Morning Daily Herald

SPECIAL, 12:30 A. M.

Not to see our stoves and ranges before buying is a mistake. Mistakes are always costly. In heating stoves we have the largest as well as the most carefully selected stock in the city. The stoves we offer were not bought as an experiment but as a certainty. We know what each stove will do, and they were bought for cash, so the price is right. We have specialties in heaters, beside our regular lines of Garland, Argand and Superior stoves and ranges.

THE COUNTY OFFICES.

The Campaign Opened With Political Speeches at Lyonsville.

REPORT OF THE SPEECHES.

A Joint Discussion by the Republicans, Democrats and the Union Labor Party.

LYONSVILLE, May 19.—The candidates for the various offices in Linn county, opened the campaign at this place to-day.

The meeting convened at the new town hall and was called to order by J. C. Lyons. G. B. Hartmus was elected chairman.

Hon. Jeff. Meyers, democratic candidate for State Senator, opened the discussion, making the gist of his argument a rendition of his present views upon the railroad commission, the Portland Water Bill, and the Wagon Road Bills.

Hon. John Bryant, union party candidate for State Senator, followed, making a brief presentation of the subject, claiming that the old parties had taken all the thunder out of their platform by adopting its principles.

Mr. Peter Hume, republican candidate for State Senator, followed, defining his position in a clear manner, showing that he had always been a working man, had put his money into a home enterprise to give workingmen employment, and his interests lay with them entirely; he stated emphatically that he was opposed to non-taxable bonds. He said that there were many questions that are essential, one being the assessment law, which should be amended, making the election of precinct assessors a part of the law. His allusion to national politics was simply that in the arrangement of the revenue tariff equal justice should be given to all, but that protection to American industry should be assured.

Hon. J. K. Weatherford, democratic candidate for Senator, followed, making a presentation of his candidacy. He made the bond bill one of the leading points in his discussion, explaining that Governor Pennoyer signed the Dalles and Baker City bond bills without giving them a careful examination; he spoke in favor of maintaining the mortgage tax law and amending the assessment law. His rendition of the national issues was included in an objection to the McKinley tariff bill on the grain sack and jute business.

Mr. Templeton, republican candidate for representative, followed, making a plain statement that he was a farmer, a taxpayer of Linn county conversant with the wants and needs of the people in the legislature, and although he was not a public speaker nor a politician, but if elected, would guard the rights and needs of the people of the country and carry out the wishes of his constituents.

Mr. Parker, union party candidate for representative followed, excusing the absence of Dr. Hendrex, and reiterating the claim of Mr. Bryant that the union party made the platforms of the other parties. He promised, if elected, that he would defeat just as many bills before the legislature as it would be possible.

Mr. C. J. Shedd, democratic candidate for representative, stated that he was a farmer, had never before been a candidate. He favored legislation for all and was against class legislation and opposed non-taxable bonds.

Mr. R. A. Michenor, republican candidate for school superintendent, was presented and gave a good presentation of educational affairs, and made an excellent impression.

Mr. Russell, democratic candidate for superintendent, followed, claiming that it was impossible to make a speech upon the subject already handled, but promised to fulfill all that the former had promised.

Matt Scott, democratic candidate for sheriff, could not be found when called for, so James A. Pearl the republican nominee for the office, was called for, and responded with a plain talk and concluded with a song that brought immense applause. To-day the canvass will be continued at Scio.

A Southern Oregon Waterspout

A waterspout dropped on one of the spurs of the Siskiyous several miles southeast of Ashland, Tuesday afternoon, that flooded the neighborhood of the Devlin place with oceans of water for a short time and washed out considerable plowed land. J. C. Atkins, who lives on the Devlin place, was the heaviest loser, estimating his loss $50. The water came so fast that it drowned five pigs for him before he knew what was the matter, says the Valley record. Hail fell to the depth of six inches, doing considerable damage to grain and stripping the fruit trees within a limited area.

A Fine Hall.

The enterprising people of Lyons, on the O. P. railroad, have formed a stock company and erected a neat and commodious city hall, two stories high. The lower story is to be used for a school room at present, and the upper story for a hall. The company officials and directors are: President, G. B. Hartmus; vice-president, S. M. McClain; treasurer, Will S. Potter; directors, E. M. Horton and J. C. Lyons.

Sons of Veterans.

D. C. Sherman of Salem will be at the G. A. R. Hall Saturday evening May 24th for the purpose of mustering in the new camp of the Sons of Veterans. The members of the camp and all those who expect to become members are requested to be present without fail.

Use elegant lotion for tan.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING.

The Annual Election of Officers. The Advertising Proposition.

The regular meeting of the Board of Trade was held at the city council chamber last evening.

The committee of three, appointed at the last meeting, consisting of T. L. Wallace, J. R. Niel and G. W. Wright, reported that arrangements had been made to go to Salem to-day to confer with a committee on the subject of advertising the Willamette Valley and the different cities, and also the matter of raising money for the same.

The following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year: President, G. W. Wright; vice-presidents, T. L. Wallace and J. H. Malin; secretary, Fred P. Nutting; treasurer, Jay W. Blain.

A number of short speeches were made by members of the board, after which they adjourned to meet Thursday evening to hear the report of the advertising from Albany and Salem.

Funeral of Geo S. Royce.

On Sunday afternoon a large attendance was present at the funeral of the late Geo. S. Royce from the Baptist church, the sermon being preached by Rev. L. J. Trumbull. The deceased had gone with his family to California for the benefit of his health, but was taken with pneumonia soon after arriving. Their infant daughter died, and his health continued to fail. He then started home. He was kindly cared for by relatives and friends, who were with him, but he died at Sacramento, and his remains and the body of the little one were brought home together and interred in the Masonic cemetery. George S. Royce was born in Buritt, Winnebago county, Illinois, on Sept. 12, 1860. His father, who served in the war as one of the Illinois Volunteers, died when he was two years old, and his mother died a year later. He was then taken into the family of Mr. and Mrs. Strauder Froman, with whom he crossed the plains in 1864, and with whom he grew to manhood. Arriving in Oregon in October, 1864, they settled in Albany, where his life was principally spent. He was united in marriage with Miss Nellie O. Burkhart in 1882, and leaves besides a wife and little son, a sister, Mrs. Shaw, of this city, and a wide circle of friends, who deeply grieve his untimely death. He was a young man of bright intellect and ability, and a useful life was just opening before him.

The Yaquina Jetties.

Reports from Yaquina state that at present no work is being done by the government on the jetties and none can be done until congress passes the river and harbor bill, in which probably Yaquina bay will receive $125,000. This money will not be available until August. The jetties have stood the storms and seas remarkable well since operations ceased. No breaks have taken place, but it will take a month or more to make repairs so that work can be carried on in good shape. The tramway on the south side will have to be extended up the bay at least 1500 feet and a wharf built at the end before any more work can be done on the extension and encroachment of the jetty on that side. The shifting of the sand on that side necessitates this additional work. Improvements like this one on a Yaquina bay should have money enough to carry the work on to completion. A stoppage of work fritters away money and makes the ultimate cost nearly double what it would be it carried on continuously and on business principles.

The Narrow Gauge Lines.

It it announced that the narrow gauge roads will be turned over to Mr. C. P. Huntington this week, and he will then take charge of all the wealth of receipts which will render any other receiver unnecessary, and Mr. C. N. Scott, who has so long acted in that capacity, will wind up the business of his office as speedily as may be. This consummation, having some owner in charge of the road who has capital to fix it up and furnish and run it in good style, has long been wished by all residents along the line and the public generally. It may now be confidently expected that the work of renovating and reconstructing will be begun all along the lines, and the work of extension at both ends.

School Matters.

Superintendent E. B. McElroy was in the city yesterday. He is arranaging for the state teachers institute to be held in Salem on June 30, also for the national educational association which will convene in St. Paul on July 8. It is proposed to establish headquarters for this State at St. Paul. These headquarters will be maintained during the week of the Association, and will include a bureau of information (relative to Oregon) for the information of visiting teachers from other States. Superintendent McElroy is doing excellent service for the schools of Oregon, and will receive their hearty sanction at the pools in June.

The finder will be suitably rewarded by returning the same to the Linn County Bank.

He crossed the Atlantic in 1848 and settled in Ohio, but in 1854 removed to Oregon and was one of the early settlers in Albany.
