READY FOR A VOTE.

Senate Closing Up the Debate on the Tariff Bill.

SENATE MAY ADJOURN TO-DAY
Proceedings in Both Houses in Congress Yesterday—An Amazing Display—Bill Passed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Senator Aldrich is still hopeful of getting a vote on the tariff bill this evening. He is still speaking. It is expected that Allison, Spooner and Aldrich will follow him. Gibson, of Louisiana, may also address the senate before a vote is taken. There are eighteen absentees, as follows: Republicans—Foster, Morrill, Spooner, Stanford, Teller and Washburn—six. Democrats—Berry, Brown, Call, Eastis, George, McPherson, Payne, Tappan, Vance, Vest Jones and Falkner—twelve. Pairs for the vote are not yet completed. Dolph is paired with Brown and Packard with Eastis. Packard will, however, vote with an explanation, and Eastis, if present, will also vote against the bill. If a vote is reached to-day the finance committee, Aldrich says, will report a resolution providing for the final adjournment to-morrow morning. The adjournment to take effect at a later hour in the day.

IN THE SENATE.
House bill to promote the administration of justice in the army, was passed with a verbal amendment.

A resolution containing the select committee on the irrigation and reclamation of arid lands during the present congress, was agreed to.

Deficiency bill of $10,316 for compensation of men in the army, was passed. A motion to reconsider by Mr. Morgan was entered.

IN THE HOUSE.
A joint resolution was passed for the printing of 54,000 copies of the annual report of the commissioner of labor.

Joint resolutions were passed appropriating $10,000 to enable the postmaster-general to visit at small towns and villages the system of free delivery.

On motion of Morrow, of California, a bill was passed relinquishing to the city and county of San Francisco the state's title to the land located near the Presidio military reservation.

A discrepancy has been discovered between the tariff bill as enacted and the conference report. It appears the error is not substantial, and relates to the numbering of certain sections. The conference committee in drawing up the report neglected to make allowance for the action of senators in striking out the vinegar sections, and carried the numbers forward. Trivial as were the errors, they gave much concern to the managers of the bill, and they are yet in doubt as to what course shall be pursued.

The conference report cannot be changed, and it will be found necessary to correct the errors. This will probably have to be done by joint resolution.

The house has agreed to a current resolution directing the clerk of the senate to insert in the envelope the number of the enrolled tariff bill.

MURDERER BIRCHALL.
He is Watched to Prevent His Committing Suicide.

WOODBRIDGE, Ont., Sept. 30.—While Birchall was being taken to jail last night he made the only comment on his conviction and sentence. He said: "Here's a how do you do; I have had pretty tough luck all through." He reached his cell at about midnight. He arose at a usual hour this morning, ate a hearty breakfast, and appeared not at all depressed. Mrs. Birchall did not learn last night of her husband's fate. She was in a highly excited condition, and the physicians gave her an opiate before the verdict was reached and she slept soundly all night. This morning she was told of the verdict in the presence of a physician and bore up bravely. It is believed she will recover sufficiently to sail a week from to-morrow for England, on the Germanic with Mrs. West-Jones.

No one is allowed to see Birchall this morning without an order from the sheriff. The strictest watch is kept over him, and he is believed he will cheat the gallows yet by suicide.

White Caps Commit Murder.
BRIMMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 30.—Widow Jane Cody was taken from home Saturday night in Calhoun county by white caps. She broke away and ran when a volley was fired at her and she fell, fatally wounded. The sheriff is searching for the perpetrators of the outrage.

The Jackson (Tenn.) Woolen Mills Company has assigned; liabilities, $10,000; assets not yet ascertained. The failure grew out of the recent failure of the Jackson bank.

THE WEARING OF CORSETS.

The Habit of Tight Lacing is Gradually Falling Into Disuse.

The habit of tight lacing is indeed falling into disuse, not, however, from conscientious scruples on the part of women as any injurious effects the practice may have upon one's physical or mental being or may transmit to the detriment of their descendants. No; reformers may rail and physicians creak, deistic and godless and materialistic and unenlightened creeds, drapers' and matinee dress revivals flourish where uncorrected exhorters and evangelists in divided petticoats picture to the unregenerate the present depravity and ultimate degradation both moral and physical, resulting from honest laces and laced stays.

Occasionally a susceptible woman, laboring under a strong conviction that she was really well, with the desired change of heart goes about for a week in a healthiest and most comfortable dress, and then, when the excitement is over and she finds that she is growing a fraction of an inch larger about the waist, she returns to the "world, the flesh," and so forth, and laces herself more tightly than before.

"When," as a quaint little dealer in corsets expresses it, "a woman is getting too much complexion on her nose, just where she doesn't want it, and too much development upon her abdomen, just where she abominates it, all through tight lacing, then and not until then will she let out her corsets and wear them as she should. You see, the philosophy of it is this: Tight corsets produce the internal rearrangement of the most delicate and sensitive organs of the body, and besides, they retard the circulation."

Anything which tends to send the blood to the head in undue quantities affects the circulation of the face, and the nose, being the most prominent member, is the first to hang out the danger signal to the distress of the owner. The multitudinous and infinitesimal malveins and cells, distended in an unnatural manner the greater part of the time, ultimately result in a strike which the unscrupulousness of other hard laborers, and refuse their work of contraction, even when all obstacles are removed and hours are shortened to their liking, and the results in a permanent and dangerous condition, causing great annoyance and vexation.

Of course in a fleshy nose the result is most disastrous, and the circulation is more apparent, while in the feature's cartilage, when they were all up, twenty or so, and the effect is not so palpable and distressing. There is nothing which really harrows the soul of a pretty woman as much as an old-fashioned nose member, and the time and trouble they take in decorating with powder would, if given to any specialty in art, rank her with the Angelos and Raphaels of history. To be sure, she is rather an imprecise artist, but it is her enthusiasm, her energy, her single-mindedness of purpose, that would bring her glory.

Buried Alive For A Year.
A writer on East India jugglery, there he tells us of the wonderful trick of having the baby fall down from the clouds, containing his remarkable narrative the wonders of Oriental legerdemain, says: "It is impossible to fathom their secrets of working apparent miracles. These fellows have very scanty clothing and apparently no apparatus whatever. I have seen them do it, and I have seen them do it in the air, each numbered from one upwards. As each went up, and there was no deception about their going up, it was seen clearly in the air getting smaller till it disappeared from view altogether. When they were all up, twenty or more, the operator would politely ask you which ball you wanted to see, and then would shout out at the top of his voice, 'number fifteen,' 'number seven,' 'number fifteen,' and so on, as instructed by the spectators, and when the ball demanded would fall violently at his feet as though coming from great height. I don't know any American, English or French sleight-of-hand performer that could equal that feat. Then, too, it is an authenticated fact that some of these jugglers, on more than one occasion in recent years, have suffered themselves to be buried alive, and have been dug out alive and well after the lapse of a year!"

WIRE CLICKINGS.

FROM SIBERIA.

Awful Story Told by an Escaped Exile.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—The Examiner this morning prints a two-column interview with Egor Lazareff, a Russian fugitive from Siberia, who is at present in this city. Four months ago, by secret means, he made his way through the lines of Cossacks which encircle Irkutsk, and traveled on foot, on horse-back or by water to Nikolausk at the mouth of the Amoor river, and on the Pacific coast of Northern Siberia.

Lazareff's misfortune dates back to 1874, when a political outbreak in the province of Volga resulted in the seizure of 2000 prisoners, including himself. They were given no trial nor even told of what they were accused. He served four years' imprisonment, and was then drafted into the Russian army before Kars. Later on he was again arrested and served another year's imprisonment. Again, in 1884, a political uprising in the province where he was practicing law, caused his arrest, and he was sent to Siberia for three years.

Lazareff said that if once arrested, whether for cause or not, a Russian continues the object of suspicion, and is liable to arrest any time, and may be thrown into jail without even knowing the charge against him.

In February, 1888, he was seized on a charge of having written a political address during a former term of imprisonment, and for one of the year was sent to Siberia for five years.

In August a party of five prisoners, of which he was one, began a trip on foot to Irkutsk, which they did not reach until the following February, having traveled thirty or thirty-five miles a day through rain, snow and fog, over the frozen plains and mountains. Men, women and children were chained together and the female prisoners were subjected to insults not only from fellow-prisoners, but from their guards.

They had scant and poor food and little sleep marked the whole long journey.

At Irkutsk, Lazareff states that the lie the prisoners led was even worse than that at the prison of Cheta. Every indignity was of fered to the prisoners and the only thing that kept many of the unfortunate alive was the hope of ultimate escape. Although the prison and city were surrounded by an almost endless chain of sentry boxes, Lazareff and one other finally managed to escape one dark night.

They took separate roads for freedom, and though pursued, Lazareff eventually managed to reach the coast and board a British steamer for Japan.

He arrived here September 17, and his whole desire is to meet George Keenan and help on the movement to bring the whole subject of Siberian cruelties before the czar.

The Conspiracy Cases.
DUBLIN, Sept. 30.—Interest in the conspiracy cases was divided to-day between the high court of justice here, and the magistrate's court at Tipperary. Application this morning was made before Judge Holmes of the high court for a writ to prohibit the Tipperary magistrates proceeding with the hearing of the arguments, on the ground of bias. The arguments are likely to be of great length. At Tipperary the reading of extracts from speeches of the defendants was continued by the prosecution to prove that tenants had been invited by them not to pay rent.

Clothing Manufacturers Assign.
BOSTON, Sept. 30.—Raphael and Lewenberg, dealers in and manufacturers of clothing have assigned liabilities $200,000. The creditors are mostly large wholesale houses in New York and Philadelphia.

NOTES FROM OUR NEIGHBOR.

TANGENT, Or. Sept. 29.

Johnny Houck has been home on a visit to his parents who gave a social in honor of the event and a very enjoyable time was had. He returned to Portland his place of business on Saturday last.

A farewell social was given Miss Bessie Settlemire by the young folks of this place, who passed the evening in an enjoyable manner. Miss Bessie will start for Portland next Thursday where she will attend school the coming winter.

The M. E. church building is almost finished and is a very fine building.

The ladies of the M. E. church south are making preparations for placing a fence around the church property here.

Frank Simons and Miss Emma Frink were married on the 27th inst., and then went on their wedding tour to his father's at Soda-ville.

The public school at this place opened to-day with Prof. Dan Looney principal.

Tangent and vicinity certainly must be a religious and temperance community as there is no saloon in the vicinity, and six churches within a radius of six miles, two east, and two west and two in Tangent.

Mr. J. M. Williams near here has rented his farm and will move to Albany soon.

Mr. Alf. Blevins has rented his farm to Mr. Claus Minard.

We understand that Omer Vernon has rented the Nanny farm and has taken possession.

The harvest is past the summer is ended and the grain is all saved.

Fall ploughing and seeding has commenced among the farmers. Mr. C. P. Knighten has a large acreage of wheat already sown which looks nice and green.

His Cate Card Case.
One day a well-known Murray hill beauty came into a shop, and after glancing about, cautiously approached one of the clerks. "Do you make card cases from any material?" she asked. Yes, miss, was the reply. "Very well, then, I have brought it with me," she said, producing a small parcel. The clerk was about to open it when he was interrupted with the request: "Please don't look at it until I am gone. You will find the written directions inside."

Then, with a slight blush, she hurried out of the shop. "There was a mystery!" the young man unrolled the paper which wrapped it. What's this? A long glove of lavender kid, and pinned to a slip of paper marked "for cover." He smiled, and the clerk looked surprised as he discovered a red silk stocking labeled "For lining!" But his astonishment reached its climax when there tumbled out a dainty, little garter, perfumed, and bearing unmistakable evidence of having been in use. This was unaccounted "binding."

Only A Year Till Judgment Day.
According to Prof. E. James, colored, the earth has little more than twelve months to stand. Prof. James is a charapodist with an international reputation. He has traveled much and removed corners and unions from the crowned heads of Europe, so to speak. In his odd spell a he turns his mind loose on prophecy, and after a careful study of the stars he is compelled to fix August 21, 1891, as the grand shake-down and wind-up of the universe.—New York World.

OUT OF PRISON.

After Serving A One Year Sentence For Murder.

FOR THE BEERING SEA
He Was Charged With Burning His Own House For The Insurance.
A New Postmaster.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 30.—On July 24, 1889, Wayne O. Wheeling murdered Wm. Toody at Lancaster, in this county. He was tried for the crime and sentenced to serve one year in San Quentin. His term expired last week and this morning he arrived at Lancaster, a free man.

It was feared that he would not be permitted to leave the train, as there is a deep feeling against him among the citizens. However, his people were at the train to greet and protect him, and his father was armed with a Winchester, as was also his brother-in-law, and his mother and sister both had revolvers. No demonstration was made, although there was considerable talk among the bystanders and trouble was imminent. Wheeling was taken to his home in safety.

LANE COUNTY MINES.
Ore Assayed In San Francisco Is Shown To Be of Good Quality.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—W. H. Thompson, of Yolo, lately brought to this city several hundred pounds of ore from Lane county, Oregon, for assaying. It was taken from near the surface and, he thinks, indicates very rich deposits of gold, silver and lead further down. His mine is located in the mountainous region about thirty miles south of Eugene City, and since the last of June a large number of people, he says, have flocked there to take up claims. He says some ledges of great value have been discovered.

H. Underhill, secretary of the Sells Smelting Works, where the assays were made, says that while the ore is second-grade in quality, it contains gold and silver in paying quantities, and a little lead.

HIS INMUNITY SAVES HIM.
Charged With Arson, the Jury Finds Him Not Guilty.

MOBART, Cal., Sept. 30.—The case against James J. Day, who has been charged with the crime of arson, has occupied the attention of the court for the past ten days. To-day he was charged with setting fire to his dwelling, in the town of Turlock, on the 8th of December last, for the purpose of getting $1500, the amount of the insurance thereon. The case created considerable interest, as Day bore an excellent character, prior to the alleged crime, but was subject to insanity spells. The case was given to the jury at 9:45 o'clock this evening, and after being out 40 minutes they brought in a verdict of not guilty, on account of insanity.

For the Island of Kodiak.
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—The steamer Bartha sailed this afternoon for Kodiak island, with supplies and meals for the corner and all the Karluk river. She has not been chartered by the United States as was reported, and she goes out on her own business. She will return here direct from Kodiak with the balance of the season's catch, and the Chinese and white men employed in commerce. This will end the sea and she will lay up during the winter months.

Crowder's Case.
PORTLAND, Sept. 30.—The case of H. Crowder, who was arrested last Thursday night on a warrant from Kansas, where he is under indictment for impersonating a United States officer, came up in Judge Deady's court to-day. Crowder says he is not the man wanted, and to give his attorney, Alfred Sears, jr., a chance to establish that point, the court set the hearing for to-morrow afternoon.

A Spy Arrested.
PARIS, Sept. 30.—A German lady has been arrested at Cannes who had a number of topographical charts of the fortress and plans of other defenses of the town.

Items Stricken Out.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Among the items stricken out of the general deficiency bill in the conference were the following: A steam launch for Puget sound customs district, $12,000; the appropriation for payment of district attorneys and assistants, $43,753; pay and provisions of navy, $24,234.

Retired from Politics.
CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Colonel George R. Davis, director general of the world's fair, has purged himself of politics by resigning his position as a member of the republican national committee.

Postmaster Appointed.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 30.—The president to-day appointed Amos H. Stevens postmaster at Aberdeen, Wash.
