CONGRESSIONAL.

The Day's Proceedings in Both Branches of Congress.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Senator Feller to-day introduced a joint resolution declaring it to be the determined policy of the United States to use both gold and silver as full legal tender money, and the governments of the Latin-union countries and such other nations as he may deem advisable to join the United States in a conference to adopt a common ratio between gold and silver, for the purpose of establishing the international use of bi metallic money and securing a fixity of the relative value between those metals. The resolution was referred to the finance committee.

The president sent to the senate the nomination of Alex. J. D. McCook of the Sixth infantry to be brigadier general.

The house committee on military affairs directed a favorable report on the bill to revive the rank of lieutenant general of the army.

Indian Outbreak Threatened.

PIERRE, July 11.—An outbreak is predicted between the hostile Indians at Cheyenne agency. A fight with their chief Big Foot and the Indian agent occurred yesterday. Big Foot objected to the beef rations. He left with a number of his men and it is feared a battle will occur between him and the Indian police sent to arrest him.

TERRIBLE DISASTER.

A Steamboat Blown Up and Many People Killed.

THE WRECK TAKES FIRE.

Adding Horror to the Disaster—The Search for the Bodies Among the Wreckage—Horrible Scenes.

CHICAGO, July 11.—A frightful explosion occurred to-night on the steamer Tioga, one of the largest vessels on the great lakes. Thirty-eight people were aboard at the time, and when the work of rescuing the survivors, which commenced almost instantly, was well under way, only two could be found who escaped unhurt.

To make matters worse a fire broke out on the wreck and huge volumes of flame and smoke impeded the searchers for the dead and dying. The bursting of the steamer's boiler was caused by an accident. It was in the Chicago river at the foot of Washington street that the explosion occurred.

This locality is in the heart of the business section of Chicago and the explosion brought hundreds of people running in terror out of the tall buildings several blocks away.

While the fire was still in progress an Associated Press reporter met Captain Phelps, of the ill-fated steamer, on the forward deck. The officer said:

"I arrived here last evening from Buffalo, in command of the Tioga and we were unloading at this dock when the explosion took place this evening. I was in the freight shed on the dock when I heard a terrific noise, and running out saw the north quarter of the vessel enveloped in steam. All of the crew of 25 men were either aboard at the time or were on the dock, or in the freight house. I found after a careful search that all but three were accounted for and safe. Those three, all from Buffalo, were the second engineer, George Hard, the lookout, E. S. Walley, and a deck hand, Wm. Cuthbert. Besides the three missing who belonged to the crew, there must have been from 12 to 15 other men killed, and probably half a dozen additional wounded. They were laborers in the hold who were doing the unloading. Eight colored men are positively stated to be below, and 6 or 7 others were at the hatches aiding their fellows in lowering down. The explosion occurred in the hold, not in the machinery or the boilers as near as I could see, and was probably in some combustible freight stored there."

It appeared that the explosion occurred just after the porter, Wm. Palmer, had gone below with a lighted lamp. He had scarcely reached the deck again when the wreck came. It is said that 200 barrels of oil were among the cargo and that these had become ignited. Others insist that the explosion must have been due to a tank of water in the boilers.

Up to 11:30 to-night nine dead bodies had been recovered from the wreck and five more wounded conveyed to the hospital. It is estimated $75,000 will cover the damage to the vessel and cargo, which is fully insured.

Engineer Haig and steam fitter Evans cannot live through the night.

A clear idea of the explosion was obtained about midnight when the boilers and cargo could be examined. The boilers seemed intact. The cargo was kerosene, gasoline and cotton. The inference drawn is that the leaking of the kerosene saturated the cotton and generated a gas which ignited when the lantern was taken into the hold.

A MANIAC'S CRIME.

He Murders His Father and Mother in a Brutal Manner.

NASHUA, N. H., July 11.—This morning at Warren Holtz's farm house near West Wilton Edwin Holtz, a milkman, brutally assaulted his mother, crushing her face with terrific blows. He next dragged his sick father from the bed to the fireplace, where he pounded his head to a jelly, killing him.

In the meantime the neighbors arrived and a desperate battle ensued before Holtz was finally captured. Two of the neighbors were badly wounded in the fight. Last Sunday Holtz told his mother he felt strange and thought something should be done with him before he harmed the members of the family. Holtz was taken to the asylum to-night, he being pronounced insane.

EVERYBODY KNEW IT.

Muldoon Says the Great John L. Sullivan Is a Blackguard.

NEW YORK, July 11.—William Muldoon has come out with a long reply in answer to the remarks made by J. L. Sullivan, in which he says the Mississippi affair has cost him nearly $2,000, besides the loss of time and discomfort, yet Sullivan has never ceased to vent his spite against him.

Muldoon says that he and Mike Cleary were Sullivan's seconds, yet had to pay their own expenses and their fines, and added:

"I will put Kilrain in the ring weighing 205 pounds, and I will bet $250 that he wins the fight in less time than it took Sullivan to win the last from him, when Kilrain went into the ring weighing only 178 pounds. There would be plenty of money in such a fight, as Kilrain can get backers for $10,000. As badly as Sullivan has acted through the whole matter I don't care to see him whipped by a negro."

HE WAS AN AMERICAN.

And Defended a Lady in True American Style.

LONDON, July 11.—On Monday night, when the Bow street riot was at its height, the Countess of Shrewsbury, with her escort, Sydney Webb, of New York, left the opera house and entered her brougham to be driven to her residence. The vehicle had made but little progress when it was stopped by the mob and quickly surrounded. Several ruffians wrenched off one of the carriage doors and others seized the countess and attempted to drag her to the ground and strip her of the diamonds she wore, which were of great value. Webb sprang to the defense of the countess and dealt her assailants several telling blows. Both he and his companion were rapidly becoming overpowered when they were fortunately rescued. Just at the moment when it seemed that the countess would be dragged into the street troops of life guards came dashing against the crowd, scattering the rioters in all directions. Soldiers assisted the coachman to replace the broken door of the vehicle and conducted the countess and her escort beyond reach of the mob.

Mrs. Field, of New York, had a similar experience, except that her assailants, most of whom were women, stopped her carriage and attacked her with even greater violence than the male rioters visited upon the Countess of Shrewsbury. Mrs. Field was also rescued by soldiers before the theft of her jewels, the object of the attack upon her, could be accomplished.

A MURDERER HANGED

Gallagher Fights Like a Demon on the Scaffold.

HE WANTED NO PRAYERS.

He Causes a Sensation by Trying to Escape—Details of the Execution—Witnessed by Hundreds.

PORTLAND, July 11.—Edward Gallagher was hanged at 1 o'clock this afternoon, at Vancouver, Wash., for the murder of L. Timar, an aged farmer, who lived near the Cascade Locks. The crime was committed on the 9th of last November, but the discovery was not made till the 15th of that month, when the dead body of the victim was found lying in the field near the dead man's house, pierced in the breast with a rifle ball, and with a charge of buckshot in the shoulder.

A SLEEPLESS NIGHT.

"I am feeling pretty well," said Gallagher to the reporter's leading question, "but slept only three hours last night, or this morning, rather. I could not get to sleep till 2 o'clock and awoke at 5 o'clock, just as day was breaking."

"Are you prepared to accept your fate?" asked the reporter.

"Fate!" returned he; "O, I'll come out all right yet. I only need time to clear myself. The people are with me and if I could only get some of my friends here to say a word for me, I would soon be out," and a bright cat-like light shone from his eyes as he spoke. He did not seem at all nervous indeed, he was astonishingly cool, and smiled nearly all the while he was speaking.

Gallagher was only a boy, being but 24 years of age. His hair is long and black with a small growth of coin whiskers with sideburns and a full black mustache. He says he was born in Chicago, and that his parents are dead, but he has a brother and a sister in the east.

THE GALLOWS PREPARED.

Full preparations had been made yesterday for the execution. The gallows were constructed within a temporary court, twenty feet high and 100 feet square in one corner of the block. The boards of the enclosure were nailed on so far apart that cracks of two inches in width were left for the hundreds of assembled spectators to see through. Practically the execution was public, and the pretense of privacy was only a farce.

DECLINED RELIGIOUS SERVICES.

A few minutes before 1 o'clock Father Schram visited the prisoner but the latter was obdurate on the subject of spiritual consolation, and promptly told the priest that his services could be dispensed with.

At 1 o'clock sharp, having eaten a hearty meal, he was taken by Sheriff Flemming, Deputy Slocum from his cell into the enclosure. The place was crowded by a motley lot of men and boys. Outside, looking through the openings, were nearly a score of women and girls.

The trio, accompanied by the priest, five deputy marshals and two reporters, mounted the scaffold. At the first step Gallagher faltered, and had to be assisted by the sheriff to climb the stairs.

When the floor was reached Gallagher sat down on a bench and was again importuned by the priest to look to the Almighty for help, but the doomed man only laughed and said: "All the praying you could do in a year wouldn't do any good. Besides I can see away. I have done no wrong. I did what was right and am not sorry for it.

"This situation might be worse. Yet I can't go on that thing," meaning the drop; and the man's eyes played first upon the crowd and then on the scaffold. "I have no request to make."

The sheriff then told him he could address the audience, but he said he would rather not. Being urged, he said to the crowd that he was not prepared to make an elaborate speech, but hoped that at some other time he might be more entertaining. He bowed to the audience, who had remained perfectly still and stepped backward. He said to the sheriff as he did so that he was not guilty of murder and that he would come out all right. He tore the air of an insane man throughout, and when the deputy sheriff read the death warrant, he interrupted him by saying that it was useless, as he knew all about it. When the document was finished the officers proceeded to handcuff the prisoner.

HE FOUGHT FIERCELY.

When the officers took him by the arms to strap his hands, Gallagher fought like a demon, and so great was his strength that the combined efforts of seven men were required to do the work. They scrambled all over the scaffold and many spectators turned sick with horror.

Then came the work of tying his feet. The fight continued, and only by laying the man on the floor and holding him fast could they be secured by straps. Then he was stood upon his feet. His eyes flashed fire as if they were in the head of a mad dog. His lips were drawn and bitten by his closely-shut teeth. All the while a wild laugh was breaking from him, and he was in a paroxysm of frenzy. When he was tied, he was placed on the trap, where the black cap was adjusted. He was supported by two officers till Sheriff Flemming pulled the bar and the trap fell. The body dropped like a shot, a distance of seven feet, causing instant death. The neck was broken completely. The body quivered, but not a voluntary muscle moved. In a few minutes the body was cut down and taken in charge by Coroner Gridley.

RAILROAD WRECKS.

Wholesale Suits Against the Southern Pacific for Damages.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—Suit was filed in the superior court to-day against the Southern Pacific railroad company by Wm W. Craig, who demands $50,000 for injuries sustained April 30, while brakeman on a train near Monterey.

Louis Ohlmerus and Elizabeth Ohlmerus sue to recover $50,000 for the death of their son, employed as fireman on the same train, and who was killed in a wreck.

L. Silberberg, one of the passengers on the Southern Pacific Coast train, which, on May 30, ran through a draw on Oakland creek, has sued the company for $10,241 for injuries received.

AMERICANS OUTRAGED.

Three Baptist Preachers Dragged to Prison in a Cuban City.

NEW YORK, July 10.—Three Baptist ministers, one of them an American citizen, were dragged through the streets and imprisoned on a false charge by Cuban authorities. This was the news received in this city from Havana to-day.

The outrage took place at Guanabacoa. Rev. Albert J. Diaz, general superintendent of the work of the American Baptist missionary society in Cuba, accompanied by Rev. Angel Godinez, had gone to Guanabacoa to conduct a revival. Meetings had been held for some time and had been fairly successful until last Thursday night, when four civil guards entered the house and placed three preacher under arrest. They were charged with holding meetings in a private house without having secured a license or permit from the authorities as the law requires. In spite of their protests they were dragged through the streets and locked up in prison. They are still treated as common felons. Dr. Diaz is a naturalized American citizen, although he has labored in Cuba for 12 years.

THE CATHOLIC BISHOPS.

The Pope Arrests the Appointment of Bishop Bourke.

ST. LOUIS, July 11.—A special telegram to the Western Watchman brings news from Rome that the pope has arrested the appointment of Bishop Bourke as bishop of the diocese of Omaha and Cheyenne. The importance of the news arises from the fact that it is evident that the propoganda will not sanction the roman appointment as against the recommendation of the congress of American bishops. The bishops will again recommend Brady. As it is the action shows an unprecedented regard for the American bishops' recommendations and it is thought indicates that the time for the arbitrary government of the American church promotions by the Italian propaganda has passed.

A BLOODY FIGHT.

Rival Town Officers in Texas Fight a Pitch Battle.

DENVER, July 11.—A telegram, received by the News from Ysleta, Texas, says that a pitched battle took place there to-night between two local factions, both of which claim control of the town government. At a recent election each side claimed the election of their ticket. Both mayors and council were sworn in and the town has had two governments since.

A later special says the fight has ceased, but both sides hold their ground and it is impossible for any one to venture out to discover the number of dead or wounded.

The telegraph operator there wires that he can count six dead bodies from his office window.

Prizes Awarded.

MILWAUKEE, July 11.—This afternoon the Hastings division, K. of P., was awarded first prize for drill, $1000; Erie division, second prize, $800.

The Hill Farm Mine Disaster.

DUNBAR, Pa., July 11.—The coroner's jury in the investigation of the recent Hill Farm Mine disaster returned a verdict finding Supt. Robt. Long criminally responsible in causing the death of the men.

Ohio Democrats.

ORVILLE, Ohio, July 11.—The democratic convention to-day nominated John G. Warwick for congress on the 74th ballot. Warwick is in McKinley's district.

A California Town Burned.

DELANO, Cal., July 11.—A fire broke out this afternoon in a livery stable and destroyed two-thirds of the business portion of the town.

A MINISTER'S CRIME.

He Splits His Rival's Head Open with an Axe.

A WOMAN WAS THE CAUSE.

A Ferry Landing Gives Way and Precipitates 700 Men, Women and Children Into the Water.

BIRMINGHAM, July 11.—At Avondale last night Rev. D. B. Martin, a Methodist preacher, killed Samuel Walker by cutting his head open with an ax. A woman was the cause of the tragedy. Martin was in love with Susan Williams and had been paying her attentions for some time, which were coldly received. There was a church supper in the village last night and Martin asked the girl to accompany him there. She refused and later accompanied Walker to the festival. The couple had only walked one block when Martin came up behind them with an ax and with one blow split his rival's skull open. The girl fell fainting to the ground. The clergyman fled and has not been captured.

ANOTHER DISASTER.

A Ferry Landing Collapses With a Hundreds of People.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 11.—A terrible disaster happened in Dartmouth to-night. A ferry landing stage, while crowded with one hundred and fifty persons, collapsed and precipitated them into the water, causing an immense loss of life. The bodies of five ladies are already recovered.

The number of victims can not be known till to-morrow. The disaster happened by reason of the chain attached to the ferry boat slipping out of place and allowing the front of the bridge to sink and precipitate a crowd of 600 or 700 men, women and children into the water.

The terror stricken crowd slipped off into the harbor, piling on top of each other shrieking for help and scrambling for means of safety. Dozens of men leaped to the rescue of the drowning people who were rapidly passed up to the men standing above on the wharf, and the rapidity with which the rescuers performed their work resulted in a great majority of those who fell in being saved from death. Up to 1 A. M., four bodies have been recovered.

THE RACE PROBLEM.

The Views of a Southern Supreme Judge.

ST. PAUL, July 11.—At the session of the teachers association, Judge Gunby, of the Louisiana supreme court, delivered an interesting address to-night on the race problem, which he said not only concerned the south, but the whole country. It will not settle itself.

It must not be let alone; it demands brave thought and determined action if we would solve it by a bloodless revolution.

All the trouble in the south arises from political jealousy of the negroes and whites, which threatens to utterly destroy the new-born progress of the south.

ARRESTED FOR PERJURY.

A Husband Who Aided His Wife in a Murder.

NAPA, Cal., July 11.—Christian Merkle has been arrested and charged with perjury. His wife was convicted last month of the killing of Joseph VonWyle, and after her conviction he filed an affidavit that he did the killing, making statements contrary to what he testified at his wife's trial. The court disregarded the affidavit and sentenced the woman to prison. Now he is to answer to a charge of perjury.

A HORRIBLE AFFAIR.

A Maniac Kills His Mother and Eats Her Body.

DUBLIN, July 11.—Intelligence has reached here of a horrible affair at Ballyneale. John Hart murdered his mother and chopped her body to pieces. When discovered Hart was lying beside the remains eating a portion of them.

Negro Murderers Hanged.

BIRMINGHAM, July 11.—This afternoon Alfred Cooper, colored, was hanged for the murder of Jeff Googor. He confessed his guilt.

NEW ORLEANS, July 11.—Wm. Johnson, colored, who murdered his paramour, Octavia Dillon alias May Banks, April last, was hanged to-day. His neck was not broken, and he died of strangulation.

A Detective from Siuslaw.

A private detective from Siuslaw was in this city last night looking for a fugitive from Seattle. He spotted a well known citizen, but before trying to make an arrest the citizen and his friends seized the detective and took his revolver away from him. He had papers and a star, and was very angry, and tried to get the policeman to arrest the men who took his revolver away, but was unable to do so.
