

SPECIAL SPRING

ANNOUNCEMENT

W. F. READ

My Stock is now complete; embracing all the latest novelties in Dress Goods both in WOOL AND WASH FABRICS.

LADIES!

We are Sole Agents for the Celebrated

MEN

Furnishing Goods

We make a specialty of

Ladies' Underwear

In Knit Ribbed and Muslin. Our prices are the LOWEST and our goods

THE BEST HOSIERY. VALLEY!

We carry a full line of the world renowned Broadhead Dress Goods, which for wear and finish are unequalled. In embroideries and finings we have as large a stock as any house in the state. Call and you will be convinced that Albany is the best trading point in Oregon.

Resp'y W. F. READ

BOTTOM KNOCKED OUT

No More High Prices.

A GREAT OPPORTUNITY TO BUY GOODS WITH BUT LITTLE MONEY AT

CRISSMAN'S FIVE AND TEN CENT STORE.

This is an age of progression. The world moves and the man who does not move with it must fall behind or be crushed. We have struck the key note. One visit to our store will convince you that one dollar will purchase more here than two at any other place in the city. This seems incredible but we cordially invite an interested public to call and be convinced of the truth.

WE ARE SELLING ACATE BUTTONS FIVE CENTS PER DOZEN, BUTCHER KNIVES TEN CENTS, OTHER BASKETS TEN CENTS, BLACKING TEN CENTS.

We have all kinds of tin-ware and various other useful articles too numerous to mention at rock bottom. We extend an invitation to all.

- List of various household items and their prices: Acate Buttons, 5c a gross; Corkscrews, 3 and 10c; Checker boards, 10 and 15c; Cologne, 5c; Cigar boxes, 10c; Cake tins, 10c; Curling iron, 10 to 25c; Collar buttons, 5c, 40c; Coat hangers, 5c; Dish pans, 25 to 40c; Dusters, 10c; Baskets, all prices; Dolls, 10c; Envelopes, 2 for 5c; Egg beaters, 15c; Flour sifters, 15c; Funnel, 5c; Garter web, 5 to 10c; Garter, web, silk, 15c; Hair brushes, 15c; Handkerchiefs, 5 and 10c; Hair-pins, 5 and 10c a box; Harmonicas, 5 and 10c; Hooks and eyes, 4 doz. for 5c; Hose, ladies', black, 10c; Iron, men's, colored, 5 and 10c; Hammocks, $1.00; Knives, pocket, 10c; Key chains, 20c; Knife boxes, 15c; Knives, mining, 10 and 15c; Lead pencils, 10c a dozen; Laces, pillow slips, 5 and 10c; Laces, valon, 5c; Lemon squeezers, 10c; Match safes, 5 and 10c; Mirrors, 10 and 15c; Milk pans, 5 and 10c; Mouse traps, 4 holes, 10c; Marbles, all kinds; Note paper, 24 sheets for 5c; Nail brushes, 10c; Nutmeg graters, 5c; Needles, sharp, 5c a paper; Pins, 2 papers, 5c; Pails, tin covered, 2 qts., 10c; Pot scrubbers, 5c; Perfumery, 5 to 40c; Potato cutters, 10c; Potato mashers, 5c; Purses, 5 to 40c; Razor stro., 15c; R-T, 2 B, 10c; Receipt books, 10c; Shamoin skins, 10c; Shoe blacking, 5c; Safety pins, 3 doz. for 10c; Shoe lacers, 1 doz. for 5c; Spoons, set, 10c; Steak pounders, 15c; Spring scales, 15c; Suspenders, 10 and 15c; Sponges, 5c; Soap, castile, 5c; Soap, toilet, all prices; Tooth paper, 2 doz. for 5c; Toothpicks, 2,500 for 5c; Towels, bath, 10 and 15c; Tooth brushes, 5 and 10c; Trimbles, 5c; Tea strainers, 5c; Tablets, 5c; Trays, 10c; Tracing wheels, 15c; Wash boards, 25c; Wash basins, 10c; Water pails, 10 and 25c; Wrink brooms, 10 and 15c; Croquet sets, $1.00.

CRISSMAN'S 5 AND 10C. STORE. M'FARLAND BUILDING

A ROW IN CONGRESS.

The Most Exciting Scene of the Session.

THE HOUSE IN AN UPROAR.

Congressman Bynum Calls Another Member a Liar, and is Censured at the Bar of the House—Wild Scenes.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—In the senate today the bill appropriating $100,000 for a bronze statue of Gen. Grant having been passed, the executive session then adjourned.

A house conference was ordered on the senate anti-trust bill. The house then went into a committee of the whole on the tariff bill.

AS SPEAKING IN THE HOUSE. McKinley offered a long amendment to the international revenue clause, mainly administrative in character, which was ordered printed, and went over till Monday. This disposed of the committee amendments.

Bayne, of Pennsylvania, speaking to the verbal amendment sent to the clerk's desk and had read a letter from James Campbell, of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, denying the statement reflecting on his character made a few days since by Bynum, of Indiana, and Wilson, of Virginia. In the letter he strongly attacks these men. Springer said the letter was unworthy of the gentlemen who presented it. Wheeler, of Alabama, made a point of order that the letter should be stricken from the record. The chair ruled the gentleman who presented it responsible for it. Bynum claimed recognition on a question of personal privilege relating to the Campbell letter. There ensued an uproar. Bynum endeavored to proceed, but was shouted down by the republican side. He then added to the one side voice that a gentleman for whom he had the highest respect had been charged with forgery and wanted to present a letter in his defense. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, shouted to the chair that it was not fair to silence a man who had been publicly attacked, and let a man speak who has made himself sponsor of the slanderer.

Resolved, That the member from Indiana, William D. Bynum, in the language used by him in the committee of the whole and taken down and reported to the house, and read at the clerk's desk, has violated a rule of the house, and merits the censure of the house for the same.

Resolved, That said William D. Bynum be now brought to the bar of the house by the sergeant-at-arms and there receive the censure of the house, to be administered by the speaker.

Catchoon demanded the previous question and suggestions of "gag law" from the democratic side. After a number of dilatory motions the previous question was ordered on the resolution, yeas 129, nays 59.

Bland moved to reconsider. The speaker declined to recognize the motion, declaring it dilatory. Then there was another scene of confusion. Catchoon demanded that the sergeant-at-arms of Indiana had violated all parliamentary usage. The time had come, in view of the language heretofore used by him, that the line should be drawn where parliamentary proceedings cease and a violation of the rules begin.

Springer said the majority in adopting the resolutions would set a precedent which would not redound to its benefit. The language of the gentleman from Indiana was justifiable, if not parliamentary. The letter was an insult to the democratic party.

Mills spoke sharply, asserting that Bayne had given the first offense and severely criticized his action in bringing the letter into the house.

Springer demanded a division of the resolution and the first resolution, declaring that Bynum merited the censure of the house. Adopted, yeas 125, nays 102. The second resolution, providing for arraigoing Bynum before the bar of the house, was also adopted, yeas 129, nays 63.

The leaning on the arm of Howan, Bynum appeared at the bar, accompanied by a large number of his associates. The speaker obtained order and requested the gentlemen to take their seats. Springer acted as spokesman for his party and declined to do so. Sergeant-at-arms Holmes then said, "Mr. Bynum, by a resolution of the house of representatives you are required to appear before the body to receive the censure of that body through its speaker."

The speaker again asked the members to take their seats, and the democrats refused to comply. The speaker then said calmly, "The house of representatives perceives it is impossible for the chair to enforce order on account of the action of certain members. The chair will therefore proceed to do its duty under the present condition of disorder. Mr. Wm. D. Bynum, you are arraigned at the bar of the house for having transgressed its rules by your remarks. For this offense the house desires that you should be censured at its bar. In the name of the house, therefore, I pronounce upon you its censure. The sergeant-at-arms will now release you." Bynum said: "Under such circumstances I accept the censure as a decoration. Democratic applause." He then departed, and the main feature of the session, but before it was understood perfectly the house, at 10:30, adjourned. This ended one of the most exciting incidents of the session.

A DEVASTATED CITY.

Swept by a Destructive Cyclone and Fire.

HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE PERISH.

Mr. Blaine's Daughter Married—A Florida Mayor Chased Into the Woods by Armed Men.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 17.—A horrible scene is reported to have occurred during the burning of Tomsk, the capital of Western Siberia. The place was visited simultaneously by fire and a cyclone, the result being the destruction of three-quarters of the town and the loss of hundreds of lives. The cathedral is in ashes, and the walls falling crushed the hospital, burying the inmates who were roasted alive. The garrison brutally refused to assist in saving lives and property. The bishop and priests marched through the burning city with sacred emblems and administered absolution to the dying and blessed the dead. The panic-stricken people huddled together in the streets and firmly believed the end of the world had come and abandoned themselves to despair. The storm was followed by a sudden fall in temperature and soon the devastated city was buried beneath a mantle of snow which added stinging cold to the suffering thousands of shelterless men, women and children.

Bayne said: "I withdraw it, then, and say conduct pipe. I live as great confidence in the character of Campbell as I have in the character of the gentleman who presented it. He feared they were excited and uproar."

Catchoon demanded that the words be taken down, while Morgan of Mississippi, stood in front of the chair and urged that both the letter and the speech be stricken from the record. He feared they might lead to trouble outside of the house. The offensive words were taken down and reported from the clerk's desk. Catchoon moved that the committee rise and report the words to the house for action. This was agreed to, yeas 129 to 69.

The words having been reported to the house, Catchoon then offered the following:

Resolved, That the member from Indiana, William D. Bynum, in the language used by him in the committee of the whole and taken down and reported to the house, and read at the clerk's desk, has violated a rule of the house, and merits the censure of the house, and merits the censure of the house for the same.

Resolved, That said William D. Bynum be now brought to the bar of the house by the sergeant-at-arms and there receive the censure of the house, to be administered by the speaker.

Catchoon demanded the previous question and suggestions of "gag law" from the democratic side. After a number of dilatory motions the previous question was ordered on the resolution, yeas 129, nays 59.

Bland moved to reconsider. The speaker declined to recognize the motion, declaring it dilatory. Then there was another scene of confusion. Catchoon demanded that the sergeant-at-arms of Indiana had violated all parliamentary usage. The time had come, in view of the language heretofore used by him, that the line should be drawn where parliamentary proceedings cease and a violation of the rules begin.

Springer said the majority in adopting the resolutions would set a precedent which would not redound to its benefit. The language of the gentleman from Indiana was justifiable, if not parliamentary. The letter was an insult to the democratic party.

Mills spoke sharply, asserting that Bayne had given the first offense and severely criticized his action in bringing the letter into the house.

Springer demanded a division of the resolution and the first resolution, declaring that Bynum merited the censure of the house. Adopted, yeas 125, nays 102. The second resolution, providing for arraigoing Bynum before the bar of the house, was also adopted, yeas 129, nays 63.

The leaning on the arm of Howan, Bynum appeared at the bar, accompanied by a large number of his associates. The speaker obtained order and requested the gentlemen to take their seats. Springer acted as spokesman for his party and declined to do so. Sergeant-at-arms Holmes then said, "Mr. Bynum, by a resolution of the house of representatives you are required to appear before the body to receive the censure of that body through its speaker."

The speaker again asked the members to take their seats, and the democrats refused to comply. The speaker then said calmly, "The house of representatives perceives it is impossible for the chair to enforce order on account of the action of certain members. The chair will therefore proceed to do its duty under the present condition of disorder. Mr. Wm. D. Bynum, you are arraigned at the bar of the house for having transgressed its rules by your remarks. For this offense the house desires that you should be censured at its bar. In the name of the house, therefore, I pronounce upon you its censure. The sergeant-at-arms will now release you." Bynum said: "Under such circumstances I accept the censure as a decoration. Democratic applause." He then departed, and the main feature of the session, but before it was understood perfectly the house, at 10:30, adjourned. This ended one of the most exciting incidents of the session.

Resolved, That said William D. Bynum be now brought to the bar of the house by the sergeant-at-arms and there receive the censure of the house, to be administered by the speaker.

Catchoon demanded the previous question and suggestions of "gag law" from the democratic side. After a number of dilatory motions the previous question was ordered on the resolution, yeas 129, nays 59.

Bland moved to reconsider. The speaker declined to recognize the motion, declaring it dilatory. Then there was another scene of confusion. Catchoon demanded that the sergeant-at-arms of Indiana had violated all parliamentary usage. The time had come, in view of the language heretofore used by him, that the line should be drawn where parliamentary proceedings cease and a violation of the rules begin.

Springer said the majority in adopting the resolutions would set a precedent which would not redound to its benefit. The language of the gentleman from Indiana was justifiable, if not parliamentary. The letter was an insult to the democratic party.

A DEVASTATED CITY.

Swept by a Destructive Cyclone and Fire.

HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE PERISH.

Mr. Blaine's Daughter Married—A Florida Mayor Chased Into the Woods by Armed Men.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 17.—A horrible scene is reported to have occurred during the burning of Tomsk, the capital of Western Siberia. The place was visited simultaneously by fire and a cyclone, the result being the destruction of three-quarters of the town and the loss of hundreds of lives. The cathedral is in ashes, and the walls falling crushed the hospital, burying the inmates who were roasted alive. The garrison brutally refused to assist in saving lives and property. The bishop and priests marched through the burning city with sacred emblems and administered absolution to the dying and blessed the dead. The panic-stricken people huddled together in the streets and firmly believed the end of the world had come and abandoned themselves to despair. The storm was followed by a sudden fall in temperature and soon the devastated city was buried beneath a mantle of snow which added stinging cold to the suffering thousands of shelterless men, women and children.

Bayne said: "I withdraw it, then, and say conduct pipe. I live as great confidence in the character of Campbell as I have in the character of the gentleman who presented it. He feared they were excited and uproar."

Catchoon demanded that the words be taken down, while Morgan of Mississippi, stood in front of the chair and urged that both the letter and the speech be stricken from the record. He feared they might lead to trouble outside of the house. The offensive words were taken down and reported from the clerk's desk. Catchoon moved that the committee rise and report the words to the house for action. This was agreed to, yeas 129 to 69.

The words having been reported to the house, Catchoon then offered the following:

Resolved, That the member from Indiana, William D. Bynum, in the language used by him in the committee of the whole and taken down and reported to the house, and read at the clerk's desk, has violated a rule of the house, and merits the censure of the house, and merits the censure of the house for the same.

Resolved, That said William D. Bynum be now brought to the bar of the house by the sergeant-at-arms and there receive the censure of the house, to be administered by the speaker.

Catchoon demanded the previous question and suggestions of "gag law" from the democratic side. After a number of dilatory motions the previous question was ordered on the resolution, yeas 129, nays 59.

Bland moved to reconsider. The speaker declined to recognize the motion, declaring it dilatory. Then there was another scene of confusion. Catchoon demanded that the sergeant-at-arms of Indiana had violated all parliamentary usage. The time had come, in view of the language heretofore used by him, that the line should be drawn where parliamentary proceedings cease and a violation of the rules begin.

Springer said the majority in adopting the resolutions would set a precedent which would not redound to its benefit. The language of the gentleman from Indiana was justifiable, if not parliamentary. The letter was an insult to the democratic party.

Mills spoke sharply, asserting that Bayne had given the first offense and severely criticized his action in bringing the letter into the house.

Springer demanded a division of the resolution and the first resolution, declaring that Bynum merited the censure of the house. Adopted, yeas 125, nays 102. The second resolution, providing for arraigoing Bynum before the bar of the house, was also adopted, yeas 129, nays 63.

The leaning on the arm of Howan, Bynum appeared at the bar, accompanied by a large number of his associates. The speaker obtained order and requested the gentlemen to take their seats. Springer acted as spokesman for his party and declined to do so. Sergeant-at-arms Holmes then said, "Mr. Bynum, by a resolution of the house of representatives you are required to appear before the body to receive the censure of that body through its speaker."

The speaker again asked the members to take their seats, and the democrats refused to comply. The speaker then said calmly, "The house of representatives perceives it is impossible for the chair to enforce order on account of the action of certain members. The chair will therefore proceed to do its duty under the present condition of disorder. Mr. Wm. D. Bynum, you are arraigned at the bar of the house for having transgressed its rules by your remarks. For this offense the house desires that you should be censured at its bar. In the name of the house, therefore, I pronounce upon you its censure. The sergeant-at-arms will now release you." Bynum said: "Under such circumstances I accept the censure as a decoration. Democratic applause." He then departed, and the main feature of the session, but before it was understood perfectly the house, at 10:30, adjourned. This ended one of the most exciting incidents of the session.

Resolved, That said William D. Bynum be now brought to the bar of the house by the sergeant-at-arms and there receive the censure of the house, to be administered by the speaker.

Catchoon demanded the previous question and suggestions of "gag law" from the democratic side. After a number of dilatory motions the previous question was ordered on the resolution, yeas 129, nays 59.

Bland moved to reconsider. The speaker declined to recognize the motion, declaring it dilatory. Then there was another scene of confusion. Catchoon demanded that the sergeant-at-arms of Indiana had violated all parliamentary usage. The time had come, in view of the language heretofore used by him, that the line should be drawn where parliamentary proceedings cease and a violation of the rules begin.

Springer said the majority in adopting the resolutions would set a precedent which would not redound to its benefit. The language of the gentleman from Indiana was justifiable, if not parliamentary. The letter was an insult to the democratic party.

A DEVASTATED CITY.

Swept by a Destructive Cyclone and Fire.

HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE PERISH.

Mr. Blaine's Daughter Married—A Florida Mayor Chased Into the Woods by Armed Men.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 17.—A horrible scene is reported to have occurred during the burning of Tomsk, the capital of Western Siberia. The place was visited simultaneously by fire and a cyclone, the result being the destruction of three-quarters of the town and the loss of hundreds of lives. The cathedral is in ashes, and the walls falling crushed the hospital, burying the inmates who were roasted alive. The garrison brutally refused to assist in saving lives and property. The bishop and priests marched through the burning city with sacred emblems and administered absolution to the dying and blessed the dead. The panic-stricken people huddled together in the streets and firmly believed the end of the world had come and abandoned themselves to despair. The storm was followed by a sudden fall in temperature and soon the devastated city was buried beneath a mantle of snow which added stinging cold to the suffering thousands of shelterless men, women and children.

Bayne said: "I withdraw it, then, and say conduct pipe. I live as great confidence in the character of Campbell as I have in the character of the gentleman who presented it. He feared they were excited and uproar."

Catchoon demanded that the words be taken down, while Morgan of Mississippi, stood in front of the chair and urged that both the letter and the speech be stricken from the record. He feared they might lead to trouble outside of the house. The offensive words were taken down and reported from the clerk's desk. Catchoon moved that the committee rise and report the words to the house for action. This was agreed to, yeas 129 to 69.

The words having been reported to the house, Catchoon then offered the following:

Resolved, That the member from Indiana, William D. Bynum, in the language used by him in the committee of the whole and taken down and reported to the house, and read at the clerk's desk, has violated a rule of the house, and merits the censure of the house, and merits the censure of the house for the same.

Resolved, That said William D. Bynum be now brought to the bar of the house by the sergeant-at-arms and there receive the censure of the house, to be administered by the speaker.

Catchoon demanded the previous question and suggestions of "gag law" from the democratic side. After a number of dilatory motions the previous question was ordered on the resolution, yeas 129, nays 59.

Bland moved to reconsider. The speaker declined to recognize the motion, declaring it dilatory. Then there was another scene of confusion. Catchoon demanded that the sergeant-at-arms of Indiana had violated all parliamentary usage. The time had come, in view of the language heretofore used by him, that the line should be drawn where parliamentary proceedings cease and a violation of the rules begin.

Springer said the majority in adopting the resolutions would set a precedent which would not redound to its benefit. The language of the gentleman from Indiana was justifiable, if not parliamentary. The letter was an insult to the democratic party.

Mills spoke sharply, asserting that Bayne had given the first offense and severely criticized his action in bringing the letter into the house.

Springer demanded a division of the resolution and the first resolution, declaring that Bynum merited the censure of the house. Adopted, yeas 125, nays 102. The second resolution, providing for arraigoing Bynum before the bar of the house, was also adopted, yeas 129, nays 63.

The leaning on the arm of Howan, Bynum appeared at the bar, accompanied by a large number of his associates. The speaker obtained order and requested the gentlemen to take their seats. Springer acted as spokesman for his party and declined to do so. Sergeant-at-arms Holmes then said, "Mr. Bynum, by a resolution of the house of representatives you are required to appear before the body to receive the censure of that body through its speaker."

The speaker again asked the members to take their seats, and the democrats refused to comply. The speaker then said calmly, "The house of representatives perceives it is impossible for the chair to enforce order on account of the action of certain members. The chair will therefore proceed to do its duty under the present condition of disorder. Mr. Wm. D. Bynum, you are arraigned at the bar of the house for having transgressed its rules by your remarks. For this offense the house desires that you should be censured at its bar. In the name of the house, therefore, I pronounce upon you its censure. The sergeant-at-arms will now release you." Bynum said: "Under such circumstances I accept the censure as a decoration. Democratic applause." He then departed, and the main feature of the session, but before it was understood perfectly the house, at 10:30, adjourned. This ended one of the most exciting incidents of the session.

Resolved, That said William D. Bynum be now brought to the bar of the house by the sergeant-at-arms and there receive the censure of the house, to be administered by the speaker.

Catchoon demanded the previous question and suggestions of "gag law" from the democratic side. After a number of dilatory motions the previous question was ordered on the resolution, yeas 129, nays 59.

Bland moved to reconsider. The speaker declined to recognize the motion, declaring it dilatory. Then there was another scene of confusion. Catchoon demanded that the sergeant-at-arms of Indiana had violated all parliamentary usage. The time had come, in view of the language heretofore used by him, that the line should be drawn where parliamentary proceedings cease and a violation of the rules begin.

Springer said the majority in adopting the resolutions would set a precedent which would not redound to its benefit. The language of the gentleman from Indiana was justifiable, if not parliamentary. The letter was an insult to the democratic party.

GROWING WAR CLOUD

Germany Warns Russia to "Keep Off the Grass."

OTHERS WILL BE TROUBLE

Report of the Condition of Crops Throughout the United States—Terror Children Banned to Death in the South.

Copyright 1890 by the Associated Press. ST. PETERSBURG, May 17.—The emperor's utterances at Koenigsburg have sufficed to irritate the Russian government and to dispel all delusions regarding the possibility of the renewal of a compact with Russia. The newspapers here minimized the reference to war in his speech of Wednesday, but yesterday a final utterance was made that contained this allusion, which is impossible to misunderstand: "I shall not allow my provinces here in the East to be touched. Those attacking them will find my strength to be that of a rock." As Russia is the only possible frontier assailant of East Prussia, his words, especially in view of following his first aggressive declaration, are now interpreted here, as in St. Petersburg, as an armed against Russia.

THE COUNTRY'S CROPS. WASHINGTON, May 17.—The signal crop service report shows that the weather during the week in the Northwest including the states of Missouri, Upper Mississippi valley and the upper lake region has been generally unfavorable for growing crops owing to the low temperature, which was accompanied by frost, causing some injury to fruits and retarding the growth of crops. Weather conditions were favorable on the Pacific coast and crops were improved. The continued dry weather in Oregon will result in some injury to grain.

LIQUOR SELLING IN KANSAS. TOPEKA, May 17.—For the first time in 5 years intoxicating liquors were sold openly in this city. An agent for a leading Kansas City wholesale liquor house has opened an "original package" shop. The unusual sight of the sale of liquor attracted people to the saloon.

WILL RESIGN. WASHINGTON, May 17.—Col. W. P. Canady, sergeant-at-arms of the senate, has decided to resign his position and it is said to-night that his resignation will be communicated to the senate Monday. Col. Canady will remain in the city and represent the interest of several large corporations at Washington.

SENATOR IGGALLS ROBBED. WASHINGTON, May 17.—A thief entered the apartments of Senator Iggalls to-day, during the temporary absence of the family, and secured jewelry valued at several hundred dollars.

BURNED TO DEATH. SELMA, Ala., May 17.—Crockett Tate, a negro, went to church with his wife last night, leaving four children at home locked in. The house burned to the ground and all the children were cremated.

CARTIERS ELECTED. FRANKFORD, May 17.—J. G. Cartledge was today elected United States senator by the assembly in joint session, to succeed the late Senator Beck.

THE RECORD BROKEN. WASHINGTON, May 17.—S. S. Rowland's high jumping horse today made a jump of seven feet, thus breaking his own and all other records.

SNOW-STORM IN WISCONSIN. MERRILL, Wis., May 17.—At six o'clock to-night an inch of snow is on the ground and it is still falling hard.

THE RAILWAY CONDUCTORS. ROCHESTER, May 17.—The order of railway conductors to-day elected delegate Clark grand chief conductor.

A LOVING CUP FOR MR. BLAINE. Tiffany & Co. are now working upon a solid silver loving cup, ordered by the Latin-American delegates to the recent Pan-American Congress as a present to James G. Blaine, Secretary of State. The cup will be presented to Mr. Blaine about the middle of this month, as a token of the personal esteem of the delegates, and in recognition of his services as president of the conference. The estimated price of the cup is $500. It is about twelve inches high and two and a half inches in diameter. On the sides of the cup, at equal distances from each other, and curving outward and down to points four inches from the bottom are three beautifully dressed handles. One is inscribed with the words, "North America," another with the words, "South America," and the third with the words, "Central America." The names of the Secretary of State and of all the delegates are engraved also on its sides.

FOR SALE. Good single buggy, harness, robe, whip, horse blanket, etc. Buggy newly painted. All for sale at a bargain. A nice outfit. Call on E. G. BEARDSLEY.

THE MARKET. CHICAGO, May 17.—1:15 close: wheat steady; cash and June 94 1/2; July 94 1/2. SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—Wheat weaker; buyer year 1.44%. LIVERPOOL, May 17.—Wheat firm, demand poor, holder offering sparingly; California 1.7 1/2 bid per cental; western winter 7s 1d.

Why Do You Smoke? From The Indianapolis Journal. "After all the fascination of a cigar lies in the fact that a man can see the smoke curve in the air," remarked a tobaccoist to a Journal reporter. "Did you ever stop to think that you seldom see a blind man smoking? There is only one in this city that I know of who has formed the habit, and that is Luke Walpole. If you will watch the men who come here you will see that nine out of ten seem to take a special delight in looking at the little puffs of smoke that arise as they light their cigar. And then you hear men say, 'A cigar is such a comfort to me when I'm alone for it keeps me company.' Well, it isn't the cigar that occupies his time, but the fantastic designs that the smoke assumes. Let a smoker shut his eyes and he will throw his cigar away. No, the consolation that a cigar brings is not through the sight than taste."

A Good Cough Syrup. There is nothing parents should be so careful about as selecting a cough syrup. Beggs Cherry cough syrup is meeting with wonderful success. The best is none so good. Be sure you get Beggs. Every bottle is warranted. All druggists keep it.

All kinds of canned fruits, vegetables and meats new and fresh at Spencer & Blackburn's.

French keeps railroad time.