A Dream Fulfilled.

They strange fulfillment of a dream has just happened near Hazelpatch, Ky. Rev. The other day, as he was returning from an evangelistic trip, and being compelled to make a detour on account of the swollen streams, he discovered the body of a man lying at the side of the pike in the brush. Utilizing the Weighing Machine.

A prominent lawyer and a leading book publisher in this city have been enjoying quite a time over the uncertainties of the "nickel-in-the-slot" weighing machine at some of the leading hotels. They have by some means obtained a number of cards similar to those thrown out by the machine, with figures printed thereon covering all weights, from light to heavy. This provided they have obtained wagers on the weight of any individual, and inducing the victim to stand on the scale, have managed to substitute the card containing the figures they bet on for that thrown out by the instrument. The result has been any amount of fun, drinks, some profanity, and a good deal of amusement, but the syndicate wins every time.

GOULD WANTS TO MAKE TACOMA THE ONLY TERMINUS.

Competing with the Canadian Pacific for the Trade with China and Japan—Conflicting Interests Disclosed.

New York, April 22.—The Mail and Express says that the personal feelings of Mr. Gould are complicating affairs of the Pacific Mail. The Northern Pacific is anxious to compete with the Canadian Pacific in the China and Japan trade by securing a Pacific Mail terminus at Tacoma. Gould is only too willing to make Tacoma the only terminus, but Huntington's interests in the Central Pacific will not permit him to take the other line entirely away from San Francisco.

Gould's object is to take away business from the Union Pacific and the Northern Pacific is ready to guarantee the steamship company $5,000 a month if it will make Tacoma the terminus. Nothing is settled yet.

CLEVER SWINDLERS.

A New Trick That Met With Great Success.

Boston, Pa., April 22.—A peculiarly suspicious individual named Mack was in charge of the City Hall cigar store when two dapper looking young men entered. One carried in his hand an envelope which was addressed, but not sealed.
"Can you give me a ten-dollar note for these ten bills?" he asked. "The old lady wants to send the money in this letter."
The ten-dollar bill was immediately given to the young man, who apparently put it in the letter. Mack counted the bills given in exchange and found only nine. "There is only $9 in this," he said.
"Oh, how can that be?" said the young man. "The old lady must have made a mistake. I put the $10 in this letter and have sealed it. Will you just hold the letter with the $10 while I take the $9 to the old lady?"
Mack thought it fair enough, as he believed he saw the young man put $10 in the envelope. He still holds it. It is addressed to "H. Ed. Idme, Binghamton, N. Y." It was not long before Mack opened it, but blank paper was all it contained.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

The World's Fair Bill Ready for the President's Signature.

A SPEECH BY J. H. MITCHELL.

He Favors the Direct Vote for United States Senators and Deputies—Secret 8 mile a.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—In the house to-day Chandler of Massachusetts moved that the house concur in the senate amendments to the World's Fair bill, this being agreed to, the bill was finally passed, and will be sent to the president.

The house then went in to the committee of the whole on the legislative appropriation bill.

Butterworth in a brief explanation of the bill said that in some of the bureau departments there was substantially a civil pension list. It consisted of a number of old persons who had faithfully served the government in the past, but who were no longer able to perform their duties.

Dockery criticized the bill, saying that it provided for the appointment of 141 new officers at a cost of $161,500. Referring to the civil pension list he said in the departments there were employed 297 persons who are wholly or partially inefficient, who drew salaries amounting to $350,000. He thought if there was new blood in the departments 50 or 100 clerks could be discharged at saving of $50,000 a year.

Bland addressed himself to the discussion of the monetary question. He spoke in favor of unlimited coinage of silver and characterized the Windom bill as a demoralizing bill.
