EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE extremes to which relic-hunters will go is oftentimes ghoulish. A number of these cranks have succeeded in getting small pieces of Kemmler's flesh, which they take delight in exhibiting in bottles. Anything more unnatural or disgusting can hardly be imagined.

THE city of Heppner is having a hole in the rocks drilled to obtain artesian water. The hole is down over 600 feet, and the looked-for water still not found, but the indications are good, and the citizens propose to bond the city to finish the job. They possess the right kind of pluck.

YAMHILL and Polk counties are in dispute over the line between them, and propose to settle the question by having the line surveyed and monuments erected. The discussion of the subject was brought about by each county trying to saddle the expense of trying an Indian murderer upon the other.

DURING his lecture tour in this country Stanley will be carried from city to city in a splendid palace car now being built for that express purpose. Traveling in this luxurious way is somewhat different from plodding on foot through the dangerous jungles of Africa. Stanley will realize this, but at the same time will not forget that it was not through a Pullman palace car or comfortable traveling that he got his great reputation.

THE democrats talk very loudly about the dissipation of the surplus in the national treasury, but they forget to mention the highly important fact that it is melting away because Secretary Windom is redeeming bonds and reducing the interest account of the government. Cleveland's secretaries preferred to loan the surplus to favored national banks to speculate with, and made no effor's to reduce the interest charge.

APROPOS of the recent narrow escape of an express train on the Shore Line railroad from a serious accident, a dispatch says: "The railroad officials give it out that the air-brakes refused to work." Not long ago we were assured by an eminent railroad authority that such a thing as the refusal of air-brakes to do the work expected of them was an impossibility; that in case of any derangement or accident to the machinery the brakes would set themselves and bring the train to a stop. Public confidence in the air-brake will not be stimulated by such a report as that which comes from New Haven, and if the cause of the trouble was not the brakes it is a wrong to the traveling public to throw the blame on that part of the train's equipment.

THERE is no more important police duty to be done anywhere in the country at the present moment than the detection and arrest of the unspeakable villians who attempted to wreck an excursion train on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad on a recent Thursday night. Their main purpose failed, but they succeeded in killing three men, and their fate can, therefore, be made in some slight degree commensurate with their crime, if only they can be captured. To that end every possible effort ought to be applied without a moment's delay. No crime in the calender bears with it the possibilities of resulting human suffering and loss of life as does the one of train wrecking, for it always carries with it the possibilities of indiscriminate and wholesale slaughter and maiming. Therefore the most strenuous efforts should be put forth to put a stop to it.

THE effort to reduce the postage upon letters to Great Britain from five cents to two cents comes suspiciously near to the proposed subsidizing of steamship lines—the really first competition to the carrying of the mails that has appeared upon the surface for many years. As is said, it is possible that this is a spontaneous movement and that its only object is to cheapen postage between the two countries, but there is some ground for the suspicion that the proposal coming at this particular time, has some bearing on the question extending aid to American steamships. England has enjoyed a monopoly of the mail-carrying business for several years past, and English steamships have had a nice thing of it, but now that there is likelihood of competition in the near future, rates are to be put down. It was ever thus with John Bull. As long as he is able to control things he keeps up prices, but as soon as any one attempts to put a spoon in the pudding he at once takes measures to crowd him out.

A MIDSUMMER ITEM.

Some Pointers That Will Save Money to Housekeepers.

Go and see that beautiful gold watch at the "Golden Rule Bazaar." Julius Gradwohl the proprietor of the Golden Rule Bazaar informs us that he has the Prize Baking Powder, and No. 1 Japan tea, expressly put up for his business, and for the benefit of his customers, each box of baking powder will win a piece of fine glassware, and also each pound of the tea will win a piece of fine glassware, and customers who buy one pound of tea or a box of baking powder, which is warranted, will have a chance on that beautiful gold watch. He has also added a fine assortment of family groceries to his mammoth stock of glassware and crockery, which is the largest in the Willamette valley. Go and see Mr. Gradwhol at the Golden Rule Bazaar, and you will see that nothing is misrepresented.
