It is expected that several others will join the society soon. Mrs. Wolverton was elected president and Miss Annie Althouse secretary and treasurer.

THE GRAND PARTY.

Society in this city is on the qui vive in anticipation of the grand ball and concert to be given on the 28th inst. by Temple Commandery, No. 3, Knights Templar. This will be one of the most brilliant social affairs ever given in Albany. Liberati's concert will be one of the features.

SOCIAL DANCE.

At the amory last evening a lively party of about twenty-five couples enjoyed themselves immensely until 12 o'clock, indulging in the mazy waltz. These parties, it is understood, will be regular weekly occurrences soon.

EUGENE MATTERS.

The piers of the Springfield bridge have been completed for some time and workmen are waiting for the iron. Word has been received that the iron and steel work was shipped from Massillon, Ohio, Sept. 30. It is expected here by the 19th of this month. No false work will be built until the arrival of the material. It will take about one month to put up the bridge after the iron arrives.

A dispatch received in Eugene Wednesday announced the marriage of Capt. S. C. Stadden, of Eugene, to Miss Nellie Gilbert, of Salem. The marriage took place at the residence of I. W. Gardner, at Los Angeles, Cal., Wednesday, Oct 8, at 10 a. m. After a few days stay in San Francisco they will start for their future home in Eugene. The marriage is a surprise to the friends of the contracting parties both in Salem and Eugene.

The piers for the bridge across the McKenzie river, four miles below McKenzie bridge postoffice, have been completed, and the timber is about ready for the span. The iron work, about two tons, is being hauled. It was manufactured at the Eugene foundry.

Mr. Ennis, the Lake county sheep man sold his band of 1914 head to Avery & Bacon for $3.27½ per head. The sheep averaged a little over 119 lbs each. The purchasers drove them to Portland.—Guard.

Survey of Rogue Rivers.

The Jacksonville Times says that Senator Mitchell some time ago made application to the superintendent of the coast and geodetic survey for an order for a survey of Rogue river, Oregon, and now is in receipt of a communication from the superintendent stating that Mr. Dickens of the coast survey was engaged in completing a survey of that part of that coast just south of Coos bay, Oregon; that this would probably be finished the present year, and that when it is done he will be instructed by the superintendent to take up another unfinished part of the coast, which includes Rogue river and he would then be instructed to survey said river to the end of tide water or the head of navigation, all of which the superintendent hopes to accomplish the coming year, provided appropriations for the work on the coast of Oregon are not cut dawn at the next session. The publication of a chart of Rogue river and the coast up and down from its mouth will follow shortly thereafter.

Silver Mine on Anderson Creek.

The Ashland Tidings says: The prospecting work done by the Empire Mining Co. of San Francisco, at the Trombley mines on Anderson creek is reported to have developed a rich strike in silver rock. The report is that an eleven foot vein has been struck which goes $30 to the ton in silver.

J. J. Owen, the principal man of the company, with two other San Francisco men, accompanied by Mrs. Owen and two other ladies, came up Saturday to visit the mine, and remained till morning. They seemed much pleased with the prospects. The company has run one tunnel 150 feet, and is at work upon another.

It is the general gossip in the neighborhood of the mine that the enterprise is directly by some mining expert in the "spirit world" through the mediumship of one of the ladies of the party there this week. Be that as it may, the belief is they have struck a good silver-bearing ledge.

Albany City Directory.

The sixth edition of the Albany City Directory will be issued soon by C. W. Watts. This book promises to be superior to all editions as it will contain the names, occupation and place of residence of every resident of the city and in this respect will be perfectly accurate as the complete census taken by Mr. Watts indicates. It will also contain an official table of rates, fares and distances of stations on all railroad lines running into the city. The revised postal laws, church directory, post office and express rules list of stations on all Oregon rail road lines, telegraph rates to all points from Albany and much other valuable information. It will be a useful book to every resident when completed.

Frills and Flounces.

The past week has brought two of the predicted fashions for the year into actual existence. If you walk up Broadway at 4 o'clock of any afternoon you will see them. Frills and flounces—that's what they are—frills about the neck and flounces at the hem of the skirt. Just the real old fashioned plaited or gathered flounces that had to go on the bottom of a gown a few years ago, quite as much as the braid binding. To be sure, they are neither artistic nor economical, and they do make a skirt look like a piece of elaborate lambrequin drapery, but here they are on broadway again, and we are told they've come to stay.—New York Evening Sun.

Short Hand Class.

On Monday night a class in short hand will be organized at the College. Those wishing to enter the class will meet Mr. H. M. McKee at the college at that time. Tuition $5 for twenty lessons.

Women's Wear.

Dressing, like kissing, goes by favor. The art of dressing well is a gift of nature The persons who are well dressed simply cannot help dressing well. It is not a question of cost at all, or of thought particularly. Give them the most inexpensive fabrics and the least amount of time and they will appear as exquisitely dressed as if they had been unlimited as to both. On the other hand the veriest dowdy that ever appeared may have lavished time and thought and money on a tout ensemble that makes the beholder want to swear. The dressing well is not in the head, it is in the fingers. It is a knack they have somehow of getting things on in the right way, of slipping them deftly and securely into place and making them stay there.

This promises to be a season of ostrich feathers. Gowns will be trimed with bands of feathers, and boas and muffs of the plumage of the bird "that knows it all" will be very popular.

Autumn dresses come on with considerable rapidity. Striped wools are used in two shades of brown or brown and cream. Some fabrics show tiny scrolls or infinitesimal checks. Inch-wide box-plaits are again used to edge skirts and the Stuart style of sleeves, with its double puffs and perpendicular bands of material, is coming into favor. Shoulder capes of all sorts are still brought out, but these are regarded as distinctly less elegant than the cloth jacket, and this again has most chic when the cloth of which it is made exactly matches the costume.

Styles in Hair Cutting.

John Ray, a barber, tells the St. Louis Globe-Democrat it is astonishing what a difference may be effected in personal appearance by a hair cut. A badly shaped head may, by a skillful barber, be made to assume an intellectual cast, and in a very simple way. The intellectual head, viewed from the front is wider at the top than just above the ears and a clever barber, by cutting the hair short over the ear and gradually lengthen it to the top of the head, may give the greatest dolt an appearance of brains intellectually. They say the tailor makes the man, and no doubt he helps, but I claim that the barber does his part, and if well-trained, his part is by no means contemptible.

Polite Orthography.

A story is being told at the expense of the leaders of the parliamentary bar. He was engaged in an Irish railway bill recently before a committee of the house of commons, and mimicking the pronunciation of an Irish witness whom he rose to cross-examine, he asked if Waterford was spelled with two t's in the witness's part of the country. "No," said the witness; "but I spell manners with two n's. This concluded the cross-examination.

Horse Lost.

DRS. DARRIN ARRIVED.

They are at the Revere House in This City and Will Remain From October 13 to 19.

These far-famed physicians, who have achieved a great reputation throughout the Northwest, have been prevailed upon by parties in this vicinity to visit Albany. One of the doctors will open offices at the Revere house for one week only, from October 13 to 19, and the opportunity should not be lost to consult this famous physician. He comes highly recommended and laden with testimonials from throughout the state, and the authenticated reports of his cures seem nothing short of miraculous. His office consultation is free, so that should there be any cases that are incurable he will immediately discover them, thus saving their patrons any further expenditure of money and time, which they might otherwise squander.

Unlike other physicians who have become eminent in their profession, the doctors' charges are extemely moderate, and they will not undertake any cases that they cannot cure or benefit,

Drs. Darrin make a specialty of diseases of the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat, and all nervous, chronic and private diseases, such as Loss of Manhood, Blood Taints, Syphilis, Gleet, Gonorrhœa, Stricture, Spermattorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, or Loss of Desire of Sexual Power in man or woman.

All peculiar Female Troubles, Irregular Menstruation, Lucorrhœa, Displacements, etc, are confidentially and successfully treated, and will under no circumstances take a case that they cannot cure or benefit.

Their office hours are from 10 to 5 daily. Evenings 7 to 8,

Cures of private diseases guaranteed and never published in the papers Most cases can recive home treatment after visit to the doctors' office. Inquiries answered and circulars sent free.

Read the following testimonials of remarkable cures.
