GENERAL CROOK'S FUNERAL.

A Destructive Cyclone—President Harrison Returns Home from His Shooting Jaunt With a Big Bag of Ducks.

A sensation was created at midnight by a report that a newspaper reporter had been found in the room with the jury. He was William Choate of the World, and admitted that he had concealed himself behind the curtains in the room. The defense demanded that he be punished. Judge Barrett said the law did not provide for punishment. Choate was compelled to give up his notes and Judge Barrett, after expressing his abomination of the act, asked Choate to say that he would not publish what he had heard. Choate declined to make a promise. He was allowed to go, and the jury was sent back to deliberate.

CARLISLE TALKS.

He is Opposed to Federal Regulation of Elections.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The Sunday Gazette of this city to-morrow publishes an interview with Mr. Carlisle upon the attitude of the democratic representatives toward several important measures pending before the house. In an interview Carlisle first attacked the Dodge bill, providing for federal regulation of elections of representatives. He says: "The democrats in the house are a unit in opposition to the first clause, which in practice would make the bill operative in certain sections of the country. The intention is, in other words, to control the machinery of elections for representatives in Congress from the southern congressional districts and from a few northern districts. This we shall oppose." Continuing Carlisle estimated that to carry out the provisions of the bill would require the employment of 30,000 officers of election at an expense of from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 every two years, which would have to be met by the United States treasury. If the Australian system is adopted as proposed it would necessitate a vast increase in the number of polls.

In conclusion Carlisle said that while the extravagant expenses of the party in power and the proposed partisan laws were important questions they would not be the overtopping issues of the fall campaign, but the great question would continue to be the freeing of the people from unnecessary taxation by tariff laws.

WASHINGTON'S LEGISLATURE.

A Wrangle as Usual in that August Body.

OLYMPIA, March 22.—There was a wrangle in the house to-day over the Swartz bill, fixing the compensation of county officers throughout the state. A special committee had labored on the bill for three months and their conclusion was far from satisfactory. Many attempts were made to raise the salaries and nearly all succeeded. The lowest was $50 for county attorney in the lowest class to $3500 for county auditor in the highest class. The senate passed two university bills, one allowing the sale of a site in Seattle and the other for an appropriation of $10,000 for the support of the institution. FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

ROME INSIDE REASONS FOR BISMARCK'S RESIGNATION.

Germany Left at the Mercy of a Self-Will'd Autocrat—What Will the Country Do?

(Copyrighted by the New York Associated Press.)

BERLIN, March 22.—The North German Gazette tonight supplies some light on the cause leading to Bismarck's resignation. It says: "The chancellor did not wish to depart from the cabinet order of 68, relating to the intercourse between the Prussian ministry and the sovereign, but he desired to retain his control and right of co-operation. The opposition he encountered in the matter finally brought clearly to him the necessity for his resignation."

The negotiations between Bismarck and Windthorst, with reference to the Guelph fund and the attitude of the clerical party, are only connected with the crisis so far as that the chancellor refused to subject his intercourse with the deputies to any control. No steps have been taken by the emperor personally, or by his sovereign of any of the federal states to induce Bismarck to remain at the head of the ministry of foreign affairs. The tone of the Gazette only feebly indicates the anger which exists in Bismarckian circles.

The complacency with which Bismarck's retirement is now generally regarded may soon be replaced with a regret that the country is left at the mercy of a self-willed autocrat. The cabinet order of 52 has always been held by Bismarck as interpreting the Prussian constitution to mean that the president of the ministry ought to appoint his own cabinet, choosing men having opinion and principles in harmony with his own. The emperor refused to assent and maintained the right of a monarch to appoint ministers having direct responsibility, not to the president, but to the crown.

The committee of labor conference have agreed upon the following: That only lads over 14 years of age be employed in the mines and that female labor underground be prohibited. Children's labor in factories should be dependent upon their completion of the prescribed school course. The employment at night of persons under 14 years of age be prohibited. The employment of children in unhealthy or dangerous trades be prohibited. That Sunday be a day of rest in all employments except in cases of necessity or where work can only proceed in certain seasons.

BIG APPROPRIATION.

For Public Buildings on the Pacific Coast.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS.

A Bill Providing for the Sale of Indian Lands of Montana to the United States—Other Measures.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The senate this morning took up the calendar. The first bill reached was an appropriation of $300,000 for public buildings at San Diego, California.

Sherman suggested that it was a large appropriation. He had been in San Diego a short time ago, and it was a comparatively small place. After a long debate, in which Ingalls, Dawes, Stanford, Hearst and others took part, the bill passed.

Blair introduced another educational bill, which was referred to committee on education and labor.

Among the bills on the calendar passed was one appropriating $80,000 for a lighthouse on St. Mary's Island, Alaska.

Altogether there were 50 bills passed, the most of them being private pension bills.

The senate then adjourned.

IN THE HOUSE.

The house committee on public buildings and grounds to-day reported favorably on a bill for the erection of a public building at Los Angeles, California, fixing the limits of the cost at $45,000.

The canned goods dealers argued before the ways and means committee the opposing proposition in the tariff bill, to increase by two-thirds a cent per pound the duty on tin plate.

A bill passed the senate, authorizing the secretary of the interior to negotiate for the sale to the United States of the western part of the Crow Indian reservation in Montana.
