MR. BONNEY'S AWFUL FATE.

Particulars of the Sad Accident Which Resulted in Her Death.

A Wanic, Wasco county, correspondent sends to the Oregonian the following particulars of the death by fire Mrs. John Bonney, of Hubbard, Marion county, who was at the time visiting her daughter, Mrs. Samuel Broyles, which was briefly mentioned in the telegraphic dispatches.

"Mrs. Broyles, having lit her mother's pipe, went to the corral, a short distance away, to milk, leaving the old lady alone, sitting in her chair, smoking. She had been absent perhaps some fifteen minutes, when she was startled by hearing her mother cry 'Oh! I'm all on fire!' She ran to her mother's aid as fast as she could, screaming for help, which soon came, but not until the poor woman was fatally burned, her clothing being nearly consumed. She lived in great suffering for twelve hours, when death came as a welcome relief. It never will be positively known how she caught fire, but the supposition is that she turned the contents of her pipe into her lap, which set fire to her clothes, which were of cotton material, easily ignited.

Mrs. Bonney was one of the early pioneers of Oregon, crossing the plains in 1845, with her husband and several small children. Many are the startling adventures she could relate of her early life, especially of the Indians, which harassed them along their route to their new home in the far west. Their provisions failing, they spent the winter of 1845-6 in California where the few white people had to remain in forts to protect them from hostile Indians, starvation shared them in the ice many times during that long winter.

In the spring they started by trail with a pack train to Oregon, there being no road at that time. Mrs. Bonney was born in New York in 1808. At 3 years of age her parents and relatives were all massacred by Indians and herself escaped and left for dead, where she was found and cared for by strangers.

She was married in 1831. Her husband died in 1856. She leaves eight children to mourn her loss. Mr. Truman L. Bonney, Mr. Wm. E. Bonney, Mr. B. F. Bonney, of Clackamas county, Mrs. Amanda Rossener, of Clackamas county, Mrs. Martha Rhoads, of Tualatin, Washington county, Mrs. Flora Hutchinson, of Marion county, Mrs. Ellen Bidwell, of Drain, Douglas county, and Mrs. Samuel Broyles, of Wanic, Wasco county.

Made a Good Selection. The Oregonian states that the council decided that the stone to be used for the trimming of the City Hall, many persons have examined the specimens on view in the office of the auditor and clerk and the stone has met with very general approval and it may be considered that the selection of Clackamas granite committee, has made a good selection. The stone has been used in Ashland for the past twenty years with good satisfaction, and is claimed to be as durable as granite and to stand fire as well as fire brick. The council examined a good many kinds of stone submitted, and experts say they used good judgment in their selection. As the stone is a product of this state, and a company of business men here have formed a corporation with $50,000 capital to operate the quarry, use of this stone will be the means of retaining considerable amount of money in the city and state.

A Favorite Eastern Star. Mrs. Granger, who will appear at the opera house next Thursday is a former leading lady of Wallace's Theatre, The Union Square, Dalys and several others of the principal New York theatres. She first visited San Francisco with the famous Diplomatic company which created such a furore there several years ago. During the past two years she has not played west of Chicago, her engagements having been confined exclusively to New York, Boston and Philadelphia and the larger cities of the East. A large guarantee was offered her to come to San Francisco after the successful production of her new play "Inherited" in which she will appear here. The sale of seats opens Monday morning at Will & Link's store. There will be no advance in prices.

Wants the Bull Fight. The McMinnville Reporter man is evidently preparing to move to Mexico, where he can enjoy his favorite amusement. Witness his latest: "There are some respects in which the Mexican bullfight possesses advantages over a ball game as a resort for Sunday recreation and merriment. The spectators do not take sides by betting on the result of the game, and the nature never decides a point in favor of the bull when he is fairly knocked out. For a quiet, orderly, Sunday afternoon entertainment, give us the bullfight all the time."

Why Not Call the Earth Tacoma. Salem Statesman: Tacoma people are soliciting the authorities at Washington to change the name of Mount Rainier to Mount Tacoma. These same people would, doubtless, like to have the name of Commencement bay changed to Tacoma harbor, Puget Sound to Tacoma sound. They even wanted the new state named Tacoma, and some of them even persist in calling the Pacific ocean the Tacoma.

Died of Diphtheria. At Tangent yesterday at 12 o'clock Roy Witzell, 9-year-old son of B. A. Witzell, died of diphtheria. The other cases are improving.

HERE AND THERE.

A cannon ball that was fired from the steamer Decatur, while defending Seattle against the Indians thirty-five years ago, was found by the laborers, in excavating at the corner of Second and Cherry streets, Seattle, for Dexter Horton's new building. It is a twelve pounder.

Frank Horton, aged sixty years, was killed on the canyon road, between Scott bar and Fort Jones, says the Jacksonville Times, while hauling supplies on a sled to the road workers in the canyon. He lay upset with him on a steep hillside, causing his death, as well as demolishing the entire outfit. The casualty occurred about six miles below Member's place.

Parties from the Kogee river report that that stream was low and clear and the boating line Sunday, while on Monday it had swollen very high and could hardly roll along on account of the thickness of the muddy red water—far thicker than ever seen before, even during the worst part of winter. The supposition was that there must have been either a big slide into the river above to dam it up and then turn loose or that there was a big storm and waterpout up in the vicinity of Big and Little Butte creeks, as the storm in Bear creek valley was unable to produce so much mud.

Wm. Randall, of Jackson county, a farmer of Chimney Rock precinct, aged 35 years, went out hunting Saturday with a party and became separated from the others. The accidental discharge of his rifle sent a ball in his leg below the knee, following the bone up and lodging in the thigh, where it severed an artery and he bled to death. He leaves a wife and five children.

A cloud-burst occurred on Salt creek, Jackson county, last Sunday, which raised that little stream to even a higher point than it attained last winter. It was accompanied by a copious shower of hail stones, many of which were larger than walnuts. Much damage resulted to the growing gardens and crops of Meyer & Son, William Messel, J. Hochstetern, J. Sevecke and others.

Where is Milton Douthit? The Sunday Oregonian says: Mr. Milton Douthit, a well-to-do young farmer, residing three miles from Vancouver, Wash., went up to Salem on Tuesday, the 12th inst., with $2000 in his pocket, to pay for a farm he had bought near Silverton. He lodged that night in a logging house in the Reed, or Opera House block, and on the morning of the 13th was seen there by John Jacob, of this city. He said he was coming back home the next day, and nothing has since been heard of him. His family are much distressed at his absence, as he is only expected to be gone two days, and his harvest is left awaiting threshing. He has a wife and six children, and is not a drinking man. It is feared some harm has befallen him.

Painful Wound. A very serious and painful accident happened to an 8-year-old son of James Q. Hatcher, across the river in Benton county Sunday evening. The boy and his brother were playing in the yard, and ran around the corner in different directions, meeting at a corner. One of the boys had a sharp stick in his hand and when they met it was lowered so that it struck his brother on top of the head, inflicting a wound about four inches long. Dr. W. H. Davis sewed up the wound, and the boy is getting along nicely.

Arm Broken. Walter Bilyeu, youngest son of W. R. Bilyeu, while riding in a "merry-go-round" on the public square in front of the court house Sunday evening, had his misfortune to fall off and break his left arm. It might be consistent with the public welfare if these whirling affairs were relegated to the obscurity of some lumber room, never to rise again, or else run on more careful and consistent plans.

A Big Display of Art. Wilcox & Conn have opened the gallery on Second and Ferry street and have on exhibition the finest collection of photographs and hand made portraits ever seen in Albany, and the artistic taste displayed and the fitting of the entire building shows that they are artists and not merely mechanics.

Removal. The Delmonico restaurant is being removed into the Strattan building, near Price & Robson's, where a strictly first class house will be conducted. Fresh oysters will be kept constantly on hand. After dinner to-day no meals will be served until removed.

The denouncement of the Farmer Jones, of Marion county, affair comes in the announcement in the Statesman that he has succeeded in getting married. "Cupid has captured Farmer's W. R. Jones, of Marion county, who was burned out of $5000 recently by sharpers, who knew he wanted a wife and put up a job on him. A few days ago his children applied for a guardian for him. This morning Jones, who is 70 years of age, married Miss Cynthia Ella Harlan at the residence of Mr. Brenan, at No. 7 South Fourth street, Justice Wood performing the ceremony and the Brenans acting as witnesses. The lady is fair, frisky and 30, and is said to be happy in her choice. She is quite a belle, and thinks Jones is just to port. Jones is credited with saying that he had his pick of forty, and that Miss Harlan was the best of the lot."

Don't fail to have your old worn-out wingers repaired at the Wagon Shop, next door to Mitchell Lewis Co., on Second street.

Oregon School for Deaf Mutes.

P. S. Knight, superintendent of the school for deaf mutes, has issued an announcement to parents and guardians of deaf children. Among other things he says: "The time for opening of the session of 1890-91 is near at hand. Experience has taught the managers that it is useless to attempt regular work before the annual state fair, and the date of opening has been fixed for Monday, September 22, on which day pupils will be received and enrolled. Regular class work will begin Wednesday, September 22, and parents are kindly requested to have their children on hand promptly. Tardiness in beginning is a serious detriment to efficient class work, and teachers will be encouraged and greatly helped in their work if every pupil is in place the first day. Benjamin Irving will continue to serve as head teacher, and Glenn Pierson and Miss Lizzie Early as assistants. Efforts will be made to improve in many ways the discipline and efficiency of the school."

Badly Frightened. The track viewer on a railroad bicycle came across the bridge and trestle at Jefferson last evening ahead of the evening trains. As he was passing a cut short distance this side of Millers some one called to him to hal, but he did not stop. A second person then said, "I'll make him halt." Immediately thereafter a gun was discharged, and the man pulled out for Albany on a 2:40 depot. When he arrived at the depot, Marshal Hoffman was sent for and he Nightwatch McClain went back with the man to catch the shooters, but they had escaped.
