CARNIVAL OF CRIME.

Wholesale Murders—Sweethearts Killed and Suicides.

JUSTICE MILLER'S SUCCESSOR

Insult to Ohio's Governor—Building War Vessels—Another Crank Kills the Girl Who Would'nt Marry Him.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 20.—Considerable excitement has been caused in Reidville, a tobacco town in western North Carolina, on account of the reports of a murder at a point three miles from town, known as Mizpah switch. Some time ago a Richmond and Danville train was wrecked at this point, a switch being misplaced by two fiends. Sydney Lee, a brakeman, was killed. Detectives were employed to ferret out the wreckers, but discovered nothing. Pinkerton men were sent there, but they, too, failed. Two weeks ago an old man named Witcher was murdered at the spot where the wreck sheets tied around their heads, came out of the woods an asked his father if he had annymoney, and when he replied that he had not, they hit him with a club and knocked his brains out. The boy ran home and roused the neighbors. The old man's body was terribly mangled and had been thrown across the track. At this point there is a curve, and it is impossible for the engineer to see the track over 100 feet ahead. A freight had passed over the bord while the boy was a way, but the body plainly showed signs that a knife had been used. Since that time, regularly every week some poor fellow shares the same fate as Witcher. Jonathan Robbins was the next. His body was found half a mile further down in the gulley, a knife sticking in the body. Joe Turner, Sam Houston and Rufus Martin have all served as subjects for these heartless murderers All efforts so far to capture them have proven futile.

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 20.—The case of John Evans for the killing of David R. Davis, in this city, on July 14th last, has resulted in a verdict of acquittal. Evans is a mining man of good repute and an invalid. Davis was a big burly fellow. The stabbing affray grew out of a loan of $5 which Davis demanded of Evans, and on being refused he struck Evans and knocked him down, whereupon Evans drew a knife and stabbed his assailant in the lowes. Davis' wound was not considered dangerous by three physicians who attended the wounded man, but peritonitis set in, and he died in ten days after cutting. The defense was that the doctors killed Davis.

CHARLTON, Ia., Oct. 20.—Saturday afternoon Elmer Oliver, aged 21, arrived here from Kansas, hired a livery team and drove to the little town of Freedom. He went to the house of Mr. Tuttle, and requested to see the daughter, with whom he was in love. He requested the girl to marry him, but she refused, saying she was too young. Oliver pulled a revolver and shot the girl through the temple, causing instant death. He then turned the weapon upon himself and fired a ball through his head in the same place he shot the girl. He lived in an unconscious condition until this morning, when he died.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 20.—F. K. Peterson, an employe of the Illinois Central, shot and killed his wife last night. Peterson found his wife sitting on S. M. Maxwell's lap with her arms about his neck. The husband drew a revolver and fired twice at Maxwell, who drew the woman in front of him, and she received both bullets.

A BOO[illegible] ALDERMAN.

SAN ANTO[illegible] Tex., Oct. 20.—A sensation w[illegible] developed in business and [illegible]tical circles here to-day whe[illegible] the fact became public that [illegible] H. Bolton, a member of the b[illegible] of aldermen, had fled with a[illegible] $20,000, which he secured, it [illegible]leged, by various fraudulent [illegible]. Bolton has been enga[illegible] in the furniture business [illegible] many years, and about three [illegible] ago made an assignment, [illegible] his liabilities were found to be [illegible] in excess of his assets. Sho[illegible] after making the assignment [illegible] opened an account with the [illegible] bank here, where he made numerous small deposits, and finally, according to the statement of the president of the bank, overdrew his account $4000. At the First National bank of this city he secured by fraudulent paper, it is said, $2500. He also obtained $1000 from City Assessor Frash, $500 from M. J. Kohn and larger sums, so it is alleged, from various parties. In addition to these he sold two lots belonging to a Laredo man for $1200 and took that sum with him. He is also alleged to have absconded with several thousand dollars belonging to three secret secret societies of which he was treasurer. He was also behind $20,000 with his creditors. Bolton left the city quietly two weeks ago and is known to have been in San Francisco a week ago. He came to this city from Australia and it is believed that he has departed for that country. He leaves a wife and several children here.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 20.—Gladstone left this morning on a tour of Scotland. At the railway station at Wigan the crowd shouted that they did not want him to make a speech, but to reserve his voice to speak in Midlothian and demolish the tories. Gladstone nevertheless made a short speech, in which he said Midlothian knew what to do of itself. Nothing was left for him to do. He was heartily received along the entire route. IMPORTANT DECISION.

Railroad Cases Remanded Back to the Circuit Court for Trial.

PORTLAND, Oct. 20. — Judge Deady, in the United States circuit court to-day, rendered a decision remanding to the state circuit court the cases of nine persons who brought suit against the Oregon Short Line & Utah Northern Railway company, to recover damages. Some of the cases are brought by administrators of the persons killed, and others by persons who were injured in the accident near Cascade Locks last spring. The defendants claim that the act of congress making the Oregon Short Line railway company in Utah and Idaho thereby created it a federal corporation, on account of which it had a right of removal to the federal courts.

The court held that the act of 1882 did not create a corporation of the "Oregon Short Line," as it was already created and this act only extended its rights to go out of Wyoming, (place of creation) and do business in Utah and Idaho.
