THE CANDIDATES AT SHEDD.

They Attend a Picnic and are Tendered an Ovation - The Speeches.

The candidates of the different political parties now making the canvass in Linn county, were greeted by a magnificent ovation by the people of Halsey and vicinity, upon their arrival at that place on Thursday. A grand picnic under the auspices of the Halsey Brass Band, was arranged for the occasion and all the residents of the town and vicinity, as well as a great many from Peoria, Harrisburg, Brownsville and Shedd, joined to make the occasion one long to be remembered. The grounds, belonging to Mr. Frisbie, about one mile from town were all that could be desired. A beautiful grass plot, dense shade, and ample room for the large gathering, which numbered at least fifteen hundred people. The exercises in the forenoon were interspersed by songs and recitations, closing by an address by Hon. J. K. Weatherford, which was well delivered and was non-political and was upon the various topics of interest to the people of this county. This followed a very important part of the day's programme, that of emptying the lunch baskets. The writer accepted the kind invitation of Mr. Joseph Lane and did ample justice to the bountiful spread prepared by members of his family. At 2 o'clock the speaking by candidates commenced. Cash Gay was elected chairman. The canvass opened by presentation of the union party's principles as enunciated in their platform. By the order of this committee, Dr. J. F. Hendrix, the doctor, is a forcible speaker, and demands that the other political parties shall either carry out the theories of his party in regard to the abolition of the national banking system, the locating of money on landed property, the amelioration of labor etc., or retire from the political arena. The doctor, however, failed to make much of an impression on the large assemblage present. The issues of the day were next discussed from a republican standpoint by Hon. Peter Hume. Mr. Hume's speech was vigorous and forcible; he thoroughly aired the democratic scheme of misrepresentation of the tariff in relation to our agricultural interests. He exposed the duplicity of the democratic speaker in dealing with tariff and grain-bags and begging material, showing that much of the material entering into the manufacturing of grain bags is placed on the free list in the new republican tariff bill. He stated distinctly his position in regard to state issues, favoring a change of assessment, from county to precinct assessors, denouncing non-taxation of bonds, the repeal of the mortgage tax law, the usury law, and pledging himself to carry out the wishes of the people in regard to national and state legislation. Hon. Jeff Myers was the next speaker. Jeff's strong point is his legislative record. After enumerating the number of times he voted against the "Bull Run" water bill, and a few bills introduced by him, but never passed, he then, in legislative halls, he eulogized himself and his speech by saying he had been quite busy at Seio and had only arrived a few minutes before. Hon. L. R. Smith presented his views in regard to the tariff. He arraigned the democratic speakers and proved conclusively that the two leading speakers for that party had supported and voted for the Dillies and Baker City non-taxable bond bills. Reading from the journal the vote he showed himself thoroughly qualified to represent the people in any capacity. J. K. Weatherford addressed the people, advocating Democracy and declared himself for the Mills bill in preference to McKinley's. His glaring inconsistencies were admirably exposed by Hume in a few minutes' speech immediately following. Hume received a round of applause. Hon. W. A. Templeton made a forcible appeal to the public, and denounced the policy of begging our laborers to the condition of the foreign laborer. Dr. Henry for the democrats and Parker for the union party spoke for a few minutes. R. E. Mielmeur made a pointed and practical educational speech on our rural schools. The candidates by Sheriff made a short talk, and Pearl sang his song much to the discomfiture of his opponent. Hon. J. A. Richardson joined the canvass to-day. E. M. Redfield, Fred Godley, R. E. Michler and J. A. Pearl have made a host of friends in the vicinity of Halsey and each will receive a touting majority in this precinct on the 25th of June.

DEBATING AT HARRISBURG. HARRISBURG, May 24.—The speaking of the candidates here to-day was well attended. Hume, Weatherford, Hendrix, Smith, Myers, Bryant, Templeton, Shedd, Parker, Honr, Michener, Russell, Pearl and Scott were the speakers. The same ground was gone over as heretofore, and there were no personal attacks. Weatherford called attention to the accusation in the Herald in reference to keeping R. E. Smith out of the discussion. The republican candidates replied that it was a mistake arising from his name being overlooked in making up the programme at Millers.
