The mineral resources of Oregon are becoming more and better known, and their extent is legion. Mr. Joseph Miller left upon a noble yesterday a specimen of a dark mineral, supposed to be plumbago, a four foot vein of which he, with three others, discovered near Monroe, in Benton county. The find is supposed to be very valuable.

The Corvallis Times says that Mrs. E. A. Chapman, of Philadelphia, had a narrow escape from death yesterday. The family had been living near the base of Mary's peak all summer, and on yesterday were loading their household effects in a wagon to remove to Philadelphia. Among other things was a shot gun which Mrs. Chapman undertook to load in the conveyance. The gun was accidentally discharged and the contents entered her arm above the elbow. It made an ugly wound but will not result seriously.

P. J. Sullivan, the field who assisted Carrie Bradley to murder her husband, and threw his body in the Willamette at Portland, was arrested recently at Sisson on complaint of a woman for assault and battery, says the Valley Record. When the case came in court and the woman testified the woman jumped at her and with her "kicker" her in the ass. The trial was postponed until the next term of thirty days for contempt, but the woman's court refusal to stand account of a legal testimony.

A militia company has been organized at the Mount Angel college, under the supervision of one of the professors, an old Union soldier of the late war. Company drill in the manual of arms is taught twice a week, and before many months the boys will compare favorably with any military organization in the state in all that pertains to the science of the soldier. Following are the officers of the company: Captain, John Kavanaugh, of St. Louis, Oregon; first lieutenant, John Krutts, of Mount Angel; second lieutenant, William Markham, of Mount Angel; orderly sergeant, Christ. Fox; second sergeant, Thomas Casey; first corporal, Hugh Smith; second corporal, Thad. Mettlin. The company is armed with United States Springfield breech-loaders, furnished by the war department.

Killed a Deer and Found a Mine. The Pendleton East Oregonian says: J. H. Robbins returned last night from his trip to the Oregon-horn mountains, where he went to locate a ledge discovered by his brother, Tom, during a hunting trip with Albert Gilman and Chas. Benson. Tom's rifle had brought down a fawn which stood on top of a ridge, with its easy range, and the prize the three hunters found the ledge. Samples brought down by Mr. Robbins show the ore to be rich in gold and silver. Two claims may be located, and named the "Chippie" and "Venezere" mines.

Weather and Crops.

H. F. Hayes, master stationer, and E. S. Paine of the U. S. signal service, assistant, constituting the Oregon state weather bureau, have issued a circular letter and mailed it to over a thousand farmers, horticulturists and stock raisers through-out the state. The letter is as follows, and the replies are expected to bring together much valuable statistical information: "I have the honor to request that you write me a brief account of the harvest in your vicinity, for publication and general information. Answers to the following questions are especially desired: What is your principal crop? How much did wheat, oats, barley, rye and hay average to the acre? Was the field an average one? What was the quality? Was the average of any crop larger or smaller than usual? About fruits: Were they injured by the weather or by insects? Has the average of orchards been increased? Do peaches and corn do well in your vicinity? What is your section especially suited for—i. e., for fruits, cereals or stock? Include any other item of general information that may occur to you."

Discussed at Portland. The question of changing the site of the Willamette university was discussed in a mass meeting in Portland Tuesday night. Chas. Coleridge Stratton went down to be present, and has not yet returned. What the result of their meeting will be, has not yet been learned. A gentleman informed a reporter last evening that there was a warm interest being manifested on the subject in Portland, but what they will do there or here could not be learned. If the people of Portland mean anything, it will soon be known by something more than a mass meeting.
