SOCIETY REALM.

Some Very Pleasant Events the Past Week.

THE COMMANDERY BALL.

Libertatis Grand Concert—Clara Morris in Camille—Miss Neally Stevens—Farwell Reception.

Society people have had a very lively week of it. Aside from the grand ball, which of course was the crowning event, the churches and theatrical entertainments monopolized the public attention. It includes the performance of America's greatest emotional actress, Clara Morris, together with Miss Neally Stevens' musical and the Liberator's concert.

FAREWELL RECEPTION.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church tendered a farewell reception to their departing president, Mrs. J. K. Elderkin, at the elegant home of Mrs. J. M. Irving on Friday evening. The spacious drawing rooms were beautifully decorated with smilax and yellow chrysanthemums, while the banks and decorations in autumn foliage were brought out in all their rich coloring under the electric light. An elaborate and dainty tea was served at five o'clock. After some farewell remarks by Mrs. Elderkin, she was presented with a handsome plush album, containing the autographs of the members of the society. It was a very pleasant and social affair.

SOCIETY ENTERTAINMENTS.

The Albany Ladies Aid Society will give on the evening before Thanksgiving day, an entertainment for the benefit of the orphan and destitute, which will consist of a beautiful drama entitled "The Peak Sisters."

The little folks of Misses Wheeler and Crawford's kindergarten will give an entertainment in the near future, consisting of a short operetta and a concert.

PLEASANT TEA PARTY.

Wednesday afternoon a very pleasant tea party was given at the residence of E. L. Thompson in honor of Mrs. C. L. Brush of Portland, who has been visiting in this city. A number of her friends were present and a very delightful social time had.

CHURCH SOCIAL.

The ladies of the First Presbyterian church will give a social at the residence of Hon. George E. Chamberlain on Friday evening November 7. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

CONGREGATIONAL SOCIAL.

A social will be given at the Congregational church on Tuesday evening November 4th. All are invited to attend.

AID SOCIETY MEETING.

The Albany Ladies Aid society will meet at Mrs. John Althouse, on Tuesday, Nov. 4 at 2 p. m. A full attendance is desired.

CLARA MORRIS.

Friday evening Albany was treated to one of the finest dramatic renditions ever in the city by Clara Morris in "Camille." Apparently the actress was living the life she laid down by her lines and her portrayal of the part was almost beyond criticism. At times she was intensely dramatic, but her enunciation was simply perfect, and every word was spoken in that clear, distinct, natural voice so pleasing to all audiences. The death scene was especially true to nature. J. M. Colville as Armand Duval made a strong impression by his artistic work. The entire support was excellent.

MISS NEALLY STEVENS.

This winning and talented artist gave one of her charming concerts at the opera house Thursday evening to a large audience. Miss Stevens has gained for herself an enviable reputation among musical people, and this favorable impression was fully sustained in this city. Her selections were of the grandest character and the programme was very interesting, and included selections from Mozart, Chopin, Mendelssohn, Moskowski and Liszt. Messrs. C. W. Sears, J. E. Litter, W. H. Lee and C. H. Adams, were the choicest vocalists. Taken all in all the recital was one of the most enjoyable and agreeable concerts ever presented to an Albany audience.

THE GRAND BALL.

Tuesday evening found society in this city in a fever over the grand ball given by Temple Commandery, No. 3, Knights Templar, at Albany, in honor of the Grand Commandery of the state of Oregon. A concert was first given by Libertatis' band. At nine o'clock about one hundred couples formed on the floor and participated in the grand march. Bright faces were on every side and the merry laugh and witty jest bespoke plainly the feelings of the dancers. The opera house had been beautifully decorated, and all entered into a maze of the waltz with a zest and enjoyment pleasing to behold. The music was excellent and the dancing continued until about 3 o'clock. Times passed on fleeting wings, and had not tired nature asserted itself the merry-making would have continued until the ruddy glow of dawn had crept in behind the curtains and called them back once more to the consciousness that another day of care and duty had opened upon them. Happiness reigned supreme for the hour. An elegant supper was served at the Delmonico restaurant.

CIVIL'S DOINGS.

The following have procured licenses to wed during the past ten days, and will endeavor to solve the problem, "Is Marriage a

FAILURE.

Kendall and Jessie Spaight, Robert W. Newland and Mary R. Stewart, T. A. Richards and Sarah E. Shelton, D. C. Moore and Mrs. D. DeLorme, W. H. Mills and Addie Jenkins.

THE HOME INSURANCE COMPANY.

The suits against the Albany Farmers & Merchants' Insurance Company, which were on the docket for this term of the circuit court, have caused various rumors which need correcting. The facts of the business are that these suits all come from the East, and are the result of misplaced work. In some there is merit and they will be settled. In other there is no merit whatever. The company has always promptly met its just claims and settled the losses, and now only owes three losses due in November and December. The Eastern business has been discontinued by cancelling all the policies in that locality on September 2, 1890. Mr. J. O. Writsmann has been appointed secretary and manager. Since the company's organization it has paid upwards of $90,000 fire losses. This company, like all honorably conducted companies, promptly meets its legitimate obligations, but most positively declines to pay "straw" losses and liabilities of such character. Among the stockholders are the best citizens of Linn county and other parts of the state. The largest shareholders being Albany men, it is the determination of these gentlemen to make the company one of the strong financial institutions of the city.

Knights Templar.

The Salem Statesman says: At the annual meeting of the Knights Templar of the state at Albany Tuesday, aside from the election of officers, a considerable amount of business of importance was transacted. Among other things a new commandery, consisting of fourteen members, was established at Ashland, being recommended by Eugene. A new one was also ordered at Pendleton, but no charter was issued, on account of some inaccuracy in the papers. But the Pendleton commandery will work on just the same, being granted a dispensation until the charter has been issued. No request was made for a commandery at Salem, although one will no doubt be asked established here next year. At this time there is no lodge room in Salem in which the work of the Knights Templar could be properly performed. Probably when Salem has a Masonic temple she will have a commandery.

Pockets Picked.

Particulars of the robbery of ex-United States Senator James K. Kelly, on board the train for The Dalles Thursday morning, are given by the Times-Mountaineer: As he was going through the vestibule the Pullman car he noticed two men in front and two behind them. Very soon the man ahead turned around and said to the men behind, 'This is not the car,' and jostled roughly against ex-Senator Kelly. He was annoyed and spoke rather harshly, 'If this is not your car, it is taking a hell of a long time to get here.' He noticed he was in close juxtaposition to the men, and as they stepped off the platform put his hand into his pocket and found that every cent had been taken. The train was then in motion, and it was unsafe to step off. Colonel Kelly had his cane in one hand and his grip in the other and was powerless to resist the thieves rifling his pockets. When he stepped from Portland he put $25 in his pocket, enough to pay his expenses to The Dalles and return. He says he has traveled all over Europe and the United States, and this is the first time he was ever robbed of a cent.

A Feasible Route Found.

The Jacksonville Times says: The party of surveyors and viewers, headed by C. Magruder and Peter Applegate, who have been examining into the practicality of building a wagon road up Klamath county, following up Butte Creek from Eagle Point and crossing the Cascade range at the low pass at the head of Red Bluff creek, find a quite feasible route, and the enterprise bids fair to be successful. When the merchants assure the co-operation of the board of trade of the metropolis in its effort to regain the trade of southeastern Oregon, and to use all the assistance necessary to carry out the project, legislation in the legislature to promote so desirable an end as opening a reliable winter road through their valley to the railroad. Untold harmonious effort should secure a general appropriation to back up private subscriptions.

November Elections.

Next Tuesday will be election day for California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Idaho, Wyoming, New Mexico, Arizona. Perhaps the one who has the most interest in delegates concentrated is the district in Ohio from which Major McKinley is seeking re-election.

Careless Hunter Indicted.

Dr. Harry Lane, superintendent of the insane asylum, went to Eugene by the overland Friday night, having been summoned thither by the circuit court of Lane county, to appear and give testimony in the case against Glen O. Powers, the young man who accidentally shot W. H. Walker, of the firm of Staver & Walker. This was early in August and the marksman mistook Walker for a deer. It seems the grand jury has indicted the careless sportsman Dr. Lane was in the mountains on the McKenzie and heard fatal shot fired. Eugene G. and Teachers' Meeting.
