FROM MILL CITY.

A Man Chased Through the Woods by a Cougar—Other News Notes.

The Saw-mill is running full blast. A. B. Wonder is putting up a large building for a furniture store. Mr. G. W. Hunt has completed his dwelling. It is rumored that Mike Hogan is getting tired of single life, and that two hearts will beat as one in a short time. One night last week T. Goddard took a packer's shoulder saddle, strapped it on his back and started for Mr. Fred Debingham's after a load of chickens. He got them all strapped on his back and then started for home through the woods. It was dark by this time and the least noise could be heard. Two men happened to be going to the logging camp and they heard Mr. Goddard coming with the chickens, so they stepped out of the trail into the brush and one of them yelled like a cougar. Goddard stopped and said, "My God, it is a cougar." The man gave another yell and broke a stick; the cougar said, "It is coming towards me," and started on the back track for Mr. Debingham's as fast as he could run and hallooing for help at every step. When he got there Mr. Debingham also screamed and shot off a gun. In the meantime Mr. Congar was laughing and talking in the fun. Uncle Dick Mayo saw Smith, hearing the cries for help, went to their assistance. Mart Smith escorted Mr. Goddard home, protected by a double-barreled shot gun, while Uncle Dick stood guard

WEDDING BELLS.

A Very Pleasant and Popular Wedding Party.

The elegant parlors of Mr. and Mrs. D. Van Horn last evening were filled to their fullest capacity by the best citizens of Albany and invited guests from abroad. The occasion was the marriage of Mr. James F. Powell, our popular young grocerman, and Miss Maude E. Van Horn. The ceremony was performed in the most pleasing and complete manner by Dr. S. G. Irvine. The parlors were beautifully decorated and under a solid canopy of flowers the beautiful bride, arrayed in tulle and orange blossoms, and supported by three lovely bridesmaids, Miss Minnie Van Horn, Miss Vesta Mason and Miss Lora Vance, tastefully and elegantly arrayed in white cashmere and carrying bouquets of white roses, stood by the side of the gallant groom, and each responded to the questions propounded by the officiating clergyman in clear and distinct tones. Congratulations followed the ceremony and then a pleasant social evening and an elegant lunch. At the hour for the arrival of the overland train the happy pair bade their guests a pleasant good evening, and took the carriage for the train, which they took for a wedding tour to California, followed by the hearty good wishes of the large assembly present and the entire community. The affair was most enjoyable and successful, and passed off without a single accident to mar the pleasure of the evening. Hon. Thomas Tongue of Washington county was one of the invited guests present, and entered into the pleasures of the evening with hearty good will, and made many pleasant acquaintances with our citizens.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.

Leg Crushed by a Pile of Sacks Falling Over it.

Mr. Robbie McCune living five miles west of Shedd, suffered from a very painful accident yesterday, resulting in a broken leg. He and his brother James, were cleaning wheat when a pile of sacks full of wheat fell on him, mashing his leg over the edge of a box, resulting in the breaking of both bones below the knee. Dr. Giff dressed the injured member, and he was resting easy last night.

HALSEY NOTES.

We are soon to have a newspaper here. Koonitz & Laine's store now extends the entire length of the block from first to second street. John Pearl has about completed his residence and Mr. Gray from near Brownsville is moving into part of it. Houses in downtown and some can not find houses in which to live. Mr. Lincoln Stewart and Miss Florence Pearl, both of this place, were united in marriage at the bride's residence this morning. Rev. A. C. Fairchild, officiating. They left on the K-southern local to attend the Mechanics Fair by way of a wedding tour. The congratulations and best wishes of their many friends go with them.

NOTICE OF MARRIAGE.

The marriage of Walter T. Wiles and Miss Mary Brandon, daughter of ex-County Commissioner Alex. Brandon, took place yesterday at the home of the latter near Plainview, and was performed by Prof. E. N. Condit, who came up from attendance upon the Presbytery at Oregon City for the purpose. The young people are well known and popular. Mr. Wiles being cashier of the Corvallis bank and Miss Brandon one of Linn county's successful teachers. They will visit Portland and the Sound cities on a wedding tour.

On Wednesday the stock holders of the Albany Woolen Mill Co., held a meeting at the residence of the Corvallis bank and Eagle woolen Mills, all their stock and interest in that manufactory, which will hereafter be owned and operated exclusively by Brownsville capital. At the North Brownsville city hall, on Friday evening, the Alice Owens Swiss Bell Ringers, gave to a good attendance, one of their choice musical entertainments, peculiar to this troupe. The programme was varied and pleasing, and was attested by the hearty echoes this truly meritorious troupe received from a delighted audience. A. M. Banks, J. Oiles and A. Mullin of Tacoma, also James John, Daniel and Wate Standish of this place, on Tuesday left by the McKenzie route, for the Calapooia and Blue river mines, they take with them, 327 pounds of blasting powder, also tools, and provisions sufficient to six weeks duration, work will be pushed on the "Lucky Boy," and the "Keystone" and "Cascades" claims will be opened, and thoroughly prospect.

THE EXPOSITION.

PORTLAND, Oct. 7. In my last notes on the fair here I mentioned that Linn county was not well represented, and on looking around again to-day I was more forcibly reminded of it. Benton county makes a fine exhibit from the state agricultural college lands, there being 425 varieties of potatoes on exhibit—at least the cards say so. I did not count them—and not a poor sample among them. Also fine fruits and samples of grain and grasses. Independence is there for Folk county with an excellent exhibit of products, showing much enterprise by some one. Clackamas also shows up well in fruit and vegetables. Union county shows ores from her main mines. Baker county also. Wasco county shows fine peaches, tomatoes and apples, but when one takes a look at the exhibits late placed from Jackson and Josephine counties, especially the splendid grapes and peaches in the Grant's Pass exhibit it makes the mouth fairly water, and only the timely cards placed on nearly every dish "hands off" keep down the temptation to sample some of them. Such fine fruit in apples, peaches, grapes, prunes and plums could be no where else shown in such perfection all fresh and grown in one county. The Grant's Pass lumber company has also placed an exhibit of fine door and other samples of finishing woods made by them, some fine samples indeed of our native woods which helps out a matter mentioned in my last notes. In flour the showing is all that could be desired, and in samples of grains arranged by the board of immigration the exhibit can come in for sweep stakes against all counties. But where, oh, where is Linn county with her great wheat fields her mills, her timber, her gold and silver mines, her coal, her paint mine, her dairy interests and her soil? One firm here calls attention to their fine spring water an draught free—just plain every day wet water only, taken from their own land—they proclaim that it is free. This may be a novelty to the residents of Portland, especially it being free but to one who lives in Linn, and yearns for the run of her many fine streams and springs, plain and soda, the advertisement does not take. Many persons come here from the East taking advantage of the low rates during the Exposition and do not go any further south. Every county and locality that makes a special effort to place a good exhibit here during fair time receives due attention, and it looks as though the fair would certainly be continued yearly and increase in popularity for some time to come. The Oregon City Manufactory company has placed in a small exhibit of their goods in now.
