NEWS FROM INDEPENDENCE.

Electric Lights and Water Works for That City.

INDEPENDENCE, Feb. 1.—The organization of a company with a capital stock of $40,000 for the purpose of furnishing this part of Polk county with water and light, means a great deal in advancing the material prosperity of the town. The incorporators' names give the company a standing, aside from the urgent need of such enterprise. H. Hirschberg is president of the Independence National Bank; A. Nelson is a wealthy land owner; A. J. Goodman is a large dealer in hardware; H. H. Jaspinson owns the sash and door factory here, and J. Downsife is a successful stock grower. Just as soon as the weather will permit H. Thielson, the well known civil engineer, has been engaged to survey the route of the motor line railway to Monmouth, distant two miles.

When he finishes that work he will survey a water ditch from Buena Vista to Independence, and if it is found, as stated, 14 feet fall can be obtained. Some men of abundant means stand ready to assist the company recently organized and build the ditch. Previous surveys have given 14 feet fall at Independence. Mr. Thielsen's known experience will prevent any expensive mistakes. If Mr. Thielsen thinks the water ditch is practicable it will be built at once and a first-class electric light plant be ordered, not only to light Independence and Monmouth, but also furnish power for the railway and light machinery. Should the water ditch prove to be unmanageable, a water wheel will be placed in the Luckiamute, five miles from Independence, and power and light conveyed to town on wires, and it is possible that a water supply for the town will be obtained from the same source. Whatever may be the result it is certain that this company will inaugurate some important improvements in the point of the water and light supply of Independence. At present the town has an insufficient water supply by means of a small pump from a well, raising water into a tank 50 feet above the Main street.

J. A Veness, of the firm of Prescott & Veness, who owns the sawmill here, finds that even when high water comes in the Luckiamute river there is a great deal of expense attached to getting out the logs that way, and he is more favorably inclined than ever towards a logging railroad up the Luckiamute. This firm is rated at Bradstreet's agency at $60,000, so that their favor means something. The distance to timber is only 14 miles at most, and as the fall from the timber is gradually towards the river, a light power will operate the road. An electrical expert here recently stated that with a plant of dynamos at Independence and another at Luckiamute falls, enough power could be obtained to operate fifteen cars loaded with logs, on account of the favorable grade. The expense of operating such a road, when water is the motive power, would be very light.

Mr. VanMeter, an expert in cruising timber lands, makes the assertion that as fine timber can be found in the mountains back of Independence as in any part of Oregon, and this logging railroad would tap it.

Nearly five hundred acres of land will be platted in town lots and sold as soon as the weather will permit.

All the low land in front of the town is under water.

HUMOROUS GRIEF.

"Boys are more diligent than girls," said a lady shopkeeper; "that is why women keepers on top.

Minnie—I married three couple today. I wore [illegible] out [illegible] pocketbook—[illegible] what were their names and addresses, please?

Ida—I don't see why there should be so much fuss or giving in marriage in Heaven, she Probably because there won't be any men there.

"Who knows," asks a reflective contemporary, "what the year 1890 will bring forth?" Well, it will bring July 4, and that's a big and important event.

The title tired him: Jennie—Well, what do you think of young Gabelwell? Jessie—He's a perfect phonograph. Jinnie—A what? Jessie—A phonograph. He talks without thinking.

Lo! the poor deaf man: Deaf man (to sweetheart)—Darling Evangelina, will you be my wife? Evangelina (sweetly)—Yes. D. M.—What? E.—Yes. D. M.—Huh? Can't hear. E.—No.

New girl—There is one thing I don't like about the new master. He keeps calling me "my dear." Mrs. Figg—Oh, you mustn't mind that. It's only a habit of his. Why, he even addresses me that way sometimes.

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

Contributed by the W. C. T. U.

No doubt some of our readers have heard how Mr. Higginbotham's home was made intersting. He had told Mrs. Higginbotham that he went out at night because his home was not interesting. Therefore, like a wise woman, she proceeded to effect a remedy. Concealing her identity she discovered what kind of a place Mr. Higginbotham considered interesting, then set to work. The carpets in the front and back parlors were taken up, the floors were sprinkled with saw-dust, the beautiful paintings gave place to something a little loud, spit boxes with stumps of cigars were put in the corner, and decanters adorned the rough table which had taken the place of the handsomely covered stand. Then Mrs. Higginbotham invited Mr. Higginbotham to spend the evening at home, and he did. He surveyed the situation with open mouthed and round eyed wonder; then a look of sneaking dismay came over his face; and when at last he had gotten enough of his humiliated manhood together to express an opinion, he declared that if Mrs. Higginbotham would only put the parlors to rights again he would consider her home the most interesting place in the world.—Chicago Advance.

Editors who believe in giving both sides of the question a hearing are requested to publish the following communication which is of national interest and importance: The National W. C. T. U. in Politics. In response to many inquiries let it be noted: 1st, That the constitution of the National W. C. T.U. has never contained the words "non partisan" and "non-sectarian" hence these words have never been expurged therefrom. 2d, That the National W. C. T. U. has always been organically non partisan because it has never made the slightest partisan requirement of any state auxiliary or of any local union.

The National W. C. T. U. was unwilling to put the limitations and restrictions which the constitution of Iowa imposes, but preferred to leave every society free to express its opinion as to the methods of securing prohibition according to its judgement.

3d, That loyality to the National W. C. T. U. does not mean that white-ribboners must endorse the prohibition party. In Iowa, where the republicans have declared for the "full and complete enforcement" of the prohibitory law, this would be clearly inconsistent. In Iowa, Dakota and Kansas the W. C. T. U. lends influence to the republican party because that party is loya. to prohibition, and the policy of the National W. C. T. U. has always been to stand by the home. Francis E. Willard, President; Caroline B, Buell, Corresponding Secretary; Mary A Woodbridge, Recording Secretary; L. M. N. Stevens, Assistant Recording Secretary; Esther Pugh, Treasurer.

The sale of cigarettes has been absolutely prohibited in Frankfort, Kentucky. Mr. Mangan, the councilman who proposed the prohibitory ordinance, said that he believed it necessary to public health; that nearly every boy in town who was able to walk was smoking cigarettes, and that he was also influenced by a selfish desire to prevent his own son from contracting the habit.

Disarming an Unseen Foe.

"This was sometime a paradox," as Hamlet says. Since, however, the people of America and other lands have been enabled to pit Hostetter's Stomach Bitters against that unseen foe, malaria, it is no longer a paradox, but an easy possibility. Whatever malaria evolves its misty venoms to poison the air, and decaying vegetable forms impregnate the water, there, in the very stronghold of miasma, is the auxiliary potent to disarm the foe and assure excellent protection. Fever and ague, bilious remittent, dumb ague and ague cake, no matter how tenaciously they have fastened their clutch on the system, are first forced to relax their grasp and eventually to abandon it altogether. But it is preventive force that should chiefly recommend the Bitters to persons dwelling in malaria-cursed localities, for it is a certain buckler of defence against which the enemy is powerless. Cures, likewise, dyspepsia, rheumatism, kidney and bilious ailments.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS

The Sunken Ship Clan McKenzie Raised and Taken to Portland.

MORE OREGON MAIL COMING.

A Despondent Purser of the Oceanic Shoots Himself—No Tidings of Young Frazier of Pendleton.

PORTLAND, Jan. 31.—Two passenger trains arrived to-day over the Union Pacific, bringing a large amount of delayed mail. There are still two days' mail due.

GOVERNOR WATERMAN.

He Sets Himself Right as to the Acquisition of Lower California.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 31.—Governor Waterman in a conversation today said: "The other day a newspaper printed an interview with me about the acquisition of Lower California and some Mexican states by the the United States It was alleged that I had declared myself in favor of acquiring the territory in question by force of arms if necessary. The fact of the thing is, I never said anything of the kind. The whole thing is a tissue of lies, and has placed me in a very awkward position. It is true I am in favor of our government acquiring Lower California and the states of Chihuahua and Sonora from Mexico by purchase, but when it comes to annexing them without the consent of the Mexican government and by force of arms, then I am out. I am greatly opposed to any such policy. Why, it would be like a great, big overgrown boy jumping onto a very small baby."

SUICIDE OF A BANK CASHIER.

He Was a Drunkard and Had Been on a Spree.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 31.—William F. Huntoon, son of the present county treasurer and cashier of the People's Savings bank, shot himself through the heart in a grocery yesterday, and died soon after. Huntoon had been indulging in liquor for several days, and when he appeared at the bank was advised by Assistant Cashier Laurence to return home.

Huntoon left the bank but instead of proceeding home, visited a saloon where a barkeeper refused him liquor. He remained in a grocery for about an hour without speaking to any one, then walked to the door and saying, "Well good bye, boys," drew a pistol and fired the fatal shot. He was aged 36. The accounts of the bank are straight.
