David L. Cowder, formerly employed in Mr. Blackman's drug store for a few months, but lately a traveling man for a wholesale drug house, has been arrested on some charge originating in Kansas, his former home, and extradited to that state to answer.

Capt. Symmonds, of the United States engineers, has received permission from the chief engineers to start up work at once on the jetty at Yaquina Bay. This fills the Newport people with renewed confidence and they are willing to back Yaquina bay against another harbor in the world. The government work will give employment to large force of hands.

A thief attempted to abduct from two young men named Palmer and Sturdivant, who were sleeping in a feed stable at Bendleton. He chained to touch Palmer's hand, who immediately awoke and the thief fled, leaving a bottle half filled with the drug. Palmer had $75 on his person and Sturdivant, who resides in Coates Prairie, $300.

The great smoke which has filled the valley in the neighborhood of Salem for the past ten days is accounted for by an item in the Silverton Appeal, which states that a big fire is raging in the Cascades. J. B. Jones, of Silverton, who has a saw-mill in the mountains, was at the scene when a messenger came to inform that the flames were spreading down upon his buildings. He selected a force of men from the congregation and hastened to the mill, which they reached just as the floor was catching and by hard work saved it from total destruction.

What an Alarmist Thinks. Jacksonville Times: Like Fort Klammath, Fort Bidwell, Cal., has also been abandoned by the military, and is now a city of the future, comprising large portions of Oregon, California and Nevada, is left at the tender mercies of several thousand Indians, who can now make an outbreak, kill our soldiers and destroy much property before the military could be brought to the scene of action. It may be more economical to mass the U. S. troops at Vancouver and San Francisco, but it is an unsafe policy of business and a great injustice as far as the people directly interested are concerned.

The Dalles Bank Robbery. A private letter from the Dalles says that the bank robbery at that city was committed by three Chinamen. One of them started to leave on Tuesday and was arrested at $2000 found on his person. He confessed to the crime and said that two other Monongahans and a Chinaman had dug a tunnel under the sidewalk and the big doors and got to the safe. It was about three weeks' work, and was well done. He was a laundryman, and no one believed him guilty until he made a confession.

Top House Burned. One top house has succumbed to the fire brand this year. Last Wednesday night about 9 o'clock Knox & Foster's top house near Cottage Grove caught fire from a defective flue and it efforts to save the building were unavailing. About 5000 pounds of horse hays were burned. Seventy-two bales had been removed from the building a short time before the fire. The property is insured for $1,000 in the American, of Philadelphia, Smith & Bush agents. The loss is estimated at $2,500 or $3,000.

Apple Raising. Many people in the Willamette valley think it does not pay to raise apples, but the reason is they don't have enough of the good varieties to attract any attention in the market. Apple raising in the East who have been of the same opinion now have cause to change their minds. The apple crop in the Ohio valley is reported a failure and on Cincinnati, firm has just paid $12,000 for the crop. The same return in Mississippi while the farm itself is not worth $5,000 ordinarily. Another firm has paid $9,000 for an apple crop on a farm which was offered last season, crop and all, for $2,000.

The Survey. City Surveyor Barr was out yesterday surveying for the new sewers. We also note that all those that like a survey of the elegant display of choice fruits and groceries at Muller & Garrett's always buy some and go home satisfied.

Queer Actions. The city is being pestered by a crowd of gypsies. Yesterday afternoon a party of them visited prominent citizens' residences and after soliciting old clothes, etc., attempted to kiss a lady who was visiting, but was prevented from doing so. In the meantime it is not improbable that some of the younger members of the tribe were in the back yard poisoning clothes from the line.

W. C. T. U. ENTERTAINMENT.

The opening of the entertainment at the opera house for the benefit of the W. C. T. U. last evening, was very successful and pleasing. The programme as announced was carried out with the exception of the duet by Mrs. Chamberlain and Mr. Prichard, which had to be omitted as both of the singers were indisposed and unable to be present. The booths were elegantly decorated and everything was of the most attractive character.

The following is the programme of the entertainment in connection with the fair, to be given on Friday evening, Sept. 26th, at the opera house in this city. Music—Orchestra. Song—Male quartette—Cantata—An Evening in the Flower Garden. Y. W. C. T. U. and others. History of Albany. Mrs. M. V. Brown. On—Mrs. Chamberlain and Rev. Prichard.

At the close of the programme a lively and enjoyable time may be expected in the examination and purchase of the various articles arranged for sale in booths representing the four seasons.

Reunion tables will be placed at the disposal of the ladies of the Union and the display of sentiments and souvenirs of Albany's pioneers will be specially attractive to the older people. The fair will be open on Friday afternoon also, and the price of admission five cents.

The Dogs and Horses. The entertainment on the evening of October 1st and 2d at the opera house in this city receives the following comment from the columns of the "Oregonian": "The entertainment is a fine one, and it is no less a paradox than the regular feature of Professor Gentry's entertainment is his stage treatment of his dumb troupe. There have been several dog shows visiting this city, but it was painful to witness them. The most interesting show had to invariably whip their animals to make them do their 'tricks.' Professor Gentry treats his animals by word and gesture. They do a great deal without either. Last night's performance passed off in an interesting feature. Seven ponies and about twenty dogs furnished the amusement. It could be difficult to say which are trained the better—the horses or dogs. The entertainment starts off with a military drill, in which all the guests participate. Following this comes various feats performed both by horses and dogs, such as rope jumping, balancing, dancing, leaping, forming pyramids, tight-rope walking, dog riding, romps, racing, acrobatics, piping, etc. It is well worth anyone's time to witness the entertainment."

Why "Lish" Applegate was "Freed". Klamath Star: The story goes that the commissioner at Washington "freed" Applegate by assuming to know more about matters at the agency than the general himself, and she sent a characteristic reply to headquarters: "Any man over three thousand miles away who thinks he knows more about affairs here than a man who is ever present, is an ass!" The despatch was promptly decided at that moment, but the revenge has been considerably delayed, the commissioner having entangled his ears in a perplexity of red tape, from which he has only just extricated them.

Bridge Work Stopped. The Salem Journal says work on the Willamette steel bridge has been temporarily suspended and all hands drawn off, the cause being the death of Engineer Emil Adler, a member of the firm of contractors, which has the affairs of the company. It is said everything will be arranged and work resumed as soon as an administrator can be appointed for Mr. Adler's estate, which will be a few days. The delay will not amount to much, as the steel for the spans is not all here and it is expected the second pier will be ready in time for it.

The Improved Roaster and Baker. In this day of inventive genius many articles are being made that are of surpassing utility. In the ordinary line, one of the most useful of these is a latest improved roaster and baker, being a very useful and desirable article for every household in the land. Mrs. A. M. Fair, of this city, has the agency for Linn county, and desires to place them in the hands of local agents in different parts of the county. For particulars address her at this city, P. O. box 97, or call at this office.

See our novelty dress patterns. They are cheap and of the latest styles. G. W. Simpson.

Novelties in wash dress fabrics. The largest stock in the city at Samuel E. Young's.

MARRIED. ASBELL-BALLARD.—In this city on Thursday, Sept. 25, 1890, by Geo. Hunt, brewer, Justice of the Peace, Mr. T. R. Asbell and Miss Fanny Ballard, all of this city.

How He Sees Us.

A copy of the San Jose Daily Mercury has reached our table, in which is a long and interesting letter from one of its editorial staff, Mr. Benson, who recently spent some time here. We have room to clip only the following: "Albany, the county seat of Linn county, was reached a few minutes before 6 o'clock Thursday morning, 23 hours having been spent in the journey. It is a beautiful little city, on the banks of the Willamette river, with a broad and fertile prairie surrounding it in every direction. The population is shown by the census to be 6000, and the townspeople here are not asking for a count. There are two banks, a woolen mill, crist mill, electric light works and street car line. The power for all the machinery used is water, which is brought in a large open ditch from a point high up on the Willamette. This water is the property of a private corporation, which in consideration of its franchise furnishes water to the municipality for all purposes free of charge. With all the plenitude of water, the city is not sprinkling done except on the main business streets and other thoroughfares and all county roads are dusty to a degree that San Joseans can scarcely comprehend." Mr. Benson in the course of his letter makes some very pertinent observations, but when he says there is a cry "Barley is never seen," will cause you to a broad smile to illumine the faces of many of our farmers.

Fun on the Wheel. This a progressive age, and the state in which our lots are cast is leading the procession in several ways. Western Oregon boasts of having laid bicyclists, the latest eastern sensation. And they don't ride velocipedes or scooters either. Some of the girls who are out riding are not the regular old Columbias. As a consequence several of the aforesaid ladies wear large quantities of court plaster. It is useless to remark that the ladies who are nursing wounds are being precipitated from the "bike" are not so loud in their praises of that machine as they were.—Salem Statesman.

Railroad Work. The grades on the Oregon Railway making the dirt up to about 40 or 50 tons are at work. The grading is about completed from Oberg to the McKenzie river and a force is now at work on this side of the river clearing a way through the timber. At the rate they are working it will take but a few weeks to complete the grading to Springfield. The foreman of the engineering crew, the foreman of the grading crew and two other men working on the Oregonian Railway were arrested Tuesday on complaint of Henry Spores for trespass, he claiming that they had been working off of the line surveyed and off of the right of way strip. The case was set for hearing October 7th, and until the matter is settled the graders will work at their points. Eugene Register.
