EDITORIAL NOTES

THE judgment for $5000 found against two prominent White Caps of Indiana will put a damper on the organized lawlessness which has posed under the guise of moral reform. The two men who have been so heavily mulcted took part in the whipping of a man charged with a foul assault on a girl. The proof of his guilt was not convincing, and as his health was shattered by the beating he brought suit for $10,000 damages. After over three years of litigation he has finally succeeded. Hoosier White Caps, as well as all other amateur reformers, may take warning from this case, as it will be used as a precedent in any future damage suits of this kind.

NEWS from any of the Central or South American countries passes through so many interested hands that it reaches us in a highly distorted condition. No one can tell just what has happened on the border of Salvador and Guatemala, nor what is going on in the Argentine Republic. Everything is rumor, and it is doubtful if one sent the correct facts whether they would not be "doctored" in the telegraph office. The same system was seen in the recent revolution in Hayti. For several months victory alternated between the two factions, and just before Hippolyte's final success a detailed report was received declaring that Legitime's triumph would be assured in a few hours.

AMID all the growls and grumbles over the census business, it is refreshing to find even one burg that is satisfied and happy over the result. The N. Y. Tribune relates of one such instance. It is Binghamton, the consummate flower of Broome county. Finding according to the returns—which she has no desire of going behind—that her population has doubled in ten years, she is so proud and happy that she talks of giving her feeling expression in a formal jollification. Her Mayor has issued a congratulatory message, her Board of Trade is devising ways and means of making the most of her big boom, which it feels confident is presently to begin, and each one of her citizens is going about fervently exclaiming: "I am a Binghamtonian." We extend to this shining light of the empire state towns the assurances of our distinguished consideration.

THE sensible suggestion is made by the Chicago Herald that the postoffice department place letter boxes at the depots of all regular railroad stations for the accomodation of the traveling public. At present one may easily write a letter or a postal card during a stop at the station, or even while the train is in motion, but the difficulty is to post it. It is seldom that any except express boxes are placed at railroad stations, and time does not permit of a trip to the main street of the town to search for a box. In this way the traveler is balked in his natural desire to let his family or his friends know of his safety. If revenue is any incentive to the Postoffice Department this scheme ought to find favor with Secretary Wanamaker, as the increase in letters mailed would pay for the boxes within three months.

WHETHER the birth rate of the United States, as the census will indicate it, is growing or falling off is not only an interesting but a very important question. This, quite as much as the desire to learn the total population, will create an interest in the full census returns. It is one of the things which will be known latest, owing to the amount of and kind of figuring that will be required to ascertain it. Not including the war period, the latest rate of increase in our population was 30.08, that being the rate during the ten years ending with 1880. Superintendent Porter places the increase of our population during the decade that has just closed at 29 per cent. This increase will not justify the speculations of sanguine persons who have predicted a total population little, if any, under 66,000,000, whereas the total is liable to be under 65,000,000. This suggests a falling off in the birth rate, a state of things which has been neither expected nor desired.

THE manner in which the New Jersey wife goes after her too effusive husband, is certainly effective and energectic, even if it does not result in the reformation of the too promiscuous husband, as it probably will not. The family name is Close, but it seems to be unappropriate to the husband, as he was anything but close, and on the eventful evening in question was distributing his attention to two ladies. His wife, disguised as a colored woman, approached and and was so indignant that she flew at him with a zeal and impetuosity of a veritable Nemesis, using a cowhide, fists and finger nails. Then she distributed a like castigation upon the ladies found in company with the recreant, until their apparel was not as fashionable as it was. Only the threats of arrest could cool the ebullition of her anger and cause her to desist. Probably for the interests of her young children she had much better have taken a less conspicuous way of dealing with the difficulty.

Great Slaughter.

G. W. Simpson has made a great slaughter in prices on all summer goods to close them out namely:
Lawns that we sold of 12½ 15 @ 16⅔ reduced to 8 cents. All wool challies that we sold for 20 25@ 30 reduced to 15 cents.
Challies that we sold for 10 12@ 16⅔ reduced to 7 cents.
Satteens that we sold for 16⅔ 20 25@30 reduced to 15 cents.
And a general reduction on all our summer goods. Look at display and prices in the window.
G. W. SIMPSON.
