The Albany band accompanied the excursionists to Corvallis last night. It was an enjoyable trip. The party returned about midnight. The managers of the excursion deserve credit for the successful manner in which it was conducted.

Under the new rules of the state university, the faculty select the valedictorian for superiority of scholarship. It is an honor to say that an Albany boy, E. H. McAlister, has been selected to fill that position. Ed. is also creator for the approaching commencement.

The Yaguna Telephone company have sent word to the business men of Florence offering to put their line through to Florence for a very reasonable subscription to help put up the line, giving to all those who subscribe tickets of credit for the full amount of their subscription, entitling them to send messages at the regular rates for all their subscription.

BOARD OF TRADE.

An Enthusiastic Meeting Held Last Evening.

At the Board of Trade meeting last evening, propositions were talked over for the establishment of a starch factory, and a tannery.

The starch factory, that is under consideration will employ 100 to 150 hands. It will want five acres of ground to accommodate the necessary buildings and works.

The secretary was instructed to correspond with the parties and see what inducements it will take to locate them here.

The tannery is in the shape of a proposition from experienced parties to locate here if a joint stock company can be formed with a capital of $50,000. This can be easily raised, and probably will be at once.

The matter of manufacturing industries promoted by a stock company raised for that purpose, as suggested in an article in the Herald a few days ago, was discussed and arranged for enough to assure its success in the near future.

Much enthusiasm was manifested and a good healthy action indicated as the result of the meeting.

The Play at Corvallis.

A large number of excursionists from this city went to Corvallis last night to witness the opening of the new opera house at that place by the Rice's Beautiful Evangelical Company.

The play is a melodramatic structure and is a credit to Corvallis. The company is a burlesque opera troupe and gave a satisfactory performance. The play contains no plot but is rather a spectacular exhibition of genuine loveliness in short skirts. It took well and an immense audience was present.

The lone fisherman and his dog and the delightful little Catherine are novel features of the show.

Will Remove to Salem.

Hon. D. V. S. Reid, of Albany has been employed as book keeper in the head office of the Oregon Land company in Salem. Hereafter the book keeping for all the grand offices of that company will be done here, returns being sent to the office in Salem daily.

Salem Statesman. Mr. Reid, who has been the efficient book-keeper in the Farmers & Merchants Ins. Co., has made many friends in Albany who will regret to see him leave.

Discovered Cattle Killed.

W. S. Ladd's herd of Jersey cattle, which he had reduced, three killings having been made, in all killings being 108 animals. About half of these showed symptoms of disease, while the others were free from any symptoms. He has twenty-three head still in quarantine and twenty-eight head have been sent out to his farm near Portland, they being considered free from any taint. The herd was all healthy enough till two or three cows were added to it from California.

Robbery.

Messrs. Frank Mason and Isaac Hisey while stopping over night in the city last night had their money broken into, and some change taken from the clothing of the first named and a gold watch from Mr. Hisey. Their was no clue to the perpetration of the deed and no blame attached to the proprietors of the Russ House where they stopped.

Accepts.

The Salem Journal says, Miss Jennie Griffith has written a letter accepting the nomination for county superintendent of schools tendered her by the democratic county central committee, and writes a letter to Chairman Martin Rowley to that effect. Miss Griffith is a sister to Mrs. Criddle of Salem, and resides at Clifton, Oregon.

Excursion From Salem.

The Willamette University band of Salem, accompanied by about 150 excursionists came up on the coast yesterday arriving about noon. The band discoursed some excellent music on the streets, and the excursionists spent several hours in viewing the sights of the city, and spent a most enjoyable day. The boat started back with the party about 4 o'clock.

Writes Home.

Mr. Stranda's woman received a letter yesterday from his nephew, Guss S. Rovee, who is at San Bernardino, Cal., in which the writer says he will be home by the 1st of June. Mr. Rovee has been very sick through the winter and has many friends who will be glad to see him home again.

District Fair.

Annual meeting of the Southern Oregon District Board of Agriculture at Grant's Pass last Monday was harmonious and entirely satisfactory to the Jackson county members, as the location of the next fair was fixed at Central Point, without any opposition. The Douglas county representatives said Roseburg had so much railroad and bus on hand that they couldn't attend to the fair business and the prospect of locating it at Central Point again was acknowledged, and the fair will begin on the last Monday in September. The purses for the races will amount to some $2000, and the premiums for fruits and other exhibits will be largely increased.

Steamer Arrivals.

Asparagus, cabbage, celery, oranges, cucumbers, lemons, string beans, peas, potted ham, tomatoes, lemons, peaches, comb honey, shipped by boat, breakfast cocoa, horse radish, and canned ham, just received at Mueller & Turner's. Leave your orders early to secure the best.

A Manufacturing Enterprise.

Mr. W. E. Means, who is now located at Hales in this county, has been engaged for several years in manufacturing cutlery, and we are reliably informed a manufacturer of very superior pattern and make, is about to leave his present establishment and looking for a place to open out an extensive plant. By a little encouragement the business could be induced to come to Albany and that encourages most should be given at once.

The Oregon Pacific.

Arrangements have been concluded between the committee of directors of the Boise Central Railway Company and the vice-president and manager of the Oregon Pacific.
