OUR MANUFACTURES.

A Tour Among the Work Shops On Water Street.

MANY THRIVING INDUSTRIES.

A Brief Review of a Few of Albany's Many Manufactures—What They Are Doing.

Yesterday forenoon a reporter of the Herald made a brief tour of the manufactories and work-shops along the river front, and it is with pleasure that he is able this morning to give the residents of this city a brief outline of what he saw. Albany is slowly but surely stepping to the front as a great manufacturing center, and it is only a question of time when it will lead all Oregon cities. These reasons contribute to this. First, its unexcelled water power; second, the unlimited amount of material at our very doors; and third, the great shipping facilities afforded the manufacturer. These three combine to give Albany a prestige over all other cities. The first place entered was the works of the PACIFIC MATRESS MANUFACTURING COMPANY.

Here we found twelve persons busily engaged in turning out wool and spring mattresses, at the rate of 75 per day. This factory is the largest in the state of the kind and its products are found in the markets of Oregon, California and Washington. The company gets its wool by the car load, and last year used over 100,000 feet of lumber. The next place of interest is the wool turning establishment of RICHARD S. PHILLIPS.

Here we found a number of workmen turning wood into every conceivable shape. A mangle piece just being finished for H. Hewitt is probably the neatest piece of work of the kind ever made in the city. It must be seen to be appreciated. One block below are the ALBANY IRON WORKS.

Here a number of improvements are being made preparatory to a heavy business next year. This company has been turning out a great amount of work lately, several orders being filled as far south as Roseburg. Yesterday they shipped to John C. Morgan at Crawfordsville a double set of head blocks for a saw mill. They are now engaged in putting up a cordless belt-stationary steam engine.

On the same block of the iron works are the S. E. AND L. COMPANY'S SHOPS.

These shops now employ about fifteen hands, and their work is confined almost entirely to inside work, a sample of which can be seen at the Oregon Bank. T. L. Wallace & Co. store or the new Methodist church. They are shipping now an average of 150 doors and windows per day to all the valley points.

J. FRISMAN Was the next place visited. This gentleman stands unequalled in the valley for making line work, which is his specialty. He is busy putting the finishing touches upon a fine display cabinet for the museum department at the Agricultural college at Corvallis, which is a fine piece of workmanship. He will next begin the manufacture of a combination writing desk and table for the Oregon Land Company at Portland.

We next visited the chair manufactory of R. VEAL & SON.

Here we found the beautiful Oregon ash being visited and turned into chairs, and these are for the manufacture of ray, birch, carpet and perforated chairs and rockers. This energetic firm is now employing about 10 hands and shipping to the California and Washington markets, first-class chairs at the rate of 6 to 10 dozen per day.

THE ALBANY WOOLEN MILLS The pride of every Albany resident, was next visited. Here every thing was life and bustle. The full force of hands were busily engaged in turning out at the rate of 250 yards per day, a superior quality of tweeds, which find a ready market in New York and Philadelphia. The company is making arrangements, whereby after the first of the year their goods will be manufactured into articles such as at home suits, they now have employed about sixty hands, representing twenty-four families, with a monthly pay roll of near $25,000.

THE RED CROWN MILLS, So successfully conducted by S. J. Lanning & Co. was the next place of interest upon the route. Here we found their secretary, Mr. Stockman, as he termed it, "head over heels" in work. The mill is crowded to its utmost capacity day and night, yet it is unable to supply the demand. Their four looms are running out a first-class article of socks, which are being loaded yesterday for Victoria. They have in storage about 100,000 bushels of wheat and could supply orders from the California markets with tons of buckwheat flour if that wheat could be obtained here.

Another new industry recently started in this city is MRS. CHANDLER'S SOLE FACTORY. Situated at the corner of First and Montgomery streets. They already have five machines in daily use and are turning out a first-class article of socks, which find a ready sale in the markets.

MESSERS. HAYNE AND BECK'S Cement works were next visited. These gentlemen are building up a business in their line as they make a superior quality of pipe, well-embedding, etc. They are also experts in the laying of artificial stone walks as much of their work about the city will testify.

The foregoing is but a brief outline of what may be seen on any day among the Water Street factories and does not include the five firms of Cox & Hoberg, Team manufacturers of doors, blinds, etc. T. Blunk, manufacturer of furniture and spring mattresses and a score of other manufacturers, all of whom go to add to the thriving industry of Albany.

Accepted an Appointment. Rev. L. J. Trumbull has accepted an appointment as district missionary for Eastern Oregon under the Oregon Baptist State convention and the American Baptist Home Mission Society. Mr. Trumbull is to assume his new duties at once and will leave for his new field this week. For the present his family will remain in Albany. This appointment gives great satisfaction to Mr. Trumbull's many friends here, who will long remember his self-sacrificing and efficient labors with the Baptist church in Albany.

China Pleasants. Mr. W. H. Shelby, the gentleman who was recently in Nevada City, California, purchasing China pleasants, has returned home. He secured about 20 pair paying upon an average $5 each. He paid one coming with $150 for ten pair, which he had captured when he was at Nevada City. The number which Mr. Shelby secured will soon populate the fields of Central California if they prosper as well there as in Oregon.

A Severe Accident. Yesterday morning Charles Moberg, an employe in Hopkins Bros. tin store, met with a very painful accident. He was engaged in cutting in with a large pair of clippers, when he accidentally placed the ore finger of his right hand between the blades of the machine, and in a twinkling about one-half inch of the finger was on the floor. Dr. Davis dressed the wound, but it will be some time before he will again be at the bench.

Who is "Whiskey Jim"? Sheriff Scott received a dispatch yesterday from J. M. Coey at Brownsville stating that he had received a letter from Goldenlade, Washington, with the startling information that "Whiskey Jim" was there and that it wanted he could be arrested at any time. The sheriff says he has no use for the gentleman, and if this notice comes before the eyes of anyone who does, they are welcome to the above information.

Lovers of handsome goods can receive a great treat to go and examine these goods just for the sake of seeing them. A NATIONAL EVENT. The holding of the World's Fair in a city scarcely fifty years old will be a remarkable event, but whether it will really benefit this nation so much, the secretary of the Restorative Nervine by Dr. Franklin Miles doubts. This is just what the American people need to cure their excessive nervousness, dyspepsia, headache, indigestion, epinephoria, neuralgia, nervous debility, dullness, confusion of mind, etc. It acts like a charm. Trial bottles and fine book of "Nervous and Heart Diseases," with unqualified testimonials, free at Stewart & Sox. It is warranted to contain no opium, morphine or dangerous drugs.

Holiday Book. Ladies call Mrs. Hyman's and give your order for the holiday book for Christmas. The latest out.

A Great Deal. There is now stored in the Farmer's Warehouse over 100,000 bushels of wheat and oats. Today they will commence loading a train of forty cars for San Francisco. Besides the above Geo. Simpson has, this season, purchased 125,000 bushels of wheat and 60,000 bushels of oats. The market now shows wheat to be worth 12 1/2 cents per bushel and oats 12 cents.

The only shoe burnisher in the state can now be seen in operation at Klein Bros shoe store. It is the J. G. Russell patent and does its work well.

LUMBER ITEMS.

The Building Interests of Albany Not Overlooked.

MILL CITY LUMBER YARDS.

The Santiam Mountains Can Furnish the Finest Lumber in the World.

Should anyone question the fact that building in the city of Albany is, and has been, lively throughout the past year, they need be easily convinced by paying a short visit to the lumber yards of the city, of which there are four, the largest being the Santiam Lumbering Co's yards on Jackson street. These yards have shipped to Albany Oregon the year 234 car loads of hemlock lumber, aggregating over 1,750,000 feet. Besides this they had on hand, in the yards, at the beginning of the year 361,000 feet. All this lumber, together with that sold from other yards, which amounts to many hundreds of thousands of feet, has been used in the local trade about this city.

Besides this large amount of lumber used here this company has a contract to furnish the Oregonian railway company with 1,000,000 feet, 25,000 feet of which is delivered daily over the Oregon Pacific railroad to the junction where a switch has recently been put in. They have also recently furnished the Pacific bridge company with 100,000 feet, the shortest stick of which was 40 feet in length. This lumber will be used in building the new bridge across the river at Springfield, Lane county. Among the lumber furnished the Oregonian railway company was several carloads, consisting of which was less than 80 feet in length and 18 inches square.

Special Meeting. Royal Arch Masons take notice that there will be a special convention of Bayley Chapter at the Masonic temple this Wednesday evening. The Royal Arch will assemble at 7 o'clock. The meeting will commence and continue during the evening. Come early and stay late if you expect to receive full wages. Geo. E. Chamberlain, H. P.; D. P. Mason, acting secretary.

Another Drug Store. Workmen are hurrying forward the inside fittings of Hulme & Hart's new drug store, which will be opened in the first of next month in one-half the building now occupied by French's jewelry store. Both gentlemen are well known in this city and will merit a portion of the public's patronage.

A Pleasant Sociable. The sociable given at the Congregational church last evening was well attended and proved a very enjoyable affair. Games were indulged in until about 9 o'clock when a splendid collation was served. No services will be held in this church next Sunday, as the building is to be repaired and otherwise repaired.

Not a Criminal. It is worthy of note that at the present term of the circuit court not a criminal case appeared on the docket. This certainly speaks in volumes for the 20,000 inhabitants of Linn county and we venture to say cannot be equaled by any other county in the state.

Going East. Dr. J. F. Hendrix, of Harrisburg, will leave today for Denver, Colorado, where he goes as a delegate from this district to the general assembly of the Knights of Labor. He will be absent from the state about two weeks.

Don't fail to visit the Ladies' Bazaar when you get ready to buy your new fall hat or bonnet. Their elegant styles and superior quality of goods, together with the low prices, are the wonder of the town.

"HEARTS OF OAK."

Willard & Stockwell's Injunction Dismissed Without Prejudice.

ON THE RIVER.

Rumors of a contemplated Charge on the Willamette.

The injunction sued out on a complaint commencing from Willard & Stockwell, of the Alcazar Theatre, to restrain James A. Herne from playing "Hearts of Oak" at the Bush Street Theatre, has been dismissed by Superior Judge L. Lawler. The case appears to be that Willard & Stockwell claim that Herne was booked for the Alcazar Theatre under a contract made with Randall & Dickson in May last, who were to play Mr. Herne for the season. Failing in their contract, Mr. Herne entered into an engagement with his present managers, Messrs Hawley & Mitchell, who naturally refused to recognize the Willard & Stockwell claim. Willard & Stockwell have a letter from Leavitt, the proprietor of the Bush Street Theatre, admitting the existence of the Alcazar contract. It seems that the attorney for the Alcazar Theatre offered to settle the claim for $2,000, but Mr. Herne's manager refused the money because he did not see where the indebtedness came in upon the so-called Alcazar contract.

The Daily Report says: "A curious episode of the case is that yesterday at 11 o'clock Mr. Willard of the Alcazar Theatre assured Mr. Gottlob of the Bush that he would put on no injunction and do nothing to injure the Bush-Street Theatre, but would simply bring suit against Herne. He said further that should any proceedings have to be brought that would involve the theatre the papers would be served in the morning, so that bonds could be furnished. Nevertheless, Mr. Willard's attorney, Mr. Cross, served the injunction last night just before the hour for the beginning of the performance." Rather than pay the demanded $300, the interested parties looked upon the proceedings as extortionary, dissolved the audience, and closed the theatre.

When the case was called before Judge Lawler this morning he dismissed the injunction without pleading, declaring it illegal; and in small sums, and to contribute to the Electric Light Co., who have kindly given every cent of payments. The financial outlook for the future is quite encouraging. The scheme entered into by the members to earn one dollar each, with the dollar the experience in earning it, was a decided success. The sum of $150 was thus pledged, most of which has been paid. As the burden of indebtedness is gradually lifted, the ladies find their hearts and hands more free to enter into the work which is the life of the organization; that is the effort to "protect the home against the saloon and to bring public sentiment up to the standard of prohibition." To all friends who so kindly assisted in making their late enterprise a success, the ladies extend a sincere, though tardy vote of thanks.

A Novel Idea. Last Friday an old man named Peck was taken from Lane county to Salem, to serve his third term in the penitentiary. His case is quite an argument in favor of the unlimited sentence idea recently introduced in an eastern state. By its provisions a prisoner is always sentenced to an unlimited term. He is released on good behavior, that is given, his freedom in good behavior as it were. He must repeat every month to the officer whose duty it is to keep a record of all men on probation. By this means an honest man can redeem himself, but a scoundrel is kept in charge again thus saving to the state many dollars for arrest incarceration, prosecution etc.

Stricken With Paralysis. For some time Mrs. B. A. Haight has been visiting with her son J. K. Haight near Peoria. Last week as she desired to return to Albany, they started down in a buggy and when within a few miles of town she became suddenly sick, and a few moments later was stricken with paralysis, the stroke affecting only her left side. Mr. Haight supported her in his arms until they arrived at the residence of Grant Haight in this city, where she was removed and placed in a very precarious condition, but will survive the shock should she receive no relapse.

A Noted Divine. Rev. Dr. Hartwell, superintendent of the Baptist Chinese Work on the Pacific coast will arrive from Portland on the noon train today and remain until the overland in the evening at which time he will take his departure for his home in San Francisco. Mr. Hartwell is an educated gentleman who speaks the Chinese language fluently. He will address a number of Chinese converts during the afternoon.

Marriage at Eugene. Dr. E. A. McAlister and wife went to Eugene City on the train last evening to be present today at the marriage of their son Edward to Miss Katie, daughter of B. F. Burrows, of that city. Mr. McAlister, the prospective groom was for some time foreman on the Herald, but is at present connected with the reporters staff of the Seattle Telegraph.

Blood Poisoned. Erve Atkins of Syracuse is suffering from blood poisoning caused by being kicked on the hand by a calf. When first injured Mr. Atkins paid little attention to the wound, but inflammation setting in, it became worse and a serious case was called. It is a question as to whether or not it will be necessary to amputate his hand and possibly his arm.

Recovering. Mrs. Elrrett, the lady upon whom Dr. Maston performed a difficult surgical operation some time since, is rapidly recovering and with no unforeseen accident, will soon be completely restored to health.

RECOVERING.

Workmen have been busily engaged all summer in repairing the Oregon Pacific boat and now they are in first-class order throughout and ready for the coming season's work as soon as the water will permit. It is rumored, says the Salem Statesman, that the Union Pacific will not build a wharf at Salem unless that company buys the Oregon Pacific boats or builds some more of its own, one or the other of which things the managers of the Union Pacific contemplate.

ON THE RIVER.

The Occident and the Orient, which were on the upper route on last season, are practically worn out, and the Modoc is the only one of the Union Pacific boats available for this traffic. If the Union Pacific don't either buy or build more boats, the Modoc will run, but only to the Yamhill river, except in cases of large offerings of freight at Salem. That's the situation of the Union Pacific now, and it explains why that company has not built a wharf or warehouse at Salem.

THE W. C. T. U. HALL.

This building erected about three years since at an expense of $1200 and dedicated to the furtherance of the work of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union for "God and Home and Humanity" will soon be free from the burden of debt. At its completion $700 was out standing against it, of which $100 was paid the first year and $300 the second, and the proceeds of the late fair, with some other money due the Union from rent, will reduce the amount $250. As the interest for the present year is mostly paid, there will remain a little more than $100 still on the note. A kitchen was added this year at an expense of $51, which has also been paid. A small sum is due the Electric Light Co., who have kindly given every cent of payments. The financial outlook for the future is quite encouraging. The scheme entered into by the members to earn one dollar each, with the dollar the experience in earning it, was a decided success. The sum of $150 was thus pledged, most of which has been paid.
