Expensive Bug Exterminator. The Ochocho Review says: A few weeks ago a gentleman living near Astoria, whose house was infested with bed bugs, sought to destroy the vermin by burning sulphur in the house, and by some mishap the house caught on fire and it was with difficulty the building and contents were saved from destruction. As it was several hundred dollars damage was done to the house and furniture. The premises were insured in the State Insurance Company, and the adjuster for the company, Col. W. F. GAS DISCOVERED.

It is Found Near the Santiam. Only Eight Miles From Albany.

Some wood shot men, who were getting out maple wood for the use of the Albany chair factory on Mr. Elias Maxwell's place, on beyond Knox Butte, observed a peculiar formation on the water of the creek or sloughs near the Santiam. One of the men had been at the place where the natural gas was found in Lane county, and the similarity of the two localities occurred to him. A stick was run down through the water into the gravel, and when it was drawn out and a lighted match applied it blazed up with a steady flame for a second or two. A lighted match also ignited the vapor upon the water. Yesterday Mr. Maxwell took out a gentleman from this city, who is interested in such matters to view the locality and pronounce upon the genuineness of the discovery. The result of the investigation will be looked for with interest.

A MATTER OF INTEREST.

To the Editor of the Herald.

The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company has many friends in Albany, and counts among its policy holders a good number of your best citizens.

I hand you for publication a letter received a few days since from Staver & Walker, which explains itself. The payment of the policy was simply the fulfilling of a contract, and is not deserving of special merit. I call attention to it, however, for the purpose of awakening interest on the subject of insurance, and in this company. Our dividends have for a number of years been larger than any American company. This is owing to conservative management, Western rates of interest, and a low rate of mortality. The N. W. Life is purely a United States company. It declines to write insurance in South America, Asia, Africa or any foreign country. Our risks are the best in the world and the death rate the lowest of any of the large companies. A number of your merchants and bankers, who have policies in the N. W. Life and other companies, frankly state the cost of insurance in our company has been much the lowest, owing to the larger dividends. We refer to them with much pleasure and to the letter below for the custom of the company in the settlement of claims. E. S. Barrows, Portland, Ore., Sept. 3, 1890. General Agent Northwestern Mutual Life Ins. Co., 50 Stark street, City.

Dear Sir:—We have the pleasure of acknowledging New York draft for $25,000, handed us by you in full settlement of policy No. 210,292, issued by your company to the late Mr. W. H. Walker, of our firm. We desire to express to you our appreciation of the prompt manner in which this policy has been paid, as also of the business-like manner in which the entire matter has been handled by you and your company.

Application for this policy was made by Mr. Walker on June 15th, and the policy issued on the same date. The death of Mr. Walker occurred on August 12th, he being mistaken for a deer and accidentally shot and instantly killed by a number of our hunting party, while hunting in the mountains about 65 miles east of Eugene City, Oregon.

Mr. Walker, as you know, was a hearty, robust man, and the promise of a long life was made, and had been so long kept, regarding the benefits of the insurance, only being prevailed upon to take out a policy in your company less than a month before his death. The policy being taken out by him on his birthday, the 15th of July.

It seems almost providential that he should have taken out a policy just at this time, after having deferred doing so for years, and certainly this experience brings strongly to our minds the benefits to be derived from life insurance in a good, reliable company, such as yours has proven itself to be.

The family and friends of Mr. Walker are under many obligations to you and your company for the manner in which the loss has been adjusted, the money in payment of the policy having been received just a few weeks after the proofs of death were furnished, and were forwarded to your company. We wish you and your company the prosperity and success that they so richly deserve, and with much esteem, remain, Yours very truly, FRANK L. BROWN, Sec.

A Collision. There was a collision at Woodburn Monday evening between a Southern Pacific freight and a narrow gauge mixed train. By the transaction the latter line had a car loaded with wheat knocked from the track and demolished. The freight was delayed several hours, arriving in Albany about 4 o'clock yesterday morning and remaining until 12:30 P. M.

Hop picking has been progressing steadily for the past week, and the product in most instances is of a good quality, although in some localities complaint has been made of injury by hop lice. The yield in this section is over average, and the price for picking had seen advance from 10 to 15 cents per box.

The past week has been one of uninterrupted prosperity for the citizens of Brownville, fortunate to record, no disease and no misfortunes to chronicle, business has been good and our town is steadily improving, building is progressing new dwellings are constantly going up, and real estate is changing hands at advanced prices.

An Enjoyable Entertainment.

The Oakes Swiss Bell Ringers and Comedy Sketch Club, which occupies the opera house in this city on the evening of Sept. 22, gains the following encomium from the Lincoln, Neb., Journal: "A very enjoyable performance was given by the Oakes Swiss Bell Ringers and Comedy Sketch Club at the People's Theatre last evening. The audience that greeted the first appearance of this company here was large and enthusiastic, and for nearly three hours the house rang with the plaudits of the crowd. The Sketch Club came to Lincoln unheralded with glittering and overdrawn press notices but the entertainment of last evening fully demonstrated the fact that the company travels on its merits, and the sign of approval manifested on all sides was evidence enough that the performers were artists in their line. The bell ringing by John and Alice Oakes, made a decided hit, each resulting being met with a storm of applause. The wonderfully sweet music brought out by them from tumblers partly filled with water was duly appreciated. Frank Hollister exhibited his powers as a specialty comedian in his act 'The Yankee Farmer from Squashville' in a manner that fairly convulsed the audience; he introduced old-time dances, songs and stories of candy pellings, parrot-bug, corn huskings in irresistible down east twang. Mr. Hollister is an actor of experience and unlike many comedians of the day, he does not overdo his acts. Harry Edles also appears in a number of sketches in which he displays to a remarkable degree to what uses the facial muscles may be put. His imitations of different characters in every stage of physical development, in which the face merely figures, were marvelous exhibitions. His sudden facial changes were most humorous and grotesque. The violin playing by Mr. Korn and the harp solos by Alice Oakes were very good. The performance was a good one and proved a success."

Their stock of buckles, gloves, handkerchiefs and new veiling cannot be surpassed.

The Oakes Swiss Bell Ringers and Comedy Company when their appearance here about a year ago, are coming again. They will be here on the 22d of this month, and will be greeted by a full house, for they are good. On their appearance at Harney, Baker, the leader of that place said: "Those who attended the vocal and instrumental treat at the opera house last Saturday night pronounced the Oakes Swiss Bell Ringers and Comedy Sketch Club a little out of the common order of traveling troupes. They frequently stirred the tongs in attendance, who favorably expressed themselves in relation to the entire exercise. The solos were excellent. The English comedian, Harry Edles, with his mirth evoking melody and his funny faces, interested the crowd amazingly. Frank Hollister, the artistic banjoist and character vocalist, was engaged to the echo. It was an acceptable and interesting affair. The company will do well to come again."
