The board of directors of the Albany Y. M. C. A. will meet this evening at their rooms. Business of importance will come before the meeting. No one should miss seeing the wonderful "Hearts of Oak Baby" at the opera house Tuesday night. She is not yet 6 months old, but seems to understand her part as well as many other older people.

Bishop Becker will lecture at Albany at the opera house, on November 27th and 28th. His topics will be "Egypt, her pyramids, palaces and ruined temples of glory," and "Eloquence of the pulpit and platform."

Two more individuals have tired of walking solitary and alone in quiet paths, for yesterday Herman Bielow and Henrietta Krummel concluded that the world would journey hand in hand during their pilgrimage through this mundane sphere, and from Cupid's representative at the county clerk's office they secured a license to wed.

Carpenters and contractors of Albany are hereby invited to meet upstairs over Anslin's carriage shop on Saturday evening, November 8th, at 7 o'clock sharp for the purpose of considering the practicality of introducing the nine hours system next year.

P. MACDONALD. C. HOWLAND. Little Hazel Regan, who assumed the role of "Little Crystal," in Hearts of Oaks is only 5 years old and yet has gained quite a metropolitan reputation, having played "Little Lord Fontenoy" and "Mignon" in "Bootsie" Baby during their New York run. This little lady's salary is said to be fabulous for one of her tender years.

Remember the sociable to be given this Friday evening at Geo. Chamberlain's by the ladies of the 1st Presbyterian church. Come one, come all.

The Ochoco Review, of Prineville says that all the farmers throughout the country claim to be supplied as they never have been with an abundance of feed for winter emergencies. An unusually large crop of hay has been harvested and cared for, and a feeling of security prevails generally among stockmen, no matter what the coming winter may prove to be.

PURELY PERSONAL. W. R. Garrett went to Portland yesterday. E. Young returned from Portland yesterday. Dr. G. W. Gray is remodeling his residence on Ferry street. Dr. H. A. Leinenberg leaves today for Lebanon on a business trip.

Mrs. W. L. Plymaie, who has been visiting parents in Jacksonville, came to this city yesterday. E. M. Witt, formerly of Albany, now one of Jefferson's merchants, was in the city yesterday. N. Graham, Merchant Tailor, has just received a stock of elegant suiting goods that is simply unsurpassed. ALBANY'S NEED.

An Essential For Her Growing Prosperity. ESTABLISH HER IMPORTANCE. Make Our City a Commercial Center, and Maintain It As Such By Active Efforts.

Albany by her geographical location and shipping centre, is naturally a commercial place of great importance in the near future. The position, however, cannot be maintained without active work on the part of the citizens. It will not do to sit down and think that such a state of affairs is bound to come and all that is necessary is to jump on it when it comes around. It must receive the active planning and working of citizens to produce such a condition.

There is a crisis in our history just now that if seized upon and thoroughly and unanimously worked for, will lead us on to a splendidly victorious, but it will take the unanimous and harmonious work of our entire citizenship to accomplish the desired end. We refer to the matter of bridging the Willamette river, at present the most active factor in our prosperous growth that is within sight and reach.

The engineer has made a report upon the site for the bridge, and now all should actively and energetically favor the site recommended and work for its adoption and the speedy commencement of work.

No one should be so short-sighted to the city's welfare, and indeed, to his own welfare, as to object to the site selected, because it does not sit down in his own back yard, and thus throw obstacles in the way of getting the work underway. The bridge will benefit all alike, no matter on what particular street the approach is made. Work for it with all energy.

The Old Narrow Gauge. Superintendent C. N. Scott, of the Oregonian line, is busy on the road meet of the time necessary, looking after the improvements and preparations for widening the gauge on the East side. This event will occur probably the 20th.

The Post Office a Sheep Pasture. The other day a man was driving a band of sheep up Commercial street. As they passed the post-office building, one took a run and jumped through it. Every individual sheep of the band followed the example of the leader, jumping through the open space in precisely the same manner. It was a novel and interesting sight to those who witnessed the performance.

Farmers Delight. The recent fine showers will be hailed with delight by the farmers of the Willamette valley. The wheat already sown is reported as looking fine, but was in need of rain. This wheat was mostly on summer fallow so the ground has not been wet enough this fall for stubble land to be worked with success. A few more showers will make the land in a fine condition, and a big lot of grain will yet be put in before winter sets in.

PORTLAND, Or., Nov. 6.—The argument in the habeas corpus case of Joseph (Banks) Kelly was conducted in the United States circuit court to-day and was taken under advisement by Judge Deady. The case does not have anything to do with the guilt or innocence of Kelly in the matter of men whom he is charged with slaughtering, but simply involves the question of jurisdiction.

TRUCKEE, Calif. Nov. 6.—A disastrous fire, which started early this morning in the wood pile in the rear of the St. Louis brewery on Front street, was undoubtedly incendiary. NOTES OF INTEREST.

From Different Parts of the State—Fleed Gaily.

The last act of the great municipal farce of the trial of Mayor Moody, of The Dalles, was rendered Monday evening, says the Time-Mountaineer, when the council as a court endorsed the charges of the petitioners but found it not judicious to remove the mayor at this time. In other words the council decided their own case and adverted their lack of courage to the people.

SOMETHING ABOUT BOATS. The River Only Four Inches Above Low Water Mark at Albany. There is but four inches of water in the Willamette above the low water mark, but with a few days of rain the rise would be sufficient to warrant the boats in starting up. There is much speculation as to what vessels will ply the upper waters this season. It all depends upon the action taken by the Union Pacific. Should that company operate its boats here there would probably be three of them, the Motoc, Orient and Champion. Then there are the Oregon Pacific boats, the Three Sisters, Bentley and Hog. To this must be added the independent steamer Salem.

Two Railroad Items. The Southern Pacific is an all steel rail line now, the last iron rail on the Southern Pacific's main line between Portland and Ashland having been replaced by steel. The City of Philadelphia is now in port with 400 tons of 61 1/2 pound steel rails and the Standard next month with another thousand tons. These are for the use of Huntington on his extension from Coburg to Jasper, and from Silverton to Portland.
