Supreme Court. Supreme court meets for the regular October term Monday next and will continue in session until disposition shall have been made of the large number of cases on the docket. This term promises to be an interesting one, having several cases of great importance on the docket.

The New Clothing Store. On next Saturday the new and popular firm of T. L. Wallace and Co., will give a grand opening of their new clothing store.

ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Commencing this morning the HERALD will again furnish its readers the full Associated Press dispatches. For the past month an abbreviated report has been received over the Postal Telegraph company's lines, but recognizing the demand of our readers for a better news service, we have made the change above mentioned.

In State Printer Baker's Office. The Salem Statesman's man visited the office of State Printer Baker and found that the workmen in the press room had just completed the work of setting up a new No. 4 cylinder press of the R. H. Hoe make, that had been received direct from the manufacturer at New York a few days ago. This press will take in a form 26x35 and is a handsome piece of workmanship.

The contract for the lumber to be used in the construction of the $600 hospital at this city has been let to the Santiam Lumbering company, and the material will be on the ground in a few days. The basement and cross-walls are already built, and the work of erecting the main walls is advanced immediately.

The Eugene Register says: A timber locator named W. A. Caborn, who has been cruising in this county for some three months past, has made himself scarce and left the country. There is no doubt but the country is better off without him, but the man who located are out from $10 to $30 each as the result of his allurements and their own ignorance.

The World Enlarged. The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited, and when syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only remedy known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system gently in the Spring-time or, in fact, at any time, and the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

A Peculiar Fire. Ed. Goodnight, a Umattilla county farmer, lost his wagon in a very peculiar manner while hauling wheat to Youkum station. On reaching the station with a load he found that his wagon was on fire. The flames had attacked such headway that he could not save the wagon, so he unhitched his horses, unloaded the wheat and let the fire burn. The only cause that can be assigned for the fire, says the East Oregonian, is that the axles were not greased and the wagon was ignited by friction.

Small Fire. About 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon an alarm was sounded for a fire in a house of ill-fame on second street, near Thurston. The roof was nearly burned off before the fire was extinguished, damaging it about $200, fully insured. The fire started from a terra cotta flue. This is two fires from the same cause in the last few days, and I would seem to indicate that terra cotta flues were not safe. Chief Engineer C. H. Stewart says they are not and recommends the tearing out of all such flues.

BROWNVILLE NOTES.

J. F. Venner, on Wednesday left for Portland. Henry Windom arrived in town from Prineville Tuesday.

The prodigal son, after visiting Portland and indulging in the luxuries of this life to such an extent that his exchequer was in a very low-lying and demoralized condition, through the assistance of a brakeman, with whom he had formed an intimacy during his brief sojourn, was enabled to beat the "R. R." and put in an appearance at the parental domicile, at the opportune moment when "hash" was about to circulate, and after having satisfied the cravings of an appetite of razor edge keenness, stimulated by an occasional "hand out" donated at long intervals during his wanderings, it is presumed that mindful of his improved condition, he completely reformed, surrendered his night latch key, thereby keeping early and regular hours. Such was the condition of our narrow gauge system which for some time past had reformed, and was establishing itself as a record, but latterly has obtained another night key, and comes in at very irregular hours, generally about midnight, thereby throwing all mail matter one day behind time, and also inconveniencing to a great extent, the travelling public.

Peter Hume, on Monday left for Portland to attend the Mechanic's Exposition.

W. R. Kirk and wife are attending the fair at Portland.

Robert Sanders, accompanied by his son, on Friday left for Portland.

A stubble fire on the farm of Elias Hale, on Sunday assumed dangerous proportions, consuming considerable fencing and it was only by the greatest exertions that it was gotten under control and extinguished.

Thomas Kay Sr., of the Thomas Kay woolen mills, Salem, on Thursday, accompanied by his wife arrived in Brownville.

The Toll road, and employed a lot of men and left them at work while he made a trip to the Valley and as he failed to return on time, a runner was sent after him and found that he had taken the train going north at Junction so the work on the Florence and Junction Toll road is indefinitely postponed. Hvlard & Parker the Lane county commissioners stayed ever night on the Pataba, on their way down to the mouth of Lake creek to receive the Lake creek bridge.

The many friends of Mrs. Ollie Atkinson will be pained to learn that she is not improving mentally. She became demented early last spring and was sent to the Insane Asylum about the first of August where latest reports say she is no better. Her children are under the care of Mrs. Whitaker most of the time.

I harvested with Durham and Barger this harvest making a good run, threshing about 50,000 bushels of grain. And all things considered had a very pleasant time to work with. But I will ever remember with pleasure the Sunday spent in company with David Key and wife visiting Mr. Preston G. Barger and wife. The watermelon feast, good dinner, and kind entertainment will not be forgotten.

One case of fatal illness in our settlement. The youngest child of Mr. Curllies died Sept. 14th of flux.

I found great excitement at Harrisburg and Rowland, over the discovery of gold and silver bearing quartz in paying quantities. East of Rowland in the Cascade mountains a great many claims have been taken and a surveyor is making a fortune surveying claims.

A cougar has been on the rampage up the river, as Mrs. Sarber came home one morning she saw the cougar run from under the house and on investigating she found he had killed and partly eaten her dog, and about 4 o'clock p. m. he came back and ate what was left from the morning feast. Mr. Fassett turned his cow in the barn and went in to milk her. A cougar jumped down from the hay mow within a few feet of them and put off. Mr. Fassett then went and got a celebrated cougar dog and that night the cougar and the dog got into a fight and Mr. Fassett had to go out to save the dog, and they fought until the cougar had one eye scratched out besides the other severe scratches. Then he got some other dogs and set on the track. They ran it about four miles and came back; so did the cougar that evening at 4 o'clock. Joe Aubell then went to Fassett's to set up for the cougar and that night just at one o'clock the cougar came around the corner of the house so close to the young man as to step on his foot, and just as it got far enough away for him to level his gun he fired but he didn't know they he hit but thinks he did, but one thing is certain the cougar has not come back any more.

THE WAYS OF WOMEN.

Black velvet necklaces are worn, cut on the cross front piece velvet and fastened in front by a small jeweled pin.

The Princess Victoria, sister of the emperor, who has but recently recovered from her love for Prince Ferdinand, and who is shortly to be wedded to Prince Lippe, has just been endowed by the government with a doucener of 25,000 francs and an annuity of 25,000 for life.

This story comes all the way from Russia: A lady of Warsaw desiring to marry advertised the fact in the daily newspapers and enumerated the qualifications she desired in her suitor. Among them she mentioned that he must be the owner of real estate. She received many letters, but one of them was strikingly original. The writer said that he possessed all that which the lady desired in her future husband. He was good looking, he held a respectable position, he had many friends and was received in good society and could support a family comfortably. As to real estate, he had that too; he was the owner of a plot of ground in a cemetery which was large enough to accommodate him a wife and six children. The lady selected the writer of this letter from the whole number of suitors. She opined that the young man of his position who had thought of acquiring graves for himself and a large family before he was married was surely worthy of the endorsement of her hand and heart.

Cool looking tea gowns are of green and white silk, with the front of white lace or China silk.

Harp playing is a very picturesque and artistic accomplishment which constantly finds new votaries. A pretty woman with a golden harp against her shoulder, her slender hand and supple wrist outlining against its strings, is so suggestive of cherubim and seraphim, of white wings, so enveloped in a misty atmosphere of saintliness and general loveliness that a man can't even think the profane things that he says about the piano banger and violin scraper, even if he no two strings are tuned in the same key.

Apply work is rapidly becoming "the rage." You buy plain fabrics, and from an endless profusion of borders, centers, corners and fringes, you can easily, with a trifling ingenuity, lay out beautiful patterns, and patterns you may be sure that abominable next door neighbor hasn't got.

The plush dinner scarfs and colored satin underlays are left to hotel and restaurant diners. A plush mat is out of taste. About our eating we want nothing that will not wash and come out purely itself. Besides, plush and satin are "amely," and recall the roast duck and celery sauce too long. Linden damask, cut work and drawn borders are the only fabrics allowed.

able near a dinner table and these are elegant enough in all conscience. The flowers are best of the scentless sort or with subdued perfume. Sweet peas are too much with stewed chicken and mushrooms. Esculent garden pinka, corn flowers and black scabious do not force their odor upon you. Spider lillies, clematis (white and purple), late spinas are safe table flowers, arranged with ferns and cyperns in loose feathery sprays as high and light as possible.
