BLEW HIS BRAINS OUT

Jeff Smith, a Sport of Eugene, Commits Suicide.

DROWNED IN THE COLUMBIA.

The Portland Strike Assuming a Serious Aspect—A California Murderer Hanged by a Masked Mob.

EUGENE, May 12.—Last evening at about a quarter past six, the neighborhood of 9th and Willamette streets was startled by the report of a pistol shot. Upon proceeding to the source it was found that Jeff Smith had shot himself in the temple with a 38-calibre revolver. The ball entered the right temple and lodged in the base of the brain. He will die. Mr. Smith was a native of Eugene, and is 44 years old. Although somewhat of a sport, he was a quiet, sober man. He was in the real estate business, and seemed to be financially all right. No cause can be assigned for the rash act. He made his will several days ago, and assured his friends that he was going to take his own life.

LATER—He died at 9 o'clock last night. He is supposed to have been insane.

His estate amounts to about $15,000. After dictating his will he complained of his head hurting and sent for a doctor but before the doctor arrived he shot himself and died in three hours. He was well known throughout the Willamette valley.

HANGED BY A MOB.

Masked Men Hang a California Murderer to the Rafters.

SANTA MARIA, Cal., May 12.—Early this morning twenty masked men entered the "Seventy Six" saloon, where H. L. Criswell has been confined since Constable Southard's murder, and at the point of a pistol disarmed and blindfolded the guards. They then bound and gagged Criswell and tied a rope around his neck and hung him to a rafter and left him there. Parties were sleeping in an adjoining room, but the affair was done so quietly that none of them were awakened.

DEATH OF JUDGE SABIN.

The U. S. District Judge of Nevada Dies in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—Judge George M. Sabin, U. S. district judge of Nevada, died here this morning. Three or four days ago his malady took a serious turn. At the beginning of his illness he suffered from rheumatism, gout and stomach disease. Later his stomach refused to perform its functions and he gradually grew weaker and passed away quietly.

He was a native of Ohio and was 56 years old. After graduating from the Weston Reserve college at Hudson, Ohio, he removed to Madison, Wisconsin, where he was admitted to the bar. Judge Sabin served throughout the war and attained the rank of colonel. After the war he removed to Nevada and in 1881 was appointed U. S. district judge for Nevada. Judge Sabin was never married. He leaves a sister-in-law in this city, and a nephew and niece in Portland.

THE PORTLAND STRIKE.

The Builders' Exchange Will Not Try to Settle It.

PORTLAND, May 12.—The executive board of the Builders' Exchange this afternoon declared that the proposition of the union building trades league to settle the strike on a basis of eight hours and union wages was not of sufficient importance to justify it in calling a special meeting of the exchange to consider the communication.

This action of the board means that so far as the exchange is concerned no attempt toward the settlement of the strike will be made until the exchange holds its next regular meeting on the first Monday in June. The strikers claim they are prepared for a long siege, having been promised financial aid from all the towns in the Northwest.

DROWNED IN THE COLUMBIA.

A Passenger Falls Overboard and Meets His Death.

PORTLAND, May 12.—News was brought here today of the drowning of J. T. Scarborough, of this city, at a point in the Columbia at Coffin Rock. He was a passenger on the steamer Louisa Olsen, going from Tillamook to this city. When the ship was near Coffin Rock the boat was swung around, and Scarborough, who was leaning over the side of the boat, fearing he was about to be struck, made a leap to save himself and fell in the river. Notwithstanding that he was an expert swimmer, the strong current carried him down before he could be helped. The crew was unable to recover the body.

THE CHINESE HORDE.

Secretary Windom's Order Keeps Many in China.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—The steamer China which arrived from Hong Kong yesterday brought 152 Chinese. It was thought a large number would be bound for Mexico, and that Secretary Windom's recent order refusing them permission to depart for Mexico from an American port would be tested. Much to the surprise of the custom officers, however, not a single man was bound for Mexico. Of the 152 Chinese aboard 129 desired to land here, 7 are enroute to Honolulu, 3 for Havana and 17 to Panama.

For a time it could not be stated why no Chinese had arrived for Mexican ports. This morning the reason was made known. Before the news of Secretary Windom's order was dispatched by cable 180 Chinese had secured tickets for Mexican ports. Then the cablegram giving notice of Windom's order was recieved. The steamer officers at Hong Hong accordingly notified the entire number that passage was refused, and their money was returned.

An Unusual Gaul.

From The Chicago Tribune.

William Murray, a guest of the Grand Pacific, who is one of the biggest manufacturers in Ireland, tells a story which has a local interest.

"You hear of any number of bogus noblemen in this country," said Mr. Murray in the hotel rotunda last evening "but an American who affects a title in the Old World is somewhat rare. A year ago this summer I arrived at a little town in the South of Ireland called Dungarvan. The people were excited over the presence of an American official. Flags were flying, bands playing, and everything was gay. As I was somewhat acquainted with the United States, I asked the name of the guest so royally entertained. Nobody knew, except that he was one of the biggest men of the United States and a native of Ireland. Elbowing my way through the crowd I went to the hotel, and there learned that I was to have the honor of being under the same roof with an official who stood next to the President of the United States. I went to the register to see if the Vice-President was there and to my surprise saw this on the books:

"'Redmond Sheridan, Chicago, Ill., Alderman of America.'"

A HIGH-LIFE SCANDAL

An Ex-Supreme Judge and Millionaire Arrested for Murder.

A PRETTY WOMAN IMPLICATED

Cowboys in Oklahoma Fight and Kill Each Other—Houses Wrecked and Farms Destroyed by a Tornado.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Murat Masterson, who says he is ex-supreme judge of Prescott, Arizona, was locked up to-night on a charge of attempting to kill his alleged cousin and mistress, Mrs. Alice Hopkinson, at the Grand Central. Mrs. Hopkinson makes a similar charge against Masterson. The latter, according to the account given by Mrs. Hopkinson, called at her house early in the evening, and being denied admittance, kicked the door open and entered her apartment, demanding $100,000, which he claimed she had swindled him out of. A shot was fired shortly afterwards and Masterson rushed from the house with a smoking gun in his hand, running to the West Thirtieth street police station, and asked for Mrs. Hopkinson's arrest for trying to shoot him. She was arrested and at the police station made a counter charge against Masterson. Ex-Judge Masterson comes from Prescott, Arizona, and is said to be worth $5,000,000.

His story is that the woman swindled him out of $100,000 in mine bonds, and when he demanded their return she shot at him, and that she is now trying to blackmail him. The woman denies the accusations, and claims that she was a partner of his in the mining business, that the money she retained was her share of the profits. In the woman's possession was found loving letters from Masterson, in which he speaks of her as the only woman he ever dearly loved. Mrs. Hopkinson is a blonde, about 27 years old, and claims to be married. Jealousy is at the bottom of the trouble. A prominent New York business man, said to be George Carlyle Warner, is mixed up in the affair. Masterson is a married man.

FIGHT AMONG COWBOYS.

Rival Herdsmen in Oklahoma Shoot Each Other.

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 12.—A report reached here to-night of a battle between two opposing forces of cowboys in Little River county, 25 miles south of here. The difficulty is reported to have arisen over a different construction of the herd law. Five men are reported killed, three others fatally hurt and four slightly wounded.

A TERRIFIC TORNADO.

It Wrecks Many Houses and Does Much Damage in Missouri.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 12.—A terrific wind, accompanied by an extraordinary fall of rain, swept over the city this afternoon. A large section of the roof of the state house was blown off. The roof of the penitentiary hospital was also blown away. A heavy area of stone on the top of the wall of the St. Patrick cathedral was blown down, crushing through the roof. Small houses all over the town were demolished. In the country many farms were demolished and miles of fences levelled.

A CUT IN RATES.

The A. T. & S. F. Co. is preparing to put into service at as early a date as possible double daily vestibule trains between Chicago and the Pacific coast, reducing the time between Chicago and San Francisco 24 hours.

GERMAN AFFAIRS.

The New Minister Agrees With Bismarck's Policy.

BERLIN, May 12.—In the course of the debate in the reichstag today, on the estimates for the expense of colonies, Canceler Von Caprivi states that although he originally approved of the colonial policy of the empire he agreed with Bismarck that such policy could only be maintained with the support of the nation. As the matter now stands the government cannot retreat from its position in regard to colonial affairs without a loss of honor and money. No change in his views in the system he said was to in anyway be implied from his assumption of office. The government would everywhere respect foreign rights and protect the German rights.

A PLEA FOR FREE TRADE.

Gladstone Regrets to See It on the Wane in America.

LONDON, May 12.—Gladstone spoke at the Cobden club to-night. He said the free traders must recognize with great disappointment how much ground has been lost by their doctrine within the last 25 years. Militarism, he said, was responsible for much of the mischief, but not for all, because free trade has receded in countries where militarism did not prevail.

In the United States and in the British colonies, protection is applied now in America, not only to goods but to persons, as is instanced by the treatment of Chinese. This great republic has never accepted the doctrine of free trade.

On looking over the world, the prospects of free trade are certainly not encouraging. Regarding bimetalism, he said it was a move in the direction of protection, since by the adoption of free trade the wages of the laboring men would be improved 50 per cent. He was confident that free trade, although temporarily discredited, is destined to obtain the general acceptance of the civilized nations.

WASHINGTON'S EXHIBIT.

Our Sister State Will Have a Display at the World's Fair.

ELLENSBURGH, Wash., May 12.—Leading citizens of this place held a meeting to-night and adopted resolutions calling a convention to meet at Ellensburgh on July 15, for the purpose of taking steps to have an adequate display representing the various resources of this state at the world's fair.

A Big Ball Game.

NEW YORK, May 12.—The Boston and New York league club this afternoon played probly one of the finest games of ball ever seen in this city. For twelve innings the pitchers kept their opponents from getting a man across the plate. Finally in the 13th inning Tiernan sent a ball to the center fence and won the game.

No More Rebate Checks.

JEFFERSON, Mo., May 12.—The state board of railroad commissioners to-day rendered an important decision to the effect that the practice must be abondoned of collecting extra fare from passengers who fail to buy tickets where the extra fare is in excess of the statute.

Three Thousand Strikers.

PITTSBURG, May 12.—Three thousand employes of the National Tube Works Co. at McKeesport, struck to-day for ten per cent. advance in wages.

An Old Crime.

OTTAWA, May 12.—The report of the committee on the charges against Sir F. Middleton of looting furs valued at five or six thousand dollars during the Riel rebellion, which finds the general guilty, was reported in the commons to-night, and after a vigorous debate was adopted.

All the Berlin correspondents agree that Caprivi's speech was a masterpiece. He combines soldierly bluntness with the suave adroitness of a diplomatist.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

One Minute Speeches Only Allowed on the Tariff Bill.

WHICH CUTS OFF ALL DEBATE

Senator Jones Addresses the Senate on the Silver Bill, but Does not Finish His Speech.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The senate to-day took up and considered the bill, authorizing the issue of treasury notes of silver bullion. Jones, of Nevada, addressed the senate in its favor. He spoke of the general unrest prevailing throughout the country. The prices on all commodities, he said, had fallen and continued to fall. When the fall of prices was found operating on prices, in all industries, what was it that produced a general decline of prices in any country? It was the shrinkage in the volume of money relative to its population and business. The present divergence in the relative value of the two metals is directly due to the legal outlawing of silver, and not to any natural causes.

In regard to the bill pending before the senate, he said the bill did not fully reflect his views regarding the relation which silver should bear to monetary circulation. He declared himself a firm and unwavering advocate of free and unlimited coinage of silver. In view, however, of the great diversity of views prevailing on the subject and the possibility that the session of congress might terminate without affording the country any relief, he had joined with the other members of the committee in reporting the bill. Jones postponed finishing till tomorrow.

Senator Plumb to-day introduced a bill providing that the unit of value of the United States be the dollar, and that it may be coined 412½ grains standard silver, or 25 8-10 standard gold, each to be equally legal tender for all purposes.

IN THE HOUSE.

McKinley moved that the general debate on the tariff bill be limited to one minute, which was agreed to. The house then went into committee of the whole on the tariff bill. No one desiring to occupy the one minute, the clerk proceeded to read the bill by paragraphs for amendments.

A FIELD FOR CHARITY.

A Touching Scene When the Earthquake Visited San Juan.

Hollister Free Lance.

As the details of the disaster that has visited the San Juan Orphan Asylum by reason of the earthquake become fully known and realized, it is evident that some means should be at once taken to relieve the sisters in charge of at least a portion of the great burden they are called upon to endure.

At the time of the earthquake there were eight sisters and seventy-eight orphans in the big brick dormitory. Suddenly the earth shook violently; great sheets of plaster fell upon the beds of the little ones, who shrieked in terror. The entire north wall of the second and third stories fell outward with an awful crash, allowing the inmates of the rooms to gaze into the night and behold the heaving earth and swaying trees. The confusion and terror were supreme. The Superioress, an elderly little woman, raised her hand, and commanded silence, and bade the children follow her. Instantly the turmoil and shrieking ceased. With implicit confidence and childish trust these little waifs followed their common mother through falling plaster and between rocking walls out into the safety of the large play ground and there, kneeling, gave thanks to their father in heaven for their deliverance; and then, crowding together about the sisters even as chickens seek the protection of their brooding mother in time of danger, these little destitute ones passed the remainder of the night quaking with terror as the mighty force of the tremor continued to shake the earth beneath them, and yet confident that the God of the sisters would protect them and shield them from danger.

And so through the balance of the night they watched and waited until morning showed them their building—the only place that most of them could call their home—almost in ruins, and absolutely unfit for further habitation.

It was then the energy of the sisters showed itself. From beneath and through the masses of fallen plaster they dragged the the seventy-eight beds of the little girls. Desks and chairs were removed from the different wooden school buildings, and in their places were ranged the little cots, side by side. The linen was washed and replaced in all its whiteness, the terror of the little ones was removed, and in forty-eight hours the customary routine of daily duties, lessons and sports was assumed.

A Destructive Fire.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 12.—A destructive fire is raging at Ashley, three miles from here, and aid has been sent from here.
