Chief Engineer C. H. Stewart and Councilman F. M. French are each suffering from an injured leg caused by running to the fire Thursday evening.

It is an acknowledged fact that Matthews & Washburn's hardware and stove store here in Albany is the largest and has the best display of stoves and ranges in Oregon.

An advertisement of Bernard Levy's spot cash "Racket Store," will be found in this issue. He has opened a stock of ladies and gents furnishing goods on first street opposite the Masonic Temple, and is offering some great bargains.

Dr. J. W. Strange, supervisor of the census for Eastern Oregon, has assumed the editorial charge of the Pendleton Tribune, J. B. Eddy retiring. He is in position now to fully explain how the census happens to fall so far short of what was expected of it.

Ashby & Neill sold yesterday the grocery business of Montague & Son, on the corner of First and Ferry streets to C. A. Elson from Kansas, who will materially enlarge the business, rearranging the building so as to add to the grocery business a general stock dry goods.

The Watchman of the Celilo cannery recently attempted to cross the Columbia too near the rapids and was carried into them. He jumped onto a rock in mid stream, from which the Indians agreed to rescue him for $125. A white man performed the act in 15 minutes and did not charge a cent. Noble red men.

The McMinnville Reporter says: Apperson is offering a premium of an overcoat and dress pattern to patrons of the McMinnville creamery furnishing the most cream during July and August. He has an interest in the creamery to be sure, but there is a commendable feature of public-spiritedness in the offer, as it shows an effort to stimulate one of the important industries of the county, that of the dairy.

B. E. Craig, of Ellensburg, says he is the inventor of a current wheel that can be operated by the natural flow of a stream, no expensive dam or high-priced machinery being necessary to operate it. It can be placed anywhere on a large or small stream, where there is a tolerable current. He says he can use the whole of a stream as large as the Yakima river, or any portion wanted, and he can multiply the power to a wonderful extent, or he can elevate the Yakima river 100 feet, and furnish a large amount of power for any purpose needed.

The Jefferson Review says: "We have it from a reliable source that Mr. E. Goin, of Scio, has made a proposition to Corbett & Macleay which, if accepted, will result in the Jefferson Mills being sold to him. If the transaction is carried to a successful termination Mr. Goin will assume all liabilities except the claims of the farmers and the claim of Mrs. Grant, and take complete control of the mill at once. It is well-known that Mr. Goin is a live business man and should he be successful in this undertaking he will be accorded the best wishes of our citizens and tendered a hearty welcome to our midst.

Cumming, druggist, Blumberg block, Albany, Oregon.

EXCURSIONISTS.

A Party of Eastern Sight Seers Pass Through.

There passed through this city at 8 o'clock last evening a special train of excursionists from the Middle states. This party was composed of one hundred or more business men from the cities of New York, Brooklyn, Baltimore, Buffalo, Philadelphia and other Eastern cities. These gentlemen came to the Pacific coast not only to view the splendid scenery, the agricultural and mining resources, but they came likewise for the purpose of attending the annual shrine to be held in the city of San Francisco, beginning Tuesday night. The visit of these gentlemen to this coast is one of great importance, for they will be able to see with their own eyes something of our own valleys, hills and mountains that must be seen to be appreciated, and can only be understood by the people of our distant Eastern states when viewed in person.

Salem gave them a feast of fruits and watermelons and a right cordial reception, commensurate with the importance of the capital of our state.

Many of the citizens of Albany were at the depot to greet them as they passed through, but through lack of concert of action no display was made. They were a jolly crowd and seemed to be highly enjoying themselves.

Formerly of Salem.

The Statesman has the following concerning a man formerly known to many in this county: "A telegram from Colfax, Wash., under the date of July 30th, is concerning a young man who used to live in Marion county. Benjamin Blanton, the murderer of Thomas Glick in Colfax last December, was sentenced by Judge Ruby this afternoon to twenty years in the Walla Walla penitentiary and $1000 fine. Blanton made a rambling statement to the court, attempting to condone the crime and was very nervous. The sheriff takes him to prison to-night. He is broken down in health and will never live out the sentence. Blanton was convicted in the superior court, soon after the murder, of murder in the first degree and sentenced to hang March 28th last. The supreme court reviewed the decision and ordered that he be sentenced for manslaughter only, as the indictment was defective for murder in the first degree. He was given the full penalty for this degree."

A Rich Strike.

G. T. Frankum, who left Pendleton some time ago to inspect the Greenhorn section, writes to a Pendleton friend under date of July 23, that he has struck the extension of the Morris mine, which prospectors have been endeavoring to locate for several years. The find is very rich in silver, and assays $462.25 to the ton. Mr. Frankum considers that he has struck a bonanza. William Turner, who came down Sunday from the mines, confirms Mr. Frankum's statement. The ledge is from three to four feet in thickness and of undoubted richness. Another discovery was also made by Mr. Frankum, who appears to have met with phenomenal good luck. He ran across a ledge which had been searched for five years without success. This second ledge averages about four feet in width, and will assay all the way from $4 to $600 to the ton. Neither of the finds have been developed sufficiently to determine their worth. They are rich in promise, however, with a wealth of "great expectations" yet unrealized.—East Oregonian.

Off For Yaquina.

Both the regular train and the excursion train for Yaquina bay yesterday was well loaded. A large share of the citizens of Albany and vicinity took the occasion to visit Oregon's salt water pleasure and health resort. These excursions to the seaside are becoming a popular institution and will continue to grow in favor.

A Sure Cure for the Whisky Habit.

The antidote can be given in a cup of coffee without the knowledge of the person taking it. The Antidote will not injure the health in any way. Manufactured by the Livingston Chemical Co., Portland, Oregon, or from J. A. Cumming, Druggist, sole agent.

Gun Found.

Some emigrants hunting in the mountains between the McKenzie and Camp Creek recently, found the Winchester rifle that belonged to the lost boy, Thos. Judkins. It will be remembered that Judkins never returned from a hunting trip several years ago and that his remains were afterward found. A man with him also soon after disappeared and it was suspicioned that he made way with Judkins and left with the gun. It was filled with cartridges.

The Tramps Were Worsted.

The crew of the south-bound passenger train that arrived in Ashland Tuesday morning had an experience with two or three tramps who seem to have been visiting in the neighborhood of a "gall" factory lately. When the train stopped at Grant's Pass the hobos were put off and told to stay, but they "would just like to see the brakeman that could keep them from riding if they wanted to" and they were on the platform again when the train pulled out. As the train was getting out into the suburbs of town, one of the brakeman who had thus far been able to induce one of the tramps to climb off, pulled the bell rope and stopped the train, at the same time giving his trampship a lift that landed him on terra firma. Starting again Engineer McCartny next became the object of the tramps' wrath and they commenced firing stones into the cab, making it decidedly dangerous for the engineer and fireman for a while. This was more than "Mc" would stand so he stopped the train, left the engine in charge of the fireman a few minutes and went hobo chasing. It is reported that "Mc" found a shot-gun at a house not very far away, for a man answering the description of one of these tramps called on a surgeon at Grant's Pass shortly after the affair happened and asked to have a few shots extracted from the calf of his leg, remarking at the same time that the hardest crew to "work" that he ever struck was on that train 16. These fellows probably will not attempt to run a train on this division again very soon.—Tidings.

Insane From a Dog Bite.

Frank Kissinger, well known on Fall creek where his father John Kissinger resides, had a horrible experience a short time since that may result fatally or cause a permanent loss of reason. He was engaged herding sheep near Pilot Rock in Umatilla county, and on Thursday of last week while playing with his dog, a very intelligent sheep dog, it snapped and caught one of his hands; in endeavoring to free the hand his other was caught and bitten through the thumb. Then he fainted, and from that time, about 11 o'clock in the fore noon, he knew nothing until 4 o'clock when he regained his senses and found his hand still fast in the mouth of the dog which was dead. The day was extremely warm and flies had blown the wounds made. With a butcher knife he pried open the mouth of the dog and released the hand. He left the sheep and went to the home of his employer who procured a physician and dressed the wounds, but shortly after he became violently insane, and was taken to Pendleton four men being required to restrain him. He was committed to the asylum at Salem and is now confined therein. The superintendent gives hopes that he will soon recover his reason. The dog had not previously or at the time shown any symptoms of madness, and it is thought that he had been poisoned by strychnine as the poison had been put out in that vicinity.—Eugene Guard.

Coming to Oregon.

Mr. W. L. Dalton, of Dallas, who several weeks ago went on a visit to the East, has returned, bringing with him thirteen families, who have settled in Independence and Dallas. Many immigrants are now on the way to Oregon, and this fall there will be a larger exodus from Missouri and Iowa. The poorness of crops caused by droughts, and alarming freqnency of cyclones, cause them to come to a land which rejoices in never failing crops, which nature has provided with everlasting hills and green forests, both to minister to man's love for beauty and to enable him to reap the harvest of industry.

New Principal.

The Corvallis Leader says: Z. T. Hawk, of Audubon, Iowa, has been chosen as principal of the public schools of this city, to fill the position held by School Superintendent Yates last yeat. Mr. Hawks was highly recommended to the board of directors and will no doubt fill the place with credit and to the best interests of the school children. The assistants for the coming year are Mrs. T. Callahan, Misses Maud Hoffman, Francis Harris, Diana Newton and Jennie Lilly. The school will reopen about the middle of September.

The Wheat Crop.

Farmers of Oregon have cause to feel in good spirits this year. The wheat crop is heavy and the prices are advancing. A grain dealer of this city said yesterday that the wheat of Linn county is of as good quality as ever harvested. The grain is plump and is free from wild oats or weeds. The price in this city is 64 cents. A small choice lot sold the first of the week for 69 cents. The shortage in the old world is bound to make fair prices this year, and farmers ought to be properous.

Woman's Discovery

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus write W. C. Hamrick & Co. of Shelby, N. C.—Get a free trial bottle at Foshay & Mason's Drug Store
