.—New York Herald.

LA GRIPPE A PIONEER.

Forty Years It Visited San Francisco Even as Now.

The fact that la grippe was among the early settlers in California has not been forgotten by the pioneers. The best evidence of its visit in the early days is found in the Alta California of Thursday morning, March 7, 1850—in fact the editor himself was a victim, and here is what he wrote.

The California grippe is prevailing pretty extensively about these days, owing to the unsettled state of the weather—the conglomeration of hail, rain and sunshine. Every second person one meets is "half dead with cold" or "used up with a cough," and there is as general a bark heard throughout the community as if we lived in a village of prairie dogs. The lungs of the city are affected, and apothecaries wash fleshy and rich—opulent and corpulent. Misery likes company, and it is not therefore unpleasant to reflect that our city is at present a sort of general hospital, where asthmatics most do congregate. Every friend has a "sure cure"—one recommends a hot whisky poultice ad lib, another a stewed Quaker, one "brandy and salt," another Dr. Somebody's double-stilled, self working patent cough mixture; another "drops," to be taken ad infinitum; another "croton oil," not to be taken internally; another a "medicated bath"; another a wet-sheet bath upon the purest hydropathic principles.

We, having taken advice gratis, and swallowed mixtures, pills, drops, "infallible remedies," "sure cures" and "certain reliefs" until we have been transformed into a perfect perambulating apothecary's hall, have taken hot baths and medicated baths, vapor baths, and everything but cold-water baths, and still we cough and cough. Our only consolation is in the reflection that there are a few more left of the same sort, and that "it's always so in new countries."

People We Have Not Met.

London Fun

The bride who gave herse' away, The magistrate who couldn't parse a sentence, The barber who cuts his heirs off with a shilling, The sailor who would drink any port in a storm, The clerk who was always balancing his books to keep his accounts straight, The dancer who was never caught tripping, The gas stoker who made the retort courteous, The counsel who got a witness in the box with trying to shut him up in it, The dentist who only drew stumps at 7 o'clock.
