from the Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin.
The fact that the Rev. E G Up lyke, one of the leading ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Courch in 'he Northwe-t, is seriou-ly considering a call to accept the pastoral charge of a church of the Congregational denomination will reave the discussion, which has peen rife at intervals ever since inerant system of the Methodists was established, as to whether or not the benefits that flow from frequent and pastoral changes are mo e than offset by the di-advanages which the system involves. fue idea of Wesley was to discourge the members of the ministry f om setting their hearts on the things workily:, It was his theory that schol, rship in a minister was f far less consequence than relig ons enthusiasm. His great ob ject was to revive the spiritual life of the church, and he found hat this could most quickly be d ne, under the conditions which nevailed in his country and his time, by the 10 icy which he pursued. But a century of prosperus existence has seen a great change take place in the character and influence of the Methodist Courch, le is no longer di-tinet y a church of the hum ler classes but draws representatives of all orders of the population within its to d. The spread or popular eduat on has also done a great deal to change the conditions under w ien its work can be mo-t profitably carried on. In social as well as in intellectual standing, the netholists of the United States include a very different class of p o de from those who formed al most he whole of the denomiation a century ago. The necessity for some medification of the church olicy regarding the ministry has been re ognized and acted upon it is realized that the average congregation of this gener don confeceive little edification from the preaching of an ignorant man ow ver sinche his plety, and the con-equence is that, as a b dy, the Me ho ist unresters of to day the often-born lady were kept acompare favorably with the clergy lottery bil was pass d to day by of of er decomment as in learning kown, on board. So fir as the nouse over the governor's veto, and ability as well as in religious fervor. It has also come to be realized that the old rolley of removing a minister from his charge as soon as he has held it long land, which makes the run through enough to get acquainted with the without chance for breakfast, Mr. people, and to g ve them an oppor- Gross, of the Depot Hotel, will preis not as wise as it once seemed,
