PRIVATE TYPEWRITERS.

How a Fair One Took Advantage of Her Position.

You have no idea to what an extent typewriters in the departments—the operators. I mean, not the machine—are utilized by their superior officers to do private work during office hours, says a writer in the Washington Critic. Any number of government officials who want to be authors have their manuscripts type written in the department free of charge Of course, it is all one to the department typewriter whether the work is for the government or not, but it is a great injustice to outside typewriters, who thus lose a great deal of work.

I can tell you a pretty good story in this connection. Up in our department there is a lady, the daughter of a distinguished general now dead, who does a good deal of writing for the cheaper class of magazines, and always has her manuscripts copied by one of the type writers in the department. One day she took the manuscript of a short article, written for a well known woman's magazine, to a young woman who had recently been appointed as copyist in the department to have it transcribed. The young woman, it seems, had had some dealings with magazines herself, and, not being troubled with conscientious scruples, she made two copies of the article, mailed one to a periodical to which she had before sold some matter, and under some pretext delayed delivering the other one to its author for some time. The article was promptly accepted and a check for it sent to the typewriter. Then the author of the article mailed it to the magazine for which she intended it, and a few days later there was an explosion It seems that the typewriter, as such would have it, had mailed the stolen matter to the very same editor that its rightful owner had intended it for. The offer of a copy of manuscript which he had already accepted or paid for actually caused the editor to institute an inquiry, which in a very short time led to an explosion of the fair typewriter's duplicity. She and the author had an awful row, but the latter couldn't very well lay the matter before the chief and ask for the girl's dismissal, for of course she had no right to have the matter copied in the office, and didn't care about having the fact that she had exposed. She will, however, have her manuscript copied elsewhere in the future.

Take Simmons Liver Regulator One Dose

WORTH

100 Dollars!

DEAR S. L. B: I consider one dose of Simmons Liver Regulator worth $100. I was constipated, had Headache, could eat nothing with satisfaction or appetite had the blues, and felt altogether out of sorts. I resorted to Blue Mass, Calomel, Quinine, and every remedy suggested, but only obtained temporary relief. One dose of S. L. R did me more good than $100 worth of doctors and doctoring. Resp'y, J C MARTIN.

I have been a teacher for twenty years, and during that time have had repeated attacks of headache, produced by torpid Liver, and have been entirely cured by Simmons Liver Regulator. I found it to be of so mild a character in its action, as not to interfere, in the least with my duties in the school room, to those similarly situated and subject to the same, I cannot too highly recommend Simmons Liver Regulator.

Don't fail to have your old worn out wringers repaired at the Wagon Shop, next door to Mitchell Lewis Co., on Second street.
