Morning Daily Herald

SPECIAL, 12:30 A. M.

Not to see our stoves and ranges before buying is a mistake. Mistakes are always costly. In heating stoves we have the largest as well as the most carefully selected stock in the city. The stoves we offer were not bought as an experiment but as a certainty. We know what each stove will do, and they were bought for cash, so the price is right. We have specialties in heaters, beside our regular lines of Garland, Argand and Superior stoves and ranges.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For Albany and vicinity—Following is the forecast for 24 hours, ending at 8 P. M. to-day:

Fair; slightly warmer.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

T. G. Hopkins and wife returned yesterday from Salem.

Mrs. A. B. Slawson, of Portland, is in this city visiting relatives and friends.

The annual meeting of the Building and Loan Association will be held Friday evening at the W. C. T. U. hall.

J. W. Rupert, of Pennsylvania, who has been visiting his old friend, Prof. G. A. Walker, in this city, left yesterday for his home in that state.

The first of a series of piano recitals will be given by the pupils of Prof. E. Lorillard, at the Albany Collegiate Institute on Tuesday evening, Feb. 25, 1890.

Mr. Stanard, of the firm of Stanard & Cusick, is a competent prescription druggist of five years experience. All prescriptions intrusted to them will be accurately compounded.

An effort is being made by several business men of this city to revive the board of trade. It should be done, as an energetic board of trade is an important factor in the promotion of the city's growth.

Astorian: The consideration of those who think that the government should manage the railways and telegraph of the country is gently directed to the "management" of the mail in the recent blockade. Is there anything of merit in such management to warrant the laying of additional burdens of public nature and private duty upon the government?

Dr. Patton treats successfully all diseases of women, and guarantees to cure all curable private diseases. He has a sure remedy for catarrh of the head. He sleeps in his office and answers city calls day or night. Consultation is free and everything is strictly confidential. He can be found in his office in Blumberg's block from 10 to 12, 2 to 4 and 7 to 8.

The Louisiana Lottery company is making an effort to retain its corporate life. Its next move, it is said, will be an enormous bribe to the Louisiana legislature for renewal of its present charter, which will expire two years hence. Its proposition will be to pay the entire state debt, amounting to from ten to twenty million dollars. The lottery is earning $250,000 a month, or $3,000,000 per year. Many prominent Louisianians fear the bribe may be accepted.

Probably a Mistake.

A few days ago Vancouver people were treated or imagined they were, to the sight of a genuine volcano in active eruption. A loud report was heard in the south as of a peal of distant thunder. Later, flames were seen issuing from the peak of Mt. Jefferson, in the Cascade range, about eighty miles northeast of Albany. The flames were followed by clouds of black smoke, which rose high above the mountain and drifted away. It was said to be a grand sight. but it is not impossible that the smoke was nothing more than a heavy mist, or clouds which often float about the summit of the old mountain.

Geo. Saltmarsh's Condition.

George Saltmarsh, who shot himself and his wife Monday evening, is still lying in a semi-unconscious condition. His wounds were dressed yesterday when it was found that a considerable amount of the brains had oozed from the bullet hole, It is not probable that he will recover, although it is not impossible. His wife, whose injury was slight, has been removed to to the residence of Mrs. Saltmarsh, where her husband is lying.

Murder in Yamhill County.

Mrs. N. L. Scott, the aged wife of a Yamhill county farmer was foully murdered Sunday night. She was found lying upon the porch in her night clothes in the last agonies of death, the blood flowing from three ugly wounds from a shot gun. Suspicion in the neighborhood of Wheatland is said to point strongly to the husband or his son as the murderer, as there had been trouble with deceased over signing a deed a few days ago, and because of the inability of the facts found by the jury to bear the old gentleman out in his story of the shooting.

RAILROAD BUILDING.

A Network of New Lines to Be Built in Oregon and Washington.

The Salem Journal thinks that if appearances on paper are to be taken as reliable indications, the most important and active era of railroad building ever experienced on the North Pacific coast is to be inaugurated in the near future, to be continued until Oregon and Washington are net-warked with the parallel rails of traffic in every direction. A few days ago a document was filed in the secretary of state's office by Henry Failing, president, Joseph Simon, secretary, and C. A. Dolph, H. W. Corbett, C. H. Lewis and G. M. Lane directors of the Oregon Railway Extension of Portland, and comprises supplemental articles of incorporation of said company, providing for the construction of several railroads and telegraph lines in different portion of Oregon and Washington.

The above named company was organized about two years ago, supposedly in the interest and by the influence of the O. R. & N. crowd and since the lines of the latter company have become a part of the Union Pacific system, it is now surmised that these lines projected in the supplemental articles are no more nor less than arms of the Union Pacific, which are to be sent reaching out in all directions where trade and traffic are inviting avenues of ingress and egress. The aims and objects enunciated in articles filed will be surprising and realized by the reader upon a glance at the following expressed intentions.

To construct and equip a railroad and telegraph line from Portland to Astoria, also a branch line from Columbia City, Columbia county, to Forest Grove.

To build a railroad and telegraph line from a point on the O. R. & N. near Alto station, Columbia county, Wash., in a westerly direction to Estes, Walla Walla county, thence to Wallula, 33 miles; also from Estes in a northeasterly direction to Grange City, 22 miles; also from Texas Ferry, Whitman county, north and east to the Washington and Idaho railroad where the same crosses Dutch Flat, 85 miles.

Then another line from Centerville, Umatilla county, Oregon, in a westerly direction to a junction with the O. R. & N. at Cold Springs 35 miles; also from Pendleton to Heppner; also from Umatilla station in a southeasterly direction to Prineville, 165 miles, with a branch from this line to the mouth of Pine creek on the John Day river, thence northerly to the town of John Day on the O. R. & N. on the Columbia river 100 miles; also a branch from Prineville northerly to the mouth of the Des Chutes river, 120 miles; from La Grande, Oregon, easterly to the Wallowa valley, with a branch from the mouth of Wallowa river northeast to the mouth of the Grande Ronde river, thence northerly to Lewiston, Idaho.

From Wallula northerly to Lewiston, Idaho, thence easterly to and through the Bitter Root mountains to Butte City, Montana, 450 miles; also from Lewiston southeast through Camas prairie to the mouth of Little Salmon river, 100 miles; also from Walla Walla northerly to Waitsburg.

From Portland to Vancouver, Wash., thence northerly to the Cowlitz river, thence northerly to the Puyallup river and still northerly to the boundary line of the British possessions at, or near, Blaine, Whatcom county.

Besides the routes above described there are thirteen other branches and seven other feeders provided for in different parts of Oregon and Washington, which, if built according to programme, will give the owners or lessees control of the richest scope of country on the Pacific slope.

While the men whose names are attached to the supplemental articles in question are capitalists of large means, it is scarcely to be supposed the local company of which they are members has any idea of constructing upon its own resources the lines described, and being men of solid business action, it is not at all probable they would file such a document for the fun of the thing or without serious meaning. The numerous railroad rumors touching the movements of the Union Pacific on this coast, which have been rife the past year, have been given more tangible shape by the filing of these papers than through any other form in which it has reached the public eye or ear, and a most lively railroad building campaign during 1890 need not surprise anybody.

The line to Prineville would of course intersect the Oregon Pacific at some convenient point., and would naturally connect with the Albany & Astoria railway, which will be in progress from this city to Astoria during the coming season.

Death of Frank Hays.

Frank Hays, son of the late Isaac Hays of this city, died at Corvallis on Sunday of consumption. The remains were brought to this city yesterday for interment, being buried beside his father. The deceased was 18 years old and died of consumption.

THE ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING

Of the First Presbyterian Church of This City—Officers Elected.

The annual business meeting of the First Presbyterian church of this city was held last evening, and was largely attended and much business transacted. The following officers were elected: Trustee for the ensuing three years, Mr. John Irving; treasurer, Mr. Wm. Fortmiller; financial secretary, Prof. W. H. Lee; S. S. superintendent, Rev. E. N. Condit; assistant superintendent, Prof. W. H. Lee; S. S. secretary, Mr. Chas. Cusick; S. S. librarian, Miss V. Irving; S. S. organist, Mrs. C. W. Sears; S. S. chorister, Prof. W. H. Lee.

The reports of the treasurer and financial secretary showed the church to be in excellent financial condition.

The report of the secretary of the Ladies' society was received with enthusiasm. It showed the receipts during the last year to be over $900.

Steps were taken to build a parsonage.

It was voted also to light the church with electricity.

After the transaction of other business, the meeting adjourned.

BROWNSVILLE NOTES.

BROWNSVILLE, Feb. 17.

No mail has been received from below at this place for twelve days past.

A temporary foot bridge has been built across the river, affording communication with the south side.

The saw-mill of H. B. Moyer has commenced operations on the largest logs received here for three years.

The woolen mill is busy on orders, and, owing to the blockade, no money could be had to pay off the hands on the 8th inst.

Superintendent H. W. Goddard, of the Narrow Gauge road, has been here during the past week, looking after the interests of the road, which has not been damaged much by the recent storm. Old settlers here say that more water went down the Calapooia in the flood of 1890 than in that of 1861. If our bridge had been built upon piers instead of piling, driven into loose sand, it would never have been washed out. The old part of the bridge here has been built over 25 years and is, of course, getting in bad shape, but stands the current without any trouble, while the new one has only been built a few years and is gone.

The Blair religious amendment bill and bills respecting religious observances, now pending in the United States senate and house of representatives, will also be discussed. All are invited to come and hear the lecture on the great religio-political issue of the near future.

Prof. H. C. Palmer's Conservatory of Music,

Tweedale's block, First street, Albany, Oregon, opened January 20, 1890. The course of instruction will consist of classes for piano, organ, harmony and voice culture. There will be a normal class and diplomas furnished to teachers, specifying capacity and experience. Students participate in monthly recitals, and are graded to insure equality in rendition. NEWS FROM YAQUINA.

It Was a Big Storm on the Coast—Damage in Alsea Valley.

YAQUINA, Feb. 17.

The storm along this part of the coast was the most severe and prolonged ever experienced since this part of the state was settled. But for all its severity, Yaquina bay and its tributary country suffered very slight damages. While from all points of Western Oregon reports come of immense loss of property and even of lives, nothing more serious than a few landslides and the floating off of a hundred cords or so of wood is reported here. A few landslides occurred along the Oregon Pacific road between Yaquina and the summit of the Coast range, but they were removed in three or four days and trains have resumed their regular running time.

But not all of Benton county was so fortunate as Yaquina bay. The beautiful Alsea valley, thirty miles southeast of here, is in ruins.

All along the coast of Oregon the freshet was tremendous, as the beach at all points is covered with debris and drift of every kind that will float. At any point along the ocean beach in a half mile walk, every species of wood that grows on the Pacific coast can be seen, much of it green and with foliage on it, and the roots and dirt as the trees were torn from where they grew. Railroad ties with the spikes still in them; pieces of lumber from buildings, saw logs and such things can be found in abundance.

During the night of the flood in the Yaquina river the water was seven feet deep over Elk City, and the people had to vacate most of the houses. At Toledo the water reached the level of the floors of the business houses. There has been no serious damage at either place.

Teachers' Examination.

Notice is hereby given that the next regular public examination of teachers for Linn county will be held in Albany, commencing at noon on Wednesday, February 26, 1890, and continuing until Friday noon. Also those who wish to pass examinations for state diplomas can do so at this meeting.
