MORE SNOW STORMS.

They Break Out Afresh in Northern California.

CENTRAL PACIFIC BLOCKADED

The Storm Rages With Redoubled Fury and all Travel is Again Stopped.

DUTCH FLAT, Cal., Feb. 19.—The snow storm continues. There is no indication of it ceasing. The fall of snow for this storm is four feet. The wagon roads and ditches are again blocked. The railroad is open but it requires the constant effort of all the snow plows to keep it so. Cyclone and rotary snow plows are at work at Cascade cut, as that is the worst on the road.
Train No. 3, of the 17th, is between Blue canon and Emigrant Gap. Train No. 53, of the 18th, is at Colfax. All west-bound trains are held at Truckee until there is no danger of any great delay. The snow shovellers are busy keeping the sidings clear. It is not probable that any trains will move tonight.

WORSE THAN THE LAST.
GRASS VALLEY, Cal., Feb. 19.—A train is in from Nevada City, having been twelve hours in making four miles. It cannot go to Colfax. The Marysville stage arrived but could go no further. At sundown a heavy snow is falling. The storm is worse than the last.

SNOW ON THE CENTRAL PACIFIC.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—Reports on the Central Pacific Railroad from Colfax to Truckee show that another snow storm prevailed in the Sierra Nevada mountains last night. Two overland trains are due to-day, and are expected late tonight. To-day's two East-bound trains will be consigned at Sacramento, and this practice will be continued until the storm abates.

Owing to interruption to travel on the Central Pacific on account of storm in the mountains, the overland mails to day were dispatched over the Santa Fe railroad, and the west bound mails have been ordered sent to California over that road until the storm ceases.

SNOW FALLING FURIOUSLY.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 19.—Snow on the Sierra Nevada is still falling furiously, and despite the efforts of snow plows and hundreds of shovellers it is getting upon the track. All trains have been halted until further orders. There are nine locomotives on the scene which are used in pushing three "Bunker plows." Two hundred and fifty men and a large supply of provisions have been sent to the mountains.

GOT A MACHINE IN HIS MAIL.

A Philadelphia Man's Narrow Escape—The Apparatus Faulty.
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19.—A carefully prepared scheme by which some unknown person sought to be revenged upon John M. McBride, of No. 1221 North Fourth St., by means of an infernal machine sent through the mails, was frustrated by the faulty construction of the apparatus. The postman delivered the McBride's package postmarked Philadelphia. Upon opening it the recipient was alarmed at discovering that the paste board box with a sliding cover contained in the package was filled with explosives. The box contained three compartments, the middle one being filled with gun cotton. The other two were filled with gunpowder, there being fully a pound of that explosive in the two compartments. Out of each lot of powder a blue headed match was standing, and upon the sliding lid a long strip of emery paper had been carefully pasted.

A hasty examination of the machine showed that the maker had neglected to set the match heads high enough to touch the emery paper, or else the matches had slipped down in the rough handling of the package received in passing through the postoffice. Mr. McBride is at a loss to account for the sending of the box. The police authorities will investigate the case, and also invoke the aid of the postal authorities in ferreting out the sender of the machine.

ALLEGED BALLOT REFORM.

League Organized in Portland to Promote the Object.
PORTLAND, Or., Feb. 19.—A number of leading citizens of this city met this evening for the purpose of organizing an Australian ballot reform league. O. H. Woodard was selected chairman, E. W. Bingham, secretary, and G. E. Wilkinson, treasurer. A motion was carried empowering the chairman to appoint a committee of nine who are to appoint a sub-committee to draft a bill providing for a system of ballot similar to that of Australia. If it is satisfactory to the committee, it will be presented to the legislature. The Australian election system was discussed at length.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA.

Destitution Among the People in Lake and Mendocino.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—General Freight Agent Thoms, of San Francisco, and Northern Pacific railroad, who has just returned from Ukiah, tells a startling story of the condition of affairs in Lake and Mendocino counties on one out of the prolonged storms. He says the Lakeport people are in danger of famine, as the roads are in a fearful condition, and the heavy freight teams which bring supplies are hemmed in. People until recently, have been carried on stages.

HUMOROUS DRIFT.

AT THE OUTER DOOR.
A man with influenza died, as many have before, and I went to the funeral. I knocked at Peter's door, before the gate did Peter stand—
"Canst give the grip to Peter's hand, He gave the grip to Peter's hand, Then entered by his side.

Desdemona was dissatisfied, that's granted, because the Moor she had—the Moor she wanted.
A man may be no end a grammarian and still find twenty years in state prison a hard sentence to parse.

'Tis true: The difference between ships and banks that are wrecked is—the first are wrecked by the presence of rocks, the last by their absence.

If there is such: The man who says to his wife "Give me the baby, dear, and I will try and put it to sleep, in greater than he who taketh a city, Teacher (to dull boy of the class)—Which New England state has two capitals? Boy—New Hampshire. Teacher—Indeed! Name them. Boy—Capital N and Capital H.

"Tommy—Paw, the paper says that 'Gray's Elegy' is a classic. What is a classic, Mr. Figg—A classic? Why, a classic is a—sort of highly respectable chestnut.

Small allowance: Gentleman (to tramp)—What, you here again? It hasn't been a week since I gave you a half dollar. Tramp—Great heavens! I don't expect a man to live a year on 50 cents, do you?

Polite beat—Can't you accommodate me with $3. Banker—Man alive! you make me nervous. Why do you always ask for $3, instead of asking for $1 or $2? Polite beat—Mr. Moneybags, if you think you understand the begging business better than I do, just you beg for awhile, and let me be banker.

"So you have returned from your theatrical venture?" "Yes," replied the theatrical manager and star. "We hardly met with the success that I anticipated." "Did the cities damn with faint praise?" "No; they contented themselves with giving us eight hours to leave the place. We weren't shot at in but two towns."

Taxes on the Garibaldi Homestead.

In June, 1882, Frederick Bachmann, the brewer, gave to the Italian Government the old Garibaldi homestead at Clinton, N. I., which was then occupied by Antonio Meucca, Garibaldi's old friend and former business partner. The gift was accepted in behalf of the Italian nation by the Italian Consul. The property was formerly turned over to three trustees—Antonio Lazzaric, Carlo Basso, publisher of "Il Progresso," and Vincenzo Pollino, publisher of "Christophorus Columbus." About a week ago Mr. Bachmann turned over to the trustees a bill for $222 for taxes and repairs on the house. This debt has been incurred against the property since Mr. Bachmann gave it to the Italian Government. The trustees in turn presented the bill to the Italian Consul in this city, but he refused to recognize it, saying that it was a matter which should be settled by the trustees. The latter, however, say that the debt should be paid by the Italian Government. Mr. Bachmann said yesterday that the Italian Government refused to pay the expense on the property he supposed he would have to take the house back.

Not to Be Outdone.

St Paul Pioneer Press.
When the recent charity ball, for the benefit of a local hospital, was held in the Auditorium, Chicago, the managers of the affair, fearing that the caterer engaged would not be able properly to provide for all the guests, asked Mr. Bemis, proprietor of the Hotel Richelieu, not far from the Auditorium, if he could not take care of the overflow. Mr. Bemis said he could, and would on the condition that he be allowed to turn over to the hospital every cent he received from charity ball patrons. There could be but one response to such an offer, and the day after the ball Mr. Bemis gave the managers his check for $70.

The regular caterer—whose name is not at hand—stated that Mr. Bemis had contributed (though he was not advised as to the amount), and was not to be outdone, hurried to the physician in charge of the beneficiary hospital and thus unobscured his desire:

"Doctor, I don't want to be behind these fellows in goodwill to your hospital, and want to know if a contribution from me will be accepted?" "Certainly, you are very kind," said the pleased physician, "and we very much appreciate your generous and complacent caterer. 'We've got three or four dozen good cold quail left over from last night's provisions, and I'll be glad to send 'em right up for the patients to eat.'"

What the doctor replied is not of record, but the caterer didn't send the quail.

Enlarging His Business.

Julius Gradwohl has decided to make a change in his business, which will give this city the benefit of another first-class grocery store. He has now entered a large invoice of sugars, and will keep a complete assortment, and will keep a complete line of crockery and fancy goods. Mr. Gradwohl is thoroughly up with the times and proposes to carry a big stock and sell as low as first-class goods can be sold.

That Sad, Sweet Song.
Detroit Free Press.
"Just a moment, please," he said, as he leaned over the bar of a Michigan avenue saloon.

"There's a song going around—a very sad, sweet song—about a man who died of a broken heart. I want to buy it, but have forgotten the title."

"How should I know it?"
"But you must have heard it. It goes: 'Tra-la-la—tra la-la! and down went poor—poor—poor—poor—well, the broke-hearted man went down to the bottom of the river.'"

"You mean McGinty."
"That's it—that's it! Yes that's the name, and I'm a thousand times obliged. I'll go right off and buy it. Sweet, sad thing—very sweet—very sad."

Tabor on Robert Elsmere.

A new story comes to the front about ex-Senator Tabor of Colorado, says the Washington Post. During the senatorial contest which resulted in the election of Ed. Walcott, Tabor was violently opposed to the former's election. A gentleman from the East called on Tabor and found the ex-senator going over a list of the members of the legislature. The Eastern gentleman had some business with Tabor, and when through with it he thought he would engage in a general conversation, and having just read the then much talked of latest publication, he said to Tabor: "Senator, what do you think of 'Robert Elsmere'?"

"Elsmere?" said Tabor. "Oh, Walcott bought and paid for that damned scoundrel three months ago. No use trying to do anything with him."

There are 22 flour mills in Minneapolis, with a combined daily capacity of 38,575 barrels of flour. This is 1,000 barrels more than in 1888 and 16,000 barrels more than in 1882. There are also three outside mills of 1,675 barrels capacity controlled in Minneapolis, thus giving that city the ability to make 40,250 barrels of flour daily. One of the mills has a capacity of 7,200 barrels daily, which is considerably in excess of any other mill in this country. The next largest in Minneapolis has a capacity for 4,200 barrels, a third 3,000 barrels, a fourth 2,500 barrels, a fifth 2,100 barrels, and a sixth 2,000 barrels. Of the flour ground last year 2,689,820 barrels were exported—equal to 27.3 per cent of the total. The exports for the previous two years were 36 and 39.4 per cent, respectively of the quantity ground. —Northwestern Miller.

Clever, But Futile.
From the Washington Star.

A man whom it were base flattery to call John Smith came into this office this morning and offered the following advertisement for publication: "Notice: If the very homely woman about thirty-nine years and eleven months old who lost a pocket book containing $14.55 on Pennsylvania ave. this morning will apply to --- she can have the money by paying for this notice."

He explained that he was anxious to keep the contents, and he was of the opinion that no woman for a small sum as $14.55 would ever answer the advertisement as he had written it. The card, of course, was refused and the man was turned over to the police.

Croup Can Be Prevented.

We want every mother to know that croup can be prevented. There is no question about this; as it has been done in thousands of cases, and you may depend upon it that what often takes the croup it is wholly owing to the negligence of its parents. True croup never appears without due and timely warning; a few hours or a day or two before the attack, the child becomes hoarse. This hoarseness is the first indication of croup, and is a sure sign that croup is to follow, unless promptly and properly treated. The use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as "directed with each bottle, under the heading 'To prevent croup,' will dispel all symptoms of the disease. This first sign of croup, hoarseness, may be overlooked by young mothers or those not familiar with the disease. Under such circumstances, or when not properly treated, the hoarseness becomes more marked, and the child shows symptoms of having taken cold, then a peculiar, rough cough is developed. Even at this stage Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will prevent the croup, but after the cough has developed the crop is liable to appear at any moment. The proper way is to keep a bottle of this remedy at hand, it costs but 50 cents, and only a few doses, or at most a over a third of a bottle, is required to dispel all symptoms of the disease. Can you afford to risk so much for so little? There is not the least danger in giving this remedy in large and frequent doses, which are always required, as it contains no injurious substance. As proof of this fact we refer to John L. Olson, of Des Moines, whose 18-month-old boy drank the entire contents of a 50 cent bottle of Chamberlain's cough remedy without the least injury. Certainly it made the baby vomit very freely; but after taking a nap he would have been glad to have drank another bottle of the remedy, as he liked it. A similar instance occurred near Valley Springs, Dakot. Mrs. Mattie Robinson's two-year-old daughter, Annie, drank a full bottle of the remedy without injury. This remedy has been the sole reliance of thousands of mothers for croup, and especially as a preventive or many years, and has never been known to fail. It is also invaluable for colds and whooping-cough. For sale by Foshay & Mason.
