Mr. L. C. Stratton received a telegram last Friday stating that his aged father is dangerously sick at his old home in Ohio. Mr. Stratton started immediately and will be absent but a short time.

Vol. 1, No. 1, of the Weekly News, published at Halsey, Linn county, and the Morrow county Record, published at Heppner, have been received. They are very creditable papers.

Klein Bros. make a specialty of boots and shoes and are practical shoemakers, and all boots and shoes bought of them, that rip, run over or soles come loose are repaired by them free of charge.

R. R. Parrish, who is writing up Oregon authors, was in this city yesterday inquiring for individuals of that profession, especially those who indulge in writing poetry. Their names are not legion in this in this locality.

The Salem Statesman says that a large number of Salem people contemned paying Albany a visit to attend the party to be given by the Commandery and for which Liberator has been engaged to furnish the music.

Keene has come and gone. The play was like others that have been here. The coming concert will be the first of the kind ever given in Albany, and as good an artist as America has produced, do not fail to hear Miss Stevens, she deserves a full house.

Clyde, the young son of Mrs. C. H. Langhead, of Albany, is ill at the home of Wiley A. Moores. Mrs. Langhead and Mrs. Moores are sisters and the former was visiting here with the toy when he was taken ill.—Salem Statesman.

County Surveyor E. T. F. has bought a fine French-burled walnut piano to-day of Will & Link. Last week Mr. A. B. Huddleston of Jefferson and Mrs. C. Nash of Halsey bought organs from the same house. Call on Will & Link if you are buying an instrument they keep the best in the market.

OREGON PACIFIC OFFICIALS.

Agala is Oregon. But Future Movements Not Indicated.

Col. T. E. Hoag, and Vice president Wm. M. Hoag arrived in Corvallis on Sunday, and yesterday Col. Hoag and an eastern gentleman named McClure came over on a special train, and took the Southern Pacific overland train for San Francisco.

To a HERALD reporter Col. Hoag said that he had no news to tell this time, but on his return, which would be very soon, he would have something to say.

THE BLUE RIVER MINES.

A Prophecy That the Calapooia District Will Be a Big Camp.

Mr. Snyder, who came down from the Calapooia and Blue River mines Monday, gives a very good report of these mining camps, says the Lebanon Express. Mr. Snyder is a practical assayer, and has made more than 100 assays of claims in these districts, and he gives it as his expert opinion that the headwaters of the Calapooia will be the greatest mining camp on the Pacific coast. His judgment is based on data which is both sound and conclusive. He located eight or ten claims, only one of which he has developed. He never locates a claim haphazardly, and will build a house and continue work through the winter. Being familiar with every mining camp of any note, from the famous Treadwell mine of Alaska, to the Tombstone mines of Arizona, his judgment is entitled to some weight.

There are more men in these camps to-day than I have ever seen since any time since their history began. It is also a notable fact that for the most part the men are practical miners, representing considerable capital, and their object can be easily divined, as men of this stamp do not usually spend their money in the vain hope of being profited by the dreams of visionaries. The tunnel of the Poorman has been run, at least a couple of feet in which point a rich pay chimney has been struck, and the directors of the C. and B. R. M. and M. Company have received instructions from superintendent to sell no more stock. The owners of the Lucky Boy mine are working several men on their claim, which promises well from the time it was discovered, four years ago. The Trinity Mining Company, which was recently incorporated in Brownsville, sent some men up to make still further developments, and to get everything in readiness for profitable work in the year 1891.

CALAPOOIA MINES.

The Linn County Prospects In That Direction.

Mr. F. S. Marsters of Brownsville, who is on the jury venire for this term, tells us that the Calapooia mines are being put in a splendid condition for early and active work next season. It is the intention of owners to put in machinery as early as it can be placed on the ground. Indeed it would have been placed in working position this season, but could not be procured from the manufacturers at an early enough date to get it in.

Mr. Marsters assisted in making the trail in to the mines during the summer, and recently went there to assist Mr. Bradley, of the Calapooia and Blue River Mining and Milling company, in with his winter supplies. That company has twenty claims and has some very rich ore from their tunnel on the Poor Man's ledge. Indeed, all of the ledges that have been opened at all bring out rich indications.

The Trinity have four claims and are developing some very rich ore. The prospects are that another season will show not only active work but rich developments in the Calapooia mining district.

THE OREGON PRESS PROCEEDINGS.

The material for commencing work on the proceedings of the Oregon Press Association is now in order and within a few weeks the books will be delivered to members in Oregon and to secretaries of associations throughout the United States. The engraved cover was designed by H. L. Heath editor of the Telephone-Register, at McMinnville. In the upper left-hand corner is a scroll, with a series of scrolls, with the words "Oregon Press Association, Portland, 1890." In the right-hand corner is a book surrounded by radiating lines. Across the body of the page the words "Fourth Annual Session" extend. On the lower part of the page is a medallion with the faces of Gutenberg, Faust and Shylock, all supported by Cupids. Full-tone portraits of President Samuel and Secretary Pentland will have a place in the work, nearly all of which will be done in Oregon.

Press Notices of Miss Stevens.

Her touch is singularly clear, clean and elastic. She plays with rare intelligence, and her technical attainments are sufficient for the demand of the day.—Boston Herald.

Miss Stevens proved herself to be a pianist of remarkable talent and an exceedingly interesting player. Her performance of "La Price Espagnol," composed by her, could hardly be improved upon by any pianist.—Boston Post.

The piano recital at the Congregational church by Miss Stevens, the gifted young pianist, was an artistic success, and the young lady established herself as a mistress of technique.—Washington Critic.

John C. Freund, the famous critic of New York says the commendation Miss Neely Stevens has received from Liszt, Wm. Beebe, Kullak, Moszkowski and Scharwenka are deserved; was completely captivated by her in one evening. The "American Musician," said, she will always please, and the favorable verdict of Boston's press will be confirmed wherever she goes.

Hon. C. W. Fulton, senator from Clatsop county, was a passenger on the Southern Pacific overland last evening. He reports the Astoria and south coast railroad in good shape again.

Attention, Sir Knights.

Special order No. 1: All members of Temple Commandery are notified to report at headquarters of the E. C. at Masonic temple this Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock sharp, to escort the grand commandery from the depot to the Masonic temple. In this fall not. Geo. Humphrey, E. C.

From the Southern Cotton Fields.

Baynard Montanye, son of L. H. Montanye of this city, received a few days since a box containing some specimens of cotton fields of Louisiana. It came from the Arlington plantation, Mrs. Montanye's former home, and was sent by her brother, Mr. Wm. Baynard. The specimens were branches cut from the plant, which bore the native commercial product of the south in all its stages from the unopened boll to the mature cotton ready for picking. To those who have never seen the southern cotton fields the contents of the box was full of interest.

The Great Clara Morris.

The forthcoming visit of Clara Morris should be a notable one in our theatrical affairs. There is but one verdict accorded this wonderful woman, and a succession of packed houses has greeted her every appearance. Her last engagement in San Francisco was a most brilliant one. A daily paper said: "A tremendous house greeted this great exponent of emotional sensations. A more genial reception was never accorded. The aristocratic audience was regaled with an intellectually refined illustration of the French microscopic method of acting that recalled the palmy days of Rachel. Never before were we so fully absorbed and interested. By a wonderfully conceived plan of action, an unprecedented hold is gained upon the attention. To catch the meaning of innumerable intimations, constant watchfulness is necessary. Miss Morris devotes every moment of her occupancy of a scene to some allusions. Her style transcends ordinary stage effect, and brims and bubbles with new discoveries of secret impulses. An idea of a character is strong, in the conventional stage imagery, nor is any court paid to antiquated traditions. The gaze and hearing are captured by looks, tones and gestures which are breathlessly followed. Her delineation of the character assumes a strong, intelligent and without a blench, and when the last curtain fell and the large audience slowly filed out there was but one opinion, and was that they had witnessed the greatest performance ever given on a California stage."

An Excellent Book.

F. A. Chenoweth is taking orders for "Kings of the Platform and Pulpit." This is history condensed—100 years in one volume. The compilers have done for history what the press has done in the cotton bale—reduced it to one-sixteenth in volume without injury to substance. The pith of wit and humor all preserved. A book of great merit.
