

Morning Daily Herald

SPECIAL, 12:30 A. M.

Not to see our stoves and ranges before buying is a mistake. Mistakes are always costly. In heating stoves we have the largest as well as the most carefully selected stock in the city.

ON SALE.

The DAILY HERALD will be on sale each morning at the new stand of W. F. Kuhns, where it can be procured at 5 cents per copy.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For Albany and vicinity—Following is the forecast for 24 hours, ending at 8 p. m. to-day: Fair; slightly warmer.

NOTICES ABOUT TOWN.

Hon. Jeff Myers, of Seio, is in the city.

F. M. Miller, of Lebanon, is in the city.

T. P. Robinson, of Harrisburg, is in the city.

A fine line of toilet soaps at Standard & Cusick's.

For school books and artist supplies go to Standard & Cusick's.

Cheap Astoria lots in the extension to the Railway addition.

Buy lots in the extension to the Railway addition to Astoria. They are cheap.

A good second hand organ for sale cheap at the art studio over Linn County bank.

Revival meetings are being held at the M. E. church each evening, much interest being taken in the services.

Geo. H. Keeney has returned from Halsey, where he was called by the illness of his father, who is now recovering.

The Valentine dancing party given at the opera house last evening by the Dolce far Niente club was an enjoyable affair.

A very pleasant social was given last evening at the residence of J. M. Irving by the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church.

A handsome century plant has been presented to the HERALD office by Dr. W. H. Davis of this city. It is quite a rarity, and now adorns our office window.

Mr. E. F. Sox states that the 10,000 bushels of wheat lost down the river, which was referred to in the HERALD at Murphy's warehouse this side of Independence, it was a total loss.

The young ladies of the Y. W. C. T. U. gave a most enjoyable and successful social at their hall last evening. A musical and literary programme was presented, and the evening was pleasantly spent.

In place of the usual evening service at the Congregational church on next Sabbath evening, the 16th, there will be a missionary service consisting of music, reading and recitations, to which all are invited.

The county commissioners of Marion county have appointed A. Bush, W. H. Evans and F. H. D'Arby as assessors to make an estimate of the cost of rebuilding the Salem bridge. There is strong talk in Salem of making a toll bridge.

Dr. Patton treats successfully all diseases of women, and guarantees to cure all curable private diseases. He has a sure remedy for catarrh of the head. He sleeps in his office and answers city calls day or night. Consultation is free and everything is strictly confidential. He can be found in his office in Blumberg's block from 10 to 12, 2 to 4 and 7 to 8.

From Crook County.

A letter received by Mr. James Elkins, of this city, from Prineville, under date of February 3d, states that on the Pine and Swamp Creek ranges at the head of Crooked River the reports of bad condition of stock have been much exaggerated. Horses and cattle have not suffered much, but many sheep are dying. The excessive winds have kept the hillsides bare, where stock ranged. The snow has nearly all disappeared. There has been some suffering for want of water. It is now raining at Prineville.

Lebanon's Water Canal.

Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday in the county clerk's office of the Lebanon and Santiam Canal Co., with C. B. Montague, W. B. Donaca, F. M. Miller, C. H. Raleston, A. Dodge, J. C. Bilyeu and Joseph Elkins as incorporators. The object is to construct a water canal from the Santiam river to Lebanon to furnish power to the new paper mills at that place. The capital stock is $12,000. The enterprise is an important one, and shows the enterprise of the thriving town of Lebanon.

IT IS HERE AT LAST.

The Long Delayed Mail and Express Arriving by the Top.

To the people of Albany, who have for two weeks been entirely without mail, the big dray loads of Uncle Sam's epistles which arrived at the postoffice yesterday afternoon was a welcome sight. There were forty sacks of mail, three of which were letters. Of the latter there were 132 packages, making a total of 10,000 letters. The paper mail added to this made about a ton. It came up on the West Side to Corvallis, and was brought down by an Oregon Pacific special. It arrived in this city at 3 o'clock and five clerks were kept busy distributing until 9 o'clock. The letters were all distributed last night, but hardly a commencement was made upon the papers.

Wells Fargo & Co.'s delayed express was brought up on the West Side to Independence, there transferred to a boat and taken back to Salem, there to be reshipped to this city, arriving on the 12:20 train three hours ahead of the mail.

This installment of the long delayed mail is a third of what remains in Portland. The mail clerks who had the first lot in charge state that another car load will be brought up on the West Side to-day.

Whether this will be brought to this city before Monday is a question. The government pays the Southern Pacific company for carrying the mail on their lines, but would not pay the Oregon Pacific for transferring it to this city, having no contract with the company.

Yesterday the managers of the Oregon Pacific, as a matter of simple accommodation, ran a train down with the mail free of charge, but they will probably not feel inclined to continue such gratuitous work. It is not improbable that a purse will be raised here by citizens to pay the company for running an engine and car down to-day. If they do not it is likely that the mail will lie over in Corvallis until Monday.

Across the River.

About 800 feet of the Oregon Pacific track, which has been washed away by the flood between this city and Corvallis, has been found some distance below where it lodged upon the farm of Frank Wood. There was a terrible force to the current at the big washout, which has now been fully repaired. The iron rails, bolted as they are to the straglers, had been swept like feathers a hundred yards away, and how much further they would have gone had they not been stopped by a dense young forest no one could have told. For a distance of several hundred feet this track was stood upon end against the trees, a huge picket fence dividing the forest from the water-swamp fields. But this is not all. Fully 1400 feet of this track has disappeared, swallowed up in the flood, as it were. The most diligent search in every direction has heretofore failed to unearth the whereabouts of a single rail, tie or bolt in this section. It was a mystery no less great than how the Willamette could possibly acquire such force while sweeping over an extent of country fully three miles wide. The portion of the track found is still fastened together, and Mr. Wood thinks it is nearly where it ought to be for a switch to his stone quarry.

At some places the water was higher and at other places not as high as in 81, but taken altogether it probably exceeded the '81 flood by a few inches.

FROM UP THE VALLEY.

Losses at Harrisburg and Vicinity—4800 Bushels of Wheat Lost.

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD. HARRISBURG, Feb. 14.—Harrisburg emerges from the '90 flood without any very material losses, the most heavy one being on side walks misplaced and destroyed. Probably the expense on that score will reach $150.

One half of the houses in this place were flooded, in some of them the water reaching up to the window sills. Of course more or less damage was done to the houses and furniture, but estimates cannot be made of this kind of damage.

Much of the damage to city property was averted by the active and efficient efforts of the city marshal C. L. Morris and his assistants.

Upmeyer & Briggs had a quantity of sacked wheat in the cellar of their warehouse waiting for a promised boat for shipment. They piled it on platforms above the high water mark of former years but the water reached the lower sacks and wet a few of them. The loss will be merely nominal. No other grain in warehouses in the city was damaged.

Just across the river Dr. Tibbets had gathered his stock, consisting of a span of horses, four cows and a calf in the barn. The barn went down. The horses were saved but the other stock was lost.

Wm. Spangh in the same neighborhood lost 8 head of cattle and 95 cords of wood.

Woolley's warehouse, five miles below, had about 4800 bushels of wheat wet.

On the Ullery place the barn went out carrying off about 100 bushels of oats and wheat and a quantity of hay. The loss falls upon the renter Alex Durham, who also lost his ferry boat that he was running on the river at that place.

Dr. H. A. Davis estimates his loss in fencing destroyed and damage to fields by the washouts at $300.

Levi Douglas estimates the loss to his steam flour mill and dwelling house, including stoppage of work at the mill at $200.

H. M. Roberts lost considerable fencing.

All of the farmers below the bend in the river at the Roth place to Lake creek were greatly damaged in the loss of fencing, just what extent each individual loss will reach cannot yet be ascertained.

At some places the water was higher and at other places not as high as in 81, but taken altogether it probably exceeded the '81 flood by a few inches.

THE MAIL CARRIER EXPLAINS.

MEMORIAL, Feb. 13, 1890.

To the Editor of the Herald: In your issue of the 7th inst., I find I am thoroughly aird by Mr. David Scott in regard to supplying Fox Valley postoffice, and carrying mail in general. In vindication of myself, and that the public may know the existing facts, permit me to briefly explain through your columns. It will be remembered that the original Fox Valley postoffice, which was directly on my route, was discontinued July 1, 1889, after which it was re-established on Nov. 1st, Mr. Scott being appointed postmaster.

The present office is over one-half mile from my route and involves a distance of nearly two and one-half miles to be traveled for each trip. I received orders to supply such office, "Provided it is directly on the route. If it is off the route, report the fact, and await further orders from this office." The fact was immediately reported of its being off the route.

Uncle Sam has been patient, so has Mr. Scott, so have we, awaiting orders from Uncle Sam which we received January 25th, they being in the blockade and dated January 7th.

What orders or instructions Mr. Scott has in reference to the matter we do not know, but we surely know ours, notwithstanding his repeated threats of having Uncle Sam annihilate us on sight, and the fact that Mr. Scott has repeatedly reported us to the department. True, we do not trust, but act on the principle of obeying orders of Uncle Sam if it bursts the government. "Dignified mode of riding," we should smile, for who would not accept a seat in a good warm car in preference to riding 13 miles through snow and rain on the hurricane deck of a cayuse, so long as the mail is delivered at its proper destination on time.

S. M. McLANE.

Human Nature.

As the writer was standing in front of the Revere house yesterday he met a well known phrenologist, who had just arrived, and of course the conversation drifted on human nature. "You see that man," said the phrenologist, "is an individual, 'he is shiftness and always broke. And that one,' pointing to another who had his hands in his pockets waiting for some one to say 'Take something,' 'he belongs to the same class. And that smiling and rattling some money in his pockets, 'he is satisfied, he buys his groceries from Mueller & Garrett."

A young man named Henry Stevenson was frozen to death last week this side of the summit on the Ryan road, Idaho. He was employed with a man named Schoonover in clopping wood for Ben Neimer. The two former had been to this city together and were returning when Stevenson gave out and could go no further. Schoonover went to camp for assistance. He returned with help, but Stevenson was so far gone that he died soon after being taken to camp.—Pendleton Tribune.

NEWS FROM YAQUINA.

The Schooner Kate and Anna on her Beam Ends—Oyster Beds Damaged.

The Pirate expects to get after seals in about a month. Fears are entertained that all the oysters in Yaquina river will be killed by the fresh water floods.

Capt. Hagerman has a fine schooner this season to go sealing in. The vessel is said to be one of the fastest on this coast.

Owing to a storm at Yaquina the Oregon Development steamers are still in harbor. The Yaquina Republican of the 6th inst. says: The Yaquina Bay board of trade is already bringing about some good. Through its efforts harbor lights will probably be established on the bay.

Mr. Polhemus is getting the lumber on the ground to build him a cottage. He will put it up on the reserve just west of the gate going from the Ocean House ground.

The cave in of the bluff that took place in Yaquina last week is worth thousands of dollars to the railroad company. A thousand dollars worth of powder would not have accomplished what the rain did. The rock and dirt fell into the bulkhead just where it was wanted.

The Kate & Anna is laying on her beam ends, bang up against the bulkhead at Oysterville, and full of water. She is so high that she does not float at full tide. A log struck her and carried away her fore rigging. Capt. Lutjens is now with the boat trying to mend her ways.

During the heavy rains a pond of an acre or more formed on Second street on the bluff back of the Ocean House grounds. The old ditch was opened to Bay street and the water drained off. For days Newport has possessed a respectable sized waterfall. Bay street was cleaned out down to bed rock by the rushing torrent.

The Alea like the rest of Oregon was on a rampage during the last few days. Up the Alea river a large amount of damage was caused by the high water. Many cattle were lost and barns, hay stacks, etc., floated off. All the cattle on the Springer place are reported drowned. The old mill at Tidewater also floated down stream.

Prof. H. C. Palmer's Conservatory of Music.

Tweeddale's block, First street, Albany, Oregon, opened January 20, 1890. The course of instruction will consist of classes for piano, organ, harmony and voice culture. There will be a normal class and diplomas furnished to teachers, specifying capacity and experience. Students participate in monthly recitals, and are graded to insure equality in rendition. This conservatory will be conducted on the same basis as those in Boston, New York, etc. This is the only recognized successful system known for a thorough musical education. Send for circulars and references. Office hours from 1 to 3.

Better Than Ever. I am now better prepared than I have ever been to suit my customers to the shoe line. I have just received a large invoice of the celebrated Laird, Schuber & Mitchell fine shoes for ladies. There is no manufacturer who claims anything better than these shoes. I intend to keep a full assortment of them in all prices, widths from A. E. E. and can suit the most fastidious in fit and price. I also received another invoice of the popular shoe, E. P. Reed's in waukenphast and patent leather tip. These shoes are well known in Albany as a first-class nice style shoe. Orders from the country filled with care and satisfaction guaranteed. Samuel E. Young.

A Good Investment. Twenty-four feet on First street, in the best block in Albany, for sale at a bargain. The property will double in value in two years. WALLACE & CUSICK.

Teachers' Examination. Notice is hereby given that the next regular public examination of teachers for Linn county will be held in Albany, commencing at noon on Wednesday, February 26, 1890, and continuing until Friday noon. All teachers desiring examination will please be present at the commencement. L. M. CURR, Co. Supt. of Schools.

The Roseburg Review remarks: Something less than a quarter section of Mr. Beck's land upon the hill took a slide during the recent rain and started toward Coos Bay. About another month of such weather would make it possible to slide Roseburg to Coos Bay or Coos Bay to Roseburg and so get rid of any necessity for a railroad. Remarks by some of the faint hearted opponents of the road, lead us to think that something of this kind is what they are waiting for as their idea of the development of the country.

Mr. Martin Ludwig, the best tinner in the valley, will remain with Matthews & Washburn.

Parties desiring pianos tuned should call upon Prof. D. Van Horn of this city, the well known and reliable piano tuner. He is well known to the people of Albany and the entire State, having had years of experience in this business, also in a piano factory, and has no equal in that line of business. It always pays to patronize home enterprise and the public should remember that they can now get pianos tuned in a more skillful manner in Albany than elsewhere in the State.
