THE WHY OF AGRICULTURAL DEPRESSION.

No subject of modern times has been and is being more generally discussed, and no fact was ever more generally admitted than that American agriculture is suffering a depression unknown to our other large interests. Every one who writes or talks on the subject of agricultural depression has a reason to assign for it; the most common one being "overproduction," probably because that is the one which first presents itself to the superficial thinker, or to him who is just beginning to study the question. A careful investigation will soon destroy the overproduction theory. There are no facts to sustain it. The world is always within much less than a year of starvation. Several times in its history the United States has had more cattle, sheep and hogs to population than it now has. The "visible supply" of breadstuffs has not averaged relatively larger during the period of extreme low prices than when higher prices prevail. The world does not produce more than the world would like to and would consume, provided there were no artificial barriers to natural consumption.

That there is some cause for the depression is of course acceded and to remedy the evil and change the existing situation, is as much to the interest of every other class of people in the country as it is that of the producers themselves, for the eventual success of all others lies in the success and prosperity of the producer.

A leading agricultural Journal sums up the matter by assigning a cause as follows: "The general plane of expenses is higher in this country than in any other one in the world. Rents, the profits of middlemen, wages, salaries to professional men, average cost of the necessaries of life, farmer's supplies, etc., are all higher here than elsewhere. Besides sustaining our lofty expense plane we are compelled to pay tribute to millions and billions of fictitious values, to protected classes, to capitalistic conspiracies, and to a thousand and one artificial and vicious influences that go to swell the sum total of general living expenses. It will not be denied that ultimately the productive industries of a nation pay its bills. If those industries receive for their labors and products prices proportioned to the bills they must pay, all is well, prosperity is assured, and everybody is happy. But our greatest productive industry is paying the biggest bills in the world, and doing it by producing and selling products at the lowest prices in the civilized world! Agricultural depression is not only a fact, but under existing condition it is inevitable; the only wonder is that it is not greater. While prices of products have been sinking the general expense-plane has been rising. It is useless to quote the lower prices of harvesters and other farm impliments and supplies to prove this assertion. It is not the seen but the unseen that now oppresses. It is useless to sell harvesters and the like a few dollars cheaper while 6 per cent. interest on fictitious values—which is surely the minmum amount productive industry is compelled to pay to them—amounts to more each year than the total value of all the farm impliments we annually make. By figures it may be made to appear that farmers are buying and living cheaper than ever, but the great and overpowering fact that lifting farm mortgages was never so laborious a toil as now indicates that influences are at work, like theives in the night, to rob them of the fruits of advantages that show well to the sight but which turn to ashes in the hand. Not all the skill, science, and education in the universe can fill a cask the outlet of which is twice the size of the inlet. So, also, skillful, scientific farming can not have anything left to itself while it must meet extravagant bills payable with the smallest known bills receivable."

The straits to which the campaign orators are driven, for material upon the tariff question, was pretty well illustrated yesterday at Lyons, Hon. J. K. Weatherford made the positive statement that the tariff on grain bags by the provisions of the proposed McKinley bill would be doubled. The facts of the case are that the McKinley bill does not change the tariff on grain bags. The report of Charles H. Evans of the treasury department on the old law and the proposed changes of the McKinley bill says: Existing law 40 per cent., proposed law 2 2-10 cents per pound. Equivalent, existing law 40 per cent. proposed law 40 per cent. Looking into the matter further we find in the same report that the manufactured yarn for the bags under existing law is 35 per cent. and under proposed law would be 30 per cent. and further the raw material entering into grain sacks, jute butts, manilla, sisil-grass are placed upon the free list. This shows the foundation that there is for such statements.

On the doctrine of tariff for revenue only Cleveland carried Linn county by only thirty majority. On the same free-trade stuff Pennoyer will get entirely knocked out in this county. Republicans who have felt favorable to him quit him when he opened the throttle of his exhaust-pipe in favor of free trade, and a host of democrats denounced him and will vote for Thompson.

It is not known whether Pennoyer vetoed the Portland non-taxable water bond bill because the water company would not buy lumber from his saw mill, but the records do show that he favored non-taxable bonds for Baker City and The Dalles, and that he opposed the same thing for Portland. There is a nigger in the wood pile some-where.

Emin Pasha seems to be verifying the statements of Stanley as to his incompetency, for the large force of men placed in his command are constantly deserting, and he will soon be without a command and in as bad a situation as when Stanley first went to his rescue.

Take Simmons Liver Regulator One Dose

WORTH

100 Dollars!

DEAR S. L. It: I consider one dose of Simmons Liver Regulator worth $100. I was constipated, had Headache, could eat nothing with satisfaction or appetite but the liquor, and felt altogether out of sorts. I resorted to Illon Mass, Calomel, Quinine, and every remedy suggested, but only obtained temporary relief. One dose of S. L. It did me more good than $100 worth of doctors and doctoring. Respy, J. C. MARTIN.

I have been a teacher for twenty years, and during that time have had repeated attacks of headache, produced by torpid Liver, and have been entirely cured by Simmons Liver Regulator. I found it to be of so mild a character in its action as not to interfere in the least with my duties in the school room. Its effects are prompt and subject to the control. I consider it highly recommend Simmons Liver Regulator.
