A Nasty Natural Bird

Tuscarora Republican.

The magpie, which roams in Nevada, is the meanest bird that flies. This carnivorous beast will pick the flesh from the backs of hogs, cattle or horses, especially where they can find an animal afflicted with any kind of a sore. The Cental Nevadan says:

"It has always been a mystery to us why the accursed magpie was placed on the earth. Now that so many cattle are becoming weak, after the long winter, they no sooner get down before the pest magpie almost immediately commences picking out the eyes of the poor brutes. In several instances within the last few days, have cattlemen observed four and five-year old steers down, still alive, with there eyes picked out by this abominable bird."

Four of a Kind.

Cales Enterprise.

William Lightfoot of this city is the proud possessor of four small kittens that knock out the Siamese twins and go them two better. The kittens were born last week, and ever since there has been a crowd of curious onlookers at the saloon to see them. There is a band ligament passing through the sides of the kittens, binding them firmly together. If they survive they will, no doubt, be a source of revenue to the owner. A member of the medical fraternity of this city has examined the felines, and pronounces it a most wonderful case of its kind. Mr. Lightfoot has had a number of offers for the kittens, but is determined to hold on to them, for if they live he can sell them at a handsome profit to some menagerie.

Mrs Mark Bailey, wife of Prof Bailey, sent it to Prof Johnson, and recommends it to all who suffer from colds and coughs. For coughs it acts like a charm, and can be inhaled into the pipes or passages, where no other cough cures can reach
