MARY SCHLOSSER ELOPE.

She Leaves on Monday Night's Train With James Schmidt.

Albany has a real romance another young girl is the victim of misplaced confidence. Monday evening's train carried away one of Albany's most beautiful young ladies. Miss Mary Schlosser and Julius Schmidt, for some time in the employ of John Schmeer as a cab driver, left for California, where it is expected they will get married. The elopement has been planned for some time, and they worked a very smooth game. Miss Schlosser told her parents that she was going to visit some friends in the country, and left the house about 2 o'clock Monday and stayed away all the afternoon until evening. About 8:30 o'clock she started for the Southern Pacific depot, in company with friends, taking a train for California, and remaining in the baggage and until just before the train started, when she stepped aboard the last sleeper, and ere this she is across the California line. Schmidt also had a nice little story to tell, which was circulated to remove all suspicion. On Saturday last he told Mr. Schmeer and several others he had received a telegram from his sister at Ashland, Oregon, stating that she was very sick. Monday evening, about 6 o'clock, another telegram was fixed up, which contained the sad (?) news that his poor sister was much worse and not expected to live and asking him to come at once. In the evening he rode to the train as usual on the cab, just as the train came in drove away, and when the train started was seen to jump on the first car. Schmidt came to his job about a year ago and became acquainted with Miss Schlosser soon after. His family are highly respected people, living in Jacksonville, where he was married to a Miss Ross. His wife was with him here for several months last summer, and it is thought they had separated, but that no divorce existed. Such being the case it will be impossible for him to legally marry Miss Schlosser, but what such a man as he would do it is impossible to tell. He prided himself on his ability as a "masquerade" and was always repeating some of his conquests. Miss Schlosser's parents are among Albany's most estimable and highly respected people, and Miss Mary was a refined young lady and has hosts of friends here in Salem and Corvallis, and wherever she was acquainted, and surely is not aware of the character of the man Schmidt.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

What Was Done At Last Evening's Short Session.

The board of Jas. Laurent was approved. The petition for a foot bridge on West Baker street between Seventh and Ninth streets was granted. The resolution was introduced to draw on the city of Hillsborough for the amount due on No. 1's old engine—$400. The street commissioner recommended that 7th street between Railroad and Jackson streets, adjoining blocks 16 and 17, be blackened by gravel, also a new sidewalk on the south side of First street, adjoining lots 3 and 4, block 110; referred to the committee on streets and public property. The report of city surveyor Barr in the matter of the grade of Water street at its junction with Main street, Hill and Main streets was referred to the committee on streets and public property. The street commissioner was instructed to procure the flushing out of the lower end of Railroad street sewer. The following bills were allowed: John Schmeer, $24.00; Eugene S. P., 5.00; W. E. MULNOMAH'S POPULATION.

What Has Been Gained by Re-counting the People.

Superintendent Porter telegraphed Mr. Leand to give to the Portland chairman of enumerators the results of the second enumeration, which was done on Monday evening's meeting. The re-enumeration shows that Multnomah county contains 75,257 inhabitants. This shows a clear gain of 14,257 over the last butched census enumeration. Of the 75,257, Portland and suburbs contain 42,442. This would leave 32,815 for the county outside the city, fully one half of which belong legitimately to Portland and suburbs, and are only separated from them by imaginary boundary lines. A very imperfectly correct and fair basis of estimation, there would be 6475 inhabitants to add to this city and suburbs, thus making a total of 68,917. Indeed there is every reason for the statement that not more than 6000 inhabitants reside in the county outside the city limits. It should also be stated that between 4000 and 5000 more names were collected and turned in, but were not added to the above figures, for the simple reason that the houses on either side of the street could not be definitely located by the enumerators. These were mainly the names of persons employed by a number of the large corporations—principally railroads—who though they properly claim a residence in the city, are away most of the time, traveling in the interest of the companies or firms by whom they are employed, or temporarily engaged in work elsewhere, but who could not be seen in person by the enumerators. In a great many instances, the corporations in whose employ these men are, furnished Mr. Meach the names, but for the specific reason given, the lists were omitted. Had these names been added, it would have swelled the sum total to at least 80,000.

ELECTION OF DIRECTORS.

The Golden City Company's Future Prospects.

The Golden City Mining Company of Albany, have elected as their directors for the year next ensuing, the following named gentlemen: E. J. Lanning, L. H. Montayne, J. V. Pipe, C. E. Brownell, Cal. Burkhardt, G. W. Wright and Geo. P. Harris. At a meeting of the following officers were elected: President, E. J. Lanning; vice-president, G. W. Wright; secretary, L. H. Montayne; treasurer, Cal. Burkhardt. This company owns a group of eight valuable claims in the vicinity of the Albany Mining and Milling Company's claims, and the assays laid down its property to be equally as good as that company. The Golden City Company have not made much of a stir, but have quietly for the last year had competent men at work on its claims, and now has assumed in stating that their mines are destined to prove as valuable as the far-famed Cour d'Alene mines. Stock in this company is believed to be good property, and the directors contemplate, ere long, to add another stamp mill to the fast becoming celebrated Santiam mining district.

OBITUARY.

Hazel Winnie Porter, infant daughter of John S. and Irene E. Porter was born May 18th, 1890 and died near Harrisburg Oregon, Sept. 3d, 1890, of congestion of the lungs. As kind hands laid away the precious little treasure, we answered the cry of the mother-heart, "Can I ever see my baby again?" with scripture assurances. Obedience to the gospel of Christ will enable us to meet her dear little ones again. "Ere sin could taint or sorrow fade death came with friendly care: The opening had to heaven conveyed and bade it blossom there."

GALE.

You talk about "gale," says one of Albany's leading hotel men. Why, whole families will get off the train, crowd into a hotel bus, ask the runner to look out for their small baggage and bring it to the hotel, then go to the parlor, ask for ice water, wash rooms, etc., make themselves at home, or more so for several hours, ask when the bus will leave for the next train, give strict instructions to be sure and see that they do not get left, "kick" because there is no elevator connected with the hotel and find numerous faults about the place generally. They will never go to a restaurant to get the meal, or what is often the case, get a lunch with them and make a dining room of the hotel parlor, then ride back to the depot and get out even though the landlord is in trouble. A hotel man is in the same boat with the country editor. They both have to do too much work without pay therefor. Is it not a pity that these "free bus" passengers should be so well treated? Hotel rates are very low and these who don't care to walk should give a nickel in the street car lot, Oregon, and not all over the state, though it is about the only place where passengers are carried free brand from hotels. It is an expensive luxury to run these cars, and especially to accommodate people that never spend a cent for the pleasure of riding.

A Watermelon Frolic.

A thrashing crew, near Stead, one day last week, went into a neighbor's patch and helped themselves to melons, to the extent that the owner thought was beyond the proper demands of absolute rights of property. He therefore had several pulled up before Squire Ellison on the charge of larceny. Several of the boys acknowledged the taking of the fruit of the vine and paid their fine. The others concluded to stand trial, which was fixed for Monday. But before the hour of trial came the owner of the melon patch was so pacified that he returned to prosecute and the suit was dismissed.

Hop Lice.

A. C. Hanson brought a bunch of hops to our office that was covered with genuine hop lice. They have made their appearance on the McKenzie river in Lane county to such an extent that pickers are obliged to stop picking. They ruin the hops. Only a very few have been found in this neighborhood, not enough to do damage. Mr. Hanson commenced picking Monday. He has a splendid crop just in the edge of town.—Brownsville Times.

Fell From a Wagon.

Del. Stinson, while riding out to the depot yesterday noon in Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express wagon fell out head first very severely in the sack end of the wagon holding a baby carriage, and when crossing the Southern Pacific track was pitched out on his head, knocking him senseless.

I sell only the most reliable make of shoes and guarantee every pair as represented. E. C. Searis.
