JOHN DREHNER, Albany, Oct. 1, 1890.

Were Left Behind. The west side train from Corvallis the other day had a peculiar application of the Irishman's expression of a passenger on board who is left behind. It seem P. C. Warren, wife, two sons and daughter-in-law, of Astoria, had arranged with the railroad officials in Portland to come up on the east side as far as Albany, cross over on the O. P. road and take the west side train for Portland, in order to view the Willamette valley. When the party arrived at Corvallis the west side train had gone, but on telegraphing the facts to Portland, the train was ordered to return for the Warren family, which it did, picking up the passengers aboard the train that had left behind.

James Calloway, late of Benton county, having disposed of his ranch in that location, will during the winter reside with his mother, Mrs. A. J. Warren, on her farm two miles east of Brownsville.

A Fastidious Salmon. The Astoria Columbian says that J. Lundquist, a fisherman, upon pulling up his net the other morning, found a salmon with a silver watch in its mouth, and a rolled chain attached to the tucker. The watch had evidently laid in the water for years, as all the steel portions crumbled to dust when touched. Its presence in the salmon's mouth is accounted for by the fact that salmon at this season of the year will eagerly bite at any bright object, and the watch and chain had been caught by the net dragging on the bottom. As it was hauled in it attracted the attention of the salmon, and he took it in and in turn was taken in himself. The works in the watch were Waltham, and case in silver. The salmon was caught just off shore, abreast of the Seaside cannery.

Burglars Active. The festive burglar seems to be abroad in the land as he is heard from at various and diverse localities. Corvallis received a call, Banker Job being the intended victim, but his vigilance scared the light-fingered gent away empty-handed. At Seaside also occurred the post-office and blow open the outside part of the safe door, but got nothing for their trouble, as they failed to get at the thirty dollars worth of stamps in the safe drawer.

LETTER LIST. Following is a list of the letters remaining unclaimed for in the post-office at Albany, Oregon, Oct. 8, 1890. Persons calling for the same will please give the date on which they were advertised: Frank Beck, I. N. Davis; Jennings Ford; Helen C. Harmon; Mrs. Mary Jinks; Geo. W. Pennebaker.

RUFIN THOMPSON, Postmaster. An Impressive Motto. Standing out in bold relief upon the walls of the city jail is this impressive motto: "Never too Late to Mend." It was painted there a few days ago by an artist of the brush who was doing a few days' time with the city while sobering up after a big drunk. The moral is read between the words and the words are well worth heeding.—Salem Statesman.

Sudden Disappearance. The dispatches give notice of the inexplicable disappearance of Dr. Clinton Cooke from Chicago, where he was practicing medicine. His parents are among the best known residents of Salem, and his disappearance is causing much alarm in that city.

NORTHWEST NOTES.

The "Ophir" is the name of a new mining claim filed on by an Albany man. It is located in the Quartzville district.

The work on the new railroad from Roseburg to Coos bay is being pushed through with rapidity. There are six camps of graders and the piles are being driven at Marshallfield for the terminus.

In Yamhill county the question has been broached, and will doubtless receive consideration from the powers that be, of purchasing a farm and establishing an asylum for indigents.

The sand digging boat which was lately built at Portland is proving a success. The steamer is a marvel of power and construction, and is provided with a most complete sand and gravel apparatus for digging, hoisting, filtering and washing sand.

The work on the Oregonian railway is being prosecuted with vigor. A large camp of laborers are located at Shelburn, the crossing of the Oregon Pacific and Narrow Gauge, and the preparations for the widening of the track are nearly completed.

J. Rumpkin, state organizer of the Modern Woodmen of America, is at the Dalles, where he will organize a camp. At Pendleton he succeeded in establishing a camp. His son is now at the Dalles, and has succeeded in obtaining some fifty members.

The Astoria & South Coast railway seems to be on its feet. Three millions of dollars worth of bonds have been placed in London, subject to certain conditions which seem easy to satisfy. This is good news for Astoria, for Portland, and for the whole country lying between.

William Billings has been sheriff of Clatsop county, Wash., for about 21 years. Sometimes he is nominated by the republicans and some times he is not, but he gets there just the same. When he discovers that he is going to have trouble in the convention he simply refuses to let his name go before the convention, and then runs independent.

Since the Polk-Yamhill county line has been re-located there are arising little difficulties on every side. It now transpires that justice Branson has married about a dozen couples in Polk county, and since it is determined that he resides in Yamhill county, and a person residing in one county cannot fill an office in another, the question arises whether these marriages are strictly legal.

Mrs. Hunter, the woman who arrived in this city a few days ago in search of one W. H. Hunter, slept Monday night in the city prison. Officer Larsen found her walking about the streets shortly after dark and as the woman could give no account of herself he took her to the city prison.—Astorian.

This is probably the same woman who has been searching the valley over, under one or another name, for her husband. She was at Albany.

He Wanted a Drink. "Can you give me a drink on this?" asked an intoxicated individual as he walked into a downtown saloon yesterday afternoon, at the same time placing on the bar a small leather covered bible. The bar-keeper picked it up, examined it, and then placed a bottle of "snake bite" before the stranger. He filled the glass to the brim, placed it to his lips and griped the contents down at one swallow, and then with a satisfied look on his countenance, turned and walked out.

Recovering. Quite a number of our citizens who have been on the sick list are recovering. J. W. Blain was confined to the house for a few days but is again out. Grant Froman is still confined to the house but is convalescing. Judge Blackburn is better. J. R. Whitney, junior editor of the Herald, is able to be about again, yesterday making the first visit to the office for six weeks.
